SPECIAL NOTICE.
In consequence of the approaching termination of the Williamson season, only a few more representations can be given of this popular drama.

LATER PRESS OPINIONS.
"In the matter of dialect he is indeed as perfect as Jefferson himself. The rollicking fun of the reckless village roysterer was admirably depicted in the first act. The infirm purpose, the irresistible drinking propensities of Rip, and his determination to make a joke out of everything, even of the misery to which his improvident habits have reduced his wife and child, were exhibited by Mr. Williamson with rare art. In a word it was easy to understand how Rip was a fellow whom no one could respect, and yet whom no one could help loving. The drunken scenes were full of drollery, but of drollery in which the slightest touch of vulgarity was not visible. On the contrary, the sort of poetic halo which surrounds the character was consistently preserved."—Town and Country.

"Rip, as played by Mr. J. C. Williamson, is a very jolly fellow, so good-tempered that not even his wife's bitter words can wring an angry reply. Idle, careless, and dissipated, he is the pet of the children and friend of every dog in the village; he is always going to reform, and his declaration 'I've swore it off,' is as frequent on his lips as 'Here's your very good health, &c.' The awaking from his phenomenal sleep, the return to the village, and gradual restoration to his lost ones are represented by Mr. J. C. Williamson with true ability, and we record our opinion that they are worthy to rank with John Stofel."—Sydney Mail.

And Notice is further given that at such meeting it is intended (amongst other things) to propose resolutions having the following objects:—
CLAUSE 56—To increase the number of Directors.
CLAUSE 59—To omit the provisions as to the time for holding shares prescribed to a candidate for the directorship.
CLAUSE 64—To alter the remuneration of Directors.
CLAUSES 81, 82, 83, 84, and 85—To provide for the appointment of an Auditor. To fix the mode of appointment and the duties and remuneration of such Auditor, and to provide as to the mode of filling casual vacancies in the office of Director or Auditor.
CLAUSE 103—To extend the power conferred by the Articles of Association of altering or repealing any of the clauses of such articles, or of making any new laws or regulations. To add a provision to the Articles of Association for the protection of and indemnity to the Directors and other officers for the time being of the Company.
Dated this seventh day of March, 1884.
By order.
R. VERNON SADDINGTON, Secretary.

N.B.—A copy of the resolutions proposed to be submitted for the consideration of the shareholders at the above meeting can be inspected at the Company's Office at any time prior to the meeting.

A good supply of English and American Magazines are also imported, and issued to subscribers as they arrive.

The continued prosperity of the Library is in a great measure due to the co-operation of those subscribers who desire to promote the works of sterling interest and merit. In the selection of Books, great care is taken to study their wishes, and to make the Library not only "select," but comprehensive. Arrangements are made with the London agents for additional copies of all the best new works in History, Biography, Religion, Philosophy, Travel, and Adventure, and the higher class of Fiction, and which will continue to be added as the demand increases.

Musical Instruments.

CAUTION.

Messrs. NICHOLSON and CO. desire to draw particular attention to the fact that their MIGNON PIANO is the outcome of very many months of labour and great expense in the perfecting of the instrument by our Mr. Nicholson during his sojourn in Germany. Every improvement of value has been introduced, the very best materials and workmanship only used, and we can say, without fear of contradiction, that the MIGNON PIANO is the most perfect instrument of its size and value ever manufactured, and NO OTHER HOUSE CAN OFFER AN INSTRUMENT at all approaching the MIGNON PIANO.

This model is the only one yet made bearing the name, and we beg to CAUTION our friends and the public in general against unscrupulous and unprincipled imitators.

Do not be misled by the advertisements of other houses offering rubbishing instruments, and pretending they are MIGNON PIANOS.

THERE IS BUT ONE MIGNON PIANO, and in Sydney can only be had at our warehouse.

Also, we beg to repeat that the MIGNON PIANO IS NOT a PIANETTE, or SMALL PIANO, but is an ordinary-sized cottage instrument, and that it contains all the valuable improvements to be found in Pianos costing twice the price. We invite the strictest possible examination of this model, from either professional or mechanical men. Every facility will always be offered, and the instrument thoroughly exposed, so that every individual part of the piano may be seen.

For quality of tone the MIGNON PIANO IS UNRIVALLED BY ANY SIMILAR VALUE INSTRUMENT, possessing, as it does, great volume, richness, fine singing quality, purity, exceedingly sympathetic, and perfectly even. As to touch, the MIGNON PIANO has a most elastic one, pliant, not too light, nor yet too heavy, exceedingly agreeable to play upon. As regards durability there can be no question; we will guarantee the stability of the instrument, and we have no fear in sending the MIGNON PIANO to any part of Australia. The instrument is a marvel, splendidly and perfectly made in every little detail. All that ingenuity could devise has been done to give our Australian public the best and cheapest piano that it is possible to produce, AND WE DEFY ANY OTHER FIRM to show such a good-value instrument as our MIGNON PIANO.

THE MIGNON is GUARANTEED for FIVE YEARS.

HAPSBURG PIANOS.

"I have tested the HAPSBURG PIANOS, imported by Messrs. BEALE and COMPANY, in ALL the VARIOUS GRADES, and am EXTREMELY PLEASED with the SWEETNESS, FULLNESS, and POWER of the instruments. The TONE and FINISH are ALL THAT COULD BE DESIRED. The proper balance of base with treble is strictly adhered to. Generally I consider them UNSURPASSED by ANY INSTRUMENT hitherto introduced.

(Signed) "CHARLES PACKER, "Royal Academician,

"Composer of the Oratorio 'Crown of Thorns,' &c.

"March 7, 1883."

"I have subjected Messrs. BEALE and CO.'S HAPSBURG PIANOS to the SEVEREST TESTS, and am GREATLY SURPRISED and DELIGHTED at their MARVELLOUS SWEETNESS and POWER. I CORDIALLY RECOMMEND THEM.

(Signed) "ALICE CHARBONNET-KELLERMAN, "Of the Paris Conservatoire.

"June 22, 1883."

The HAPSBURG PIANOS have a PERFECT MODEL, a most ELASTIC and DELICATE TOUCH, a RESONANT TONE of the MOST CHARMING and EXQUISITE SWEETNESS. They are the ONLY PIANOS ever introduced which are constructed under STRICT SUPERVISION, and subjected to the most rigorous scrutiny before being shipped. They are received by our own examiner into the branch warehouse in Hamburg, and every detail is considered with the minutest care. They possess a number of INVALUABLE IMPROVEMENTS altogether peculiar to the HAPSBURGS. What we URGENTLY SOLICIT from intending buyers is the test of COMPARISON. Listen not to the statements of dealers or of interested persons. Examine for yourselves, and see how those who have purchased the HAPSBURGS like them. BE SURE THAT THOSE WHO HAVE THEM AT HOME KNOW MOST ABOUT THEM. We hold more than twenty thousand pounds (£20,000) worth of these splendid instruments, which is a proof of our own high confidence in their surpassing excellence. We have again and again completely sold out of the HAPSBURGS, but for the future shall maintain ample stocks.

From palace and cottage come to us hundreds of voluntary letters kindly testifying to the unmistakable merits of the splendid HAPSBURG PIANOS. The leading artists of the day pronounce judgment strongly in their favour. The Governor of Queensland has recently purchased a HAPSBURG PIANO on account of its special sweetness. Many a harassed mind and hard-worked brain is soothed and strengthened by the subtle medicine of their sweet melody.

"The nights shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Shall fold their tents like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away!"

All our pianos may be purchased at LOW PRICES FOR CASH, or upon EASY TERMS OF TIME PAYMENT, to suit all customers.

ONE GREAT POINT IS THAT WE HAVE NOT, NOR SHALL WE HAVE, SECOND-HAND PIANOS for sale. All our instruments are entirely new, and their high qualities may be appreciated by hearing and examining them. We have no old-fashioned stock to get rid of, for the pianos are made expressly to our order, in the very latest style, and with all improvements.

An important advantage with the HAPSBURGS is that they require TUNING ONLY AT LONG INTERVALS, which fact not merely saves money, but is a great boon to purchasers residing in the country. Their immense strength, already described, renders them safe for carriage to long distances. No matter in what part of the colony you live, we are willing to supply you with a HAPSBURG PIANO upon easy terms of payment.

Iron-framed COTTAGE PIANOFORTES, and SEMI-COTTAGE PIANOFORTES.

IRON-FRAMED PIANETTES, in Walnut, Rosewood, or Ebonised cases.

PRICES from £27 to 100 Guineas.

IRON-FRAMED GRAND PIANOFORTES, brilliant in tone, perfect in touch. By celebrated makers.

NOTE.—All our importations CARRY BONA-FIDE THE NAMES of THEIR MAKERS. ELVY and CO.

Large numbers of COMMON PIANOS are imported to this colony from GERMANY. Buyers should understand that no maker of great reputation would allow his name to be removed from ANY Piano he has made, and the same sold under a DISTINCTIVE brand ONLY. Celebrity for quality gives too great a value to a maker's name to allow it to be SUPPRESSED; therefore, buy under the maker's name.

With regard to instruments with NO MAKER'S NAME, so imported to this colony, the following extracts from the "Music Trades Review" will be interesting to Pianoforte purchasers:—

TRADE EVENTS OF 1883.

"The year 1883 has been in many respects a notable one. The lower class of shoddy German pianos, supported by cheap trade prints, to the detriment of honourable British manufacturers, have, by unceasing efforts, been practically driven from the market. Never has there been such a year for large failures of cheap foreign agents. The slum and garret pianos have been superseded by better-class instruments by British makers; the higher class English and German manufacturers have been placed on a fairer and more satisfactory footing; and the year 1884 opens with the fairest promise."—London, January 15.

GARRET-MADE PIANOS.

FROM BERLIN LETTER.

"Trade in Germany is looking up again, and indeed among the big makers there is nothing to complain of. Even during the holidays many factories have been running on all save one or two days, and orders are more plentiful than goods to fulfil them.

"There is, in fact, no doubt that the failures last year have cleared the ground, and have rendered legitimate trading possible. The consignment system has been knocked on the head, and the garret instruments are practically unsalable. England, Holland, and your colonies have been flooded with them, and no more can be placed. The agents who used to buy from the garret maker, often for a pound or two above the actual cost of manufacture, are gradually disappearing, for their occupation is gone. The makers themselves are in a sore strait. The very essence of the garret piano business was a quick turnover. The impecunious man could not afford to wait. He now has no trade, and failures (too small to be reported) are plentiful. The action makers, timber merchants, and so forth, finding the trade in a dangerous condition, will not give credit, and the end of the garret maker (who, by the way, is often a very good workman) will probably be a return to his duties as a journeyman."—London, January 15.

STANMORE-ROAD.
H. A. MARSHALL begs to inform the residents of Stanmore, Petersham, and Marrickville, that he, H. A. M., has again opened his Produce Store for the sale of hay, corn, bran, &c., also wood, and coal, and he hopes to receive a share of the patronage he had formerly, as it is his intention to try and please all. By keeping good articles, combined with cheapness and weight, H. A. M. hopes to receive the patronage of old friends, as he intends to try to please all customers. A trial will prove that it is H. A. M.'s intention to try to give every satisfaction.
Hoping to receive a good share of your patronage,
Yours respectfully,
H. A. M.,

ZOEDONE.
PLEASANT, REFRESHING, INVIGORATING.
The non-alcoholic beverage acts as a brain and nerve tonic, and does not intoxicate.
ZOEDONE
is recommended by the faculty as a substitute for wine, beer, and spirits, as it invigorates without producing any intoxicating effect. In case of debility consequent on a long residence in a hot climate it is of great service, as it acts not only as a nerve stimulant, but also as a permanent tonic to the system.

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.
The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which, in OUTWARD APPEARANCE, so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.
Purchasers are therefore requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—
1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words "John Steedman, chemist, Walworth, Surrey," printed thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with the two EE's.
4. The manufactury is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.
Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each. Sold in Sydney by ELLIOTT BROTHERS.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—Times, July 13, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne.—See Lancet, December 21, 1861.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—Medical Times, January, 13, 1866.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure for cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colic, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—Caution: None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. Davenport, 33, Great Russell-street, London. Sold in bottles at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, and 11 Agents, Sydney, ELLIOTT BROTHERS.

ARNOLD'S BALSAM of HOREHOUND, A PURE VEGETABLE EXTRACT.—Nothing so quickly cures Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Loss of Voice, Influenza, Hoarseness, and Weak Chest as this BALSAM. Where children have Whooping Cough or are liable to Croup, always keep it. A single dose quietens and gives relief. A small bottle often cures. This is the best expectorant now in use; rapidly relieves Bronchial Tubes by dissolving the congealed phlegm. Ask for "Arnold's," and get it. Spurious imitations are sometimes offered. Sold by all Chemists and Storekeepers throughout Australasia.

PEPPER'S QUININE AND IRON TONIC possesses all the powers of these valuable tonics in banishing diseases and symptoms traceable to weakness. It rouses and develops the nervous energies, causing increased action of all the nerve centres, enriches the blood, promotes appetite, dispels languor and debility.

PEPPER'S QUININE and IRON TONIC strengthens the nerves and muscular system, improves digestion, animates the spirits, thoroughly recruits the health and strength. Bottles (32 doses), 4s 6d. Sold by chemists everywhere. Insist on having Pepper's Tonic. Made only by J. Pepper and Co., London.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An External Means of CURING SKIN DISEASES. There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine," and commence to heal in a few days. Ringworm, scurfy pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic, while old, enduring skin disorders that have plagued the sufferers for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcules which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful diseases, and always produces a clear, healthy condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists, and ELLIOTT BROTHERS, Sydney. Bottles, 2s 9d. Made only by J. PEPPER and CO., London.

TARAXACUM and PODOPHYLLIN.—This fluid combination, as a stimulant to disordered liver, is safer than calomel, blue pill, or destructive antibilious medicines. In all cases of congestion or liver complaint, Taraxacum and Podophyllin sets the sluggish liver in action, moves the stomach very gently indeed, giving a sense of clearness and comfort within a few hours. The symptoms of liver derangement—headache, torpidity, costiveness, dizziness, heartburn, sense of over-repletion, shoulder pains, repugnance to food, general discomfort and depression—are quickly dispelled by Taraxacum and Podophyllin. Prepared solely by J. PEPPER and CO., London. Insist on having the correct preparation. Bottles, 2s 9d and 4s 6d. Sold by chemists everywhere.

LIVER COMPLAINTS.—Dr. KING'S DANDELION and QUININE LIVER PILLS (without mercury).
THE BEST REMEDY FOR BILIOUSNESS, STOMACH DERANGEMENT, FLATULENCE, PAINS BETWEEN THE SHOULDERS, BAD APPETITE, INDIGESTION, ACIDITY, HEADACHE, HEARTBURN, and all other symptoms of disordered liver and dyspepsia. The safest and mildest pills for every constitution.
In Boxes at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, sold everywhere.
Prepared by Jas. Rorke, London.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Is Comforted.—Nothing is more distressing to the mother or well-disposed nurse than to see a child rendered feverish or restless by the skin affections attending infancy. This ointment soothes and revenges such cutaneous complaints. Sold at 78, New Oxford-street, London, and by all druggists.

POST AND TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

PORT DARWIN MAIL SERVICE.

General Post Office, Adelaide, December 17, 1883.
TENDERS will be received at this office up to noon of MONDAY, the 31st of March, 1884, for the conveyance of her Majesty's Mails monthly between Port Adelaide and Port Darwin, with liberty to proceed to Hongkong or Batavia (the steamers calling at Port Darwin both ways) for a period of five years (5), commencing on July 1st, 1884.
The steamers to stay at Port Adelaide, which is to be one terminus of the line, not less than two clear days, and at Port Darwin, en route for Port Adelaide, not less than (24) twenty-four hours, unless ten (10) clear days' notice shall have been given of date of sailing from that port. The hours of sailing to be fixed by the Postmaster-General.
Tenders to state route and price for complete trip to and from Port Adelaide. They must also state the tonnage (which should not be less than 900 tons) and horse power of the steamers to be employed, also passenger accommodation (saloon and second-class), and all the ports at which the steamers will call.
An approximate time table, which should accompany tenders, to be subject to approval of Postmaster-General.
The contract will embrace the conveyance of all mails from or for South Australia, and will include landing and embarking mails at Port Darwin. Vessels proceeding via Torres Straits, and calling at Sydney, to land and embark South Australian mails at that port.
The vessels, fittings, and boats to be subject to the approval of the Postmaster-General, and the crews must include a sufficient number to man a boat efficiently for transhipping the mails if necessary.
The space allotted for the mails must be subject to the approval of the Postmaster-General, and no person must be allowed access to the place in which the mails are deposited unless authorised by the Postmaster-General.
If from any cause (except from unavoidable accident) the steamers shall fail to carry the mails on any one trip, a fine not exceeding half the amount of the subsidy, in addition to the subsidy for that trip (which will be forfeited, whatever the cause of failure) shall be paid for every such omission.
The rate of freight between Port Adelaide and Port Darwin, either way, shall not exceed the rate charged by the contractors between Sydney and Port Darwin.
Mails, passengers, and cargo are not to be transhipped at any intermediate port, except in cases of accident, or with the approval of the Postmaster-General.
The Postmaster-General reserves the power to terminate the contract at any time if the service should not be performed satisfactorily, or if the Government should decide on discontinuing the same, upon giving six (6) months' notice.
Payments will be made in Adelaide on the completion of each trip from and to Port Adelaide, in accordance with the Treasury regulations.
The contractor and two sureties (whose signatures, duly witnessed, must be attached to the tender) will be required to enter into a bond in double the amount of tender for the due performance of the contract; or the contractor can, at his option, deposit with the Treasurer of South Australia, as a security and guarantee to the Government for the due performance of the contract, the sum of one thousand pounds (£1000), such sum to be forfeited to the South Australian Government in case of default or failure of the contractor to perform the contract without prejudice to the remedies of the Postmaster-General, for or in respect of any breach of contract.
The contractor will also be required to execute an agreement for the due performance of the contract.
Tenders to be addressed to the Postmaster-General, and marked on the left-hand corner, "Tenders for the Conveyance of Mails between Port Adelaide and Port Darwin."
The Government do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any tender.
CHARLES TODD, Postmaster-General, and Superintendent of Telegraphs.

NOTICE.—The time for receiving Tenders for above service has been EXTENDED till March 31, 1884.

MARCH.—MARCH another Special Month during which we shall keep to OUR REDUCED PRICES.

ANOTHER SPECIAL MONTH, during which OUR POPULAR HOUSE-FURNISHING GUIDE will be distributed as freely as ever.

THIS BOOK, as you all know, was published for the Christmas Season specially, and contains our latest revised House Furnishing Lists, the best and most complete we have ever issued.

THESE LISTS have been appreciated, appreciated above all others, and justly so, for we do not know in what manner they could be improved. Applications from all parts are received through the post for them, and persons representing all classes apply for them. They are the support of our business, they are, in other words, our Commercial Travellers, answering calls, and strengthening our connection all over the colony, finding their way into the interior, and even stepping over our boundaries.

MARCH. Much as we desire to promote domestic happiness and undertake the complete furnishing of houses of various sizes for various sums of money, we cannot always be expected to keep to the same lists. Knowing this, then, it behoves all careful and judicious persons to make their purchases with as little delay as possible.

ANNOUNCING as we do, this month, the month of March to be another special month, we do so because we shall endeavour to keep to the present popular prices. One must admit it would be very mortifying to a person who delayed his purchase to find that he had delayed just a little too long.

THEREFORE WE SAY if you are about to furnish bring your order at once. If you live in the country write for a copy of the book. No personal visit is necessary, everything is so clearly put, item for item, that you have only to cut out the line, room, or house required, and enclose it in your letter. Orders are thus executed as carefully and with as much satisfaction to the buyer as if he came at a great expense to Sydney in order to select the goods himself.

CAMPBELL BROTHERS, ROYAL FURNISHING ARCADE, 436, George-street, Sydney, next the Royal Hotel.

CONTINENTAL GOSSIP.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT "STELLA.")

PARIS, JAN. 4.

The extreme mildness of the weather, and the sudden re-appearance of the sun—invisible for six weeks past, except just at the settings which have caused so much wonder by their extraordinary brilliance—have been drawing enormous crowds into the streets. On New Year's Day, as on the day before and the day after that popular festival, the Boulevards, the Rue de la Paix, the Avenue de l'Opera, and the other principal thoroughfares, were so crammed with strollers of all ages and sexes that locomotion, excepting at a snail's pace, was literally impossible. A vast deal of buying, undoubtedly, went on, but the main occupation of the units composing the slow-moving mass was strolling and looking about. As already remarked, there has been no noteworthy novelty, such as usually constitutes the leading feature of the New Year's display of temptations; the goods offered are mainly the same we have seen for some years past. The leading items of novelty this year are the marvellous objects shown by the principal jewellers, whose windows are magnets that draw and retain admiring crowds, from morning to night, the exquisite grace and fancy of design rivalling in these costly ornaments, if it does not even surpass, the commercial value of the stones themselves. The display of flowers and tropical plants, and of the artificial imitations of the same that often cannot be distinguished from their living prototypes, is equally admirable and charming; and the temptations of the great confectioners are as potent in the way of boxes, baskets, satchels, and other recipients, as of bonbons equally delectable to eye and to palate.

The frightful amount of accidents occurring in the streets of this capital through the reckless driving of the Jehus of the day is beginning at length to occupy the attention of the local powers. The Prefect of Police is engaged in drawing up a statement of the mishaps of the year that has just left us, together with a mention of the kind of vehicle which has caused them. The record, if correctly made, will be a startlingly painful document, containing the records of some thousands of deaths thus incurred, and of tens of thousands of injuries more or less severe.

The streets of Paris, so brilliant in the daytime, are becoming very dangerous after nightfall; robberies, garottings, abductions, shootings, stabbings, &c., being almost as common here as in any Sicilian town. A breath of violence, cruelty, and crime seems to be blowing just now with unusual violence.

The cabmen have taken this festive time for getting up a strike. The masters seem indisposed to make any concession, and there is consequently a lack of conveyances that would be far more inconvenient if the weather were less clement. But, for the moment, everybody seems in good humour, ready to enjoy the passing hour, and to take things easy.

The churches are as busy in their way as the shops, the booths, the "singing coffees," the theatres, and the thousand and one of the other purveyors of amusement here. One of the great ecclesiastical festivals of the year, viz, the Novena, or nine days' celebration, of St. Genevieve, patron saintess of Paris, began yesterday at the church that was the Pantheon, and is now dedicated to her. The relics of the saint are exposed prominently during the nine days devoted to her memory; at the evening services these relics are carried in grand procession around the church, a sermon is preached, and beautiful chanting and singing is heard. Pilgrimages to the shrine of the saint are made from all the other parishes of the capital, and from the neighbouring towns. The Papal Nuncio, the Archbishop of Paris, and other clerical notabilities preside at these services, which draw dense crowds to the magnificent fane in question, and also to the quaint old church of St. Etienne du Mont, near by, where the tomb of the saint is believed to have worked many miracles. A sort of religious fair, for the sale of the pictures, statuettes, rosaries, missals, &c., so oddly classed as "articles of religion," is held outside the two churches during the Novena, and brings in a welcome amount of profit to those who sell them. It was at the opening of this festival in 1858 that Monsignor Sibour, Archbishop of Paris, was murdered by the Abbe Verger in the Church of St. Etienne. A service for the repose of the soul of the murdered Archbishop is taking place in that church to-day.

The friends of Gambetta went to Ville d'Avrage on Monday, the anniversary of his death, and made a visit to his deserted and melancholy-looking villa, Les Jardies (built, and formerly inhabited, by the novelist Balzac), in memory of the late illustrious specimen of the genus windbag, and a lecture was given upon his life and doings by one of his intimate friends. But the general public took no notice whatever of the day, and the few who were present at the lecture appeared altogether indifferent to the subject of the discourse. The Dictator's career was that of a meteor, and it has left no more trace than is left by a meteor.

The students of this capital have been trying in vain to induce the editors of a very advanced Socialist print, the Cry of the People, to fight with their delegates; the print in question having said very hard things of the youth of the present day in general, and the students of Paris in particular, declaring them to be corrupt, sybaritic, cowardly, and altogether deficient in the grand qualities which prompt people to mount barricades, upset Governments, kill tyrants, and make revolutions. After holding a great meeting to denounce the journal in question, appointing delegates to arrange duels with the two editors, and trying in vain to induce those gentlemen to consent to fight, the students have been fain to hold a second meeting, at which they have denounced those editors as cowardly calumniators, have admitted the impossibility of getting them to fight, have declared them to be unworthy of any attention on their part, have voted that no student shall purchase a single copy of the incriminated print, and declared that "the incident is closed."

Some amusement has been caused to onlookers by the polemic that has been going on between the two parties into which the Imperialists are now divided, the "Jeromi-tes" supporting the cause of Prince Napoleon, and the "Victoristes" swearing by his son, named by the late Prince Imperial in his will as the heir to the Imperial Crown. Prince Napoleon is known to hold the clergy in horror, and believed to be ready to make a very democratic use of power should power ever come into his hands. Prince Victor, on the contrary, is known to be a friend of the Church, conservative, aristocratic, and authoritative in his views of life and government. The divergence between father and son is wide and well marked, but Prince Victor objects to being represented as the rival of his father. The latter, to silence speculation and comment on the attitude and doings of his son, addressed to him a letter, propounding three queries as to the part taken by him in the writing and publishing of a letter attributed to him. Prince Victor, in a reply beginning "My dear papa," returns a negative answer to his father's three questions, thus showing that he neither wrote, corrected, nor signed a certain letter attributed to him by his zealous friends, which letter appeared to show him to be, in fact, the opponent of his father. But it appears pretty evident that the letter referred to was seen and approved by the young Prince, that it really represents his views, and was published with his tacit consent.

The general public takes no very lively interest in this family quarrel. The Republic has the advantage of existing, always a determining consideration in this country. If the "colonial policy" recently inaugurated by M. Ferry should prove successful, the mass of the population will probably be willing to let the present regime go on; people who have to work for their living being above all things desirous of avoiding the public upsettings, which necessarily interfere with the success of their avocations. But should the ambitious plans of the Government be doomed to failure, it is probable that the country would demand a plebiscite, and the Royalists and Imperialists would have the opportunity of counting their forces so ardently desired by both parties.

The Municipal Council of Marseilles has accepted the donation offered by the Empress Eugenie of the valuable property in that city voted to the Emperor by that town, then extremely Imperial, now even more extremely Radical. The Chateau du Phare has accordingly been handed over, in the ex-Empress's name, to the city which has been so virulently, but vainly, contesting her right to it. It is to be fitted up as a military school of health and a hospital.

Meantime the Paris Municipal Council has decided that the ground in which the insurgents of the Commune were buried under the sanguinary reign of M. Thiers, in 1871, shall continue therein undisturbed during a further period, bringing their occupancy of their graves up to 25 years. The graves of persons who have not distinguished themselves by rapine, murder, and incendiarism are dug up at the end of five years, and the remains are carted away as refuse, unless the ground is purchased by the families.

"The whirligig of time" has "revenged" the victims immolated en masse by M. Thiers by placing their friends in power; and the latter naturally invent honours to pay to their unlucky confreres. On seeing so complete a change of parts and positions accomplished within a period of a dozen years, one is tempted to wonder what new turns of the "same whirligig" may be witnessed in the next dozen years to come.

The masked balls peculiar to this part of the year are beginning to offer their usual playground of folly to those who frequent them. Dinners, private theatricals, and tableaux vivants are also coming. M. Grevy is to give four State balls. The Skating Club would fain give some brilliant entertainment on their pond in the Bois de Boulogne, but the extreme mildness of the season holds out no hope of their being able to do so.

Electricity is now employed to light up the great drapery establishments of this city, the electric light showing colours almost as distinctly as daylight. The same light is to be tried on the Place du Carrousel for another year, with apparatus more fully matured than the electric lamps in present use there, the vast enclosure being very insufficiently lighted by those now employed. The question of lighting this capital with electricity instead of gas will be decided for the present by the result of this new trial. The first town to be entirely lighted and have its tramcars driven by electricity will be Montreux, on the Lake of Geneva, a company having just obtained a concession for the purpose. The motive power is to be derived from the water of the lake, and extensive works are to be erected immediately for carrying out this project.

Very little can be said about fashions, for the reason that the complicated "makes" of the time can be analysed only by the dressmakers who "create" them. Rich silks and satins, with flowers in velvety relief, are all the rage. An enormous hump below the spine, with the skirts tied in below the hump, is obligatory on those who care to be in the fashion. Skirts are kilted, fluted, and embroidered in preference to plaitings, though the latter are still worn. A minute peak of gathers on the top of the shoulder is considered chic. Pelisses fitting closely upon the hump are much worn; those in cloth or Indian cachemire are trimmed with fur or velvet; those in the rich figured silks, which are coming into vogue, are trimmed with lace gathered on very full. Shoes and stockings are very elaborately ornamented. Gloves are worn very long. The eccentric "star," Sarah Bernhardt, wears gloves four yards long. Bonnets and hats having used up nearly all the small birds, small heads of animals are used instead of them. A bonnet much admired has three kittens' heads looking out from a rich coque of satin riband. Puppies' heads are also pressed into the service of ladies' head-dresses. Whether mice, weasels, and other wild heads are to be utilised in this way is not as yet apparent.

RECIDIVISTS IN THE PACIFIC.

The Neo-Calédonien of the 18th February contains an article upon the question of the transportation of récidivistes to the French colonies. The following translation has been made for the information of the Victorian Premier's department:—

The Paris Temps newspaper—left centre in tone—states that the proposed Récidivistes Act will only increase the number of ruffians in the Pacific, and that reformation by exile is simply Utopian.

Our contemporary is only right so far as reformation by exile is concerned. Why, it is more than Utopian—it is a piece of humbug.

Cut off the transported husband from his family, cut off all the convicts from the hope of seeing their native land again, and you will never reform them.

But, as far as the récidivistes are concerned, we do not imagine at all that there is the pretension of wishing to reform them by any means whatever.

It is said they will increase the number of ruffians in the Pacific. This is unquestionably true.

Is it better for them to increase the number of those in France? Has not the metropolis every interest in ridding herself of a calendar of hardened criminals, who only live by plunder and theft, wallowing in filth and dirt, habitual bullies and haunters of gambling dens.

Why should the mother country keep to herself such dregs? Would it be as a specimen?

Come, come, France has every interest in removing all this canker, but she should be able to confine them within some recognised limits, so that she may not spread her poison by inoculation outside.

If they send the récidivistes with some notions about reformation, if they wish to leave them free, not to confine them, not to compel them to work, we greatly pity the colonies which will receive these wrecks of vice. They will become unfit for habitation. This is easy to foresee.

No Government will be strong enough to keep within bounds of decency beings so depraved.

On the other hand, if the récidivistes are kept to hard labour, if they are liable to undergo very severe punishment, if central depots are made in the islands intended to take in this damaged cargo, they will be controlled as well as the transported.

But pray let them not speak of reformation, and let them apply discipline in all its rigour. If not, they will make nothing of the récidivistes.

They will only depopulate the colony, or it will be the ruin of the colonies which receive them.

PROFESSOR ANDERSON STUART AND THE SYDNEY HOSPITAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your issue of to-day I see that Professor Anderson Stuart has fallen into the same error as that of which he accuses me—viz., writing before he has taken care to ascertain all the facts of the case. I knew that the Sydney Hospital is recognised by the Sydney University—at least, I had seen a prospectus issued by the University, in which the Sydney "Infirmary" is mentioned as a recognised hospital; yet there is no institution bearing this name in Sydney. The Sydney Hospital was once known by that name; but it was changed for its present one when the Act of Incorporation was passed, about two years ago. However, I suppose the latter institution is intended; but in official documents it is well to be exact in the use of terms.

In my letter to the board, I said not a word about the Sydney University, or its recognition of the Sydney Hospital. Two of the resident medical officers, and one or two of the students, told me that one of our students had been told by Professor Stuart that the Sydney Hospital is not recognised by the examining bodies of Great Britain; and that he had recommended him to go to the Prince Alfred Hospital, which is recognised.

I inquired why one should have that privilege and not the other, and it was offered as an explanation that possibly our board had not applied for the recognition of the hospital as a clinical school. I thought that Professor Stuart might be right, and I wrote to the board to recommend that the necessary application should be made, and not to bring a charge against Professor Stuart, as he seems to think. Mr. Langton called on me after the meeting, and said that my informants must have misunderstood him, that Professor Stuart had said nothing to him about the recognition of the Sydney Hospital, but that he had told him that if he intended to take out lectures at the University it would be better for him to attend the Prince Alfred than the Sydney Hospital. So that the report which was made to me was not so utterly without foundation as Professor Stuart's letter would lead one to infer.

I am, &c.,
A. J. BRADY, Honorary Surgeon Sydney Hospital.
3, Lyons-terrace, 6th March, 1884.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I was never more astonished in my life than when I read of Dr. Brady having sent a letter to the Sydney Hospital informing that body that Professor Anderson Stuart had told a student that the Sydney Infirmary was not recognised. Since my name was mentioned at the board meeting I know that I was the student referred to.

I have been a student at the Sydney Hospital for some twelve months, but (if I intended to do so) I have not yet gone to the Prince Alfred.

Professor Stuart never told me that the Sydney Infirmary was not recognised, and I regret that a charge reflecting on his performance of his duties as Dean of the Faculty of Medicine should have been made.

I am, &c.,
FREDERICK W. LANGTON, Student of Medicine.

The latest novelty in the electric way is the proposal to apply electricity to the working of fire-engines. The models have been shown, and also a model fire has been made, which the engine put out in a most reputable way; but these miniature representations of life do not count for much, and are altogether foreign to reality. They are a delusion and a snare to the inventors, who become in a moment of effervescence patentees, and commence therewith the onward career of what is called by the financial people in their jargon, "sucking the source"—drying it up would be a more correct term. There is no doubt that the fire-engines of the metropolis fall far short of the requirements, and the metropolitan brigade ought to be largely increased, or else there will be grave disaster when there is too large a demand upon their services at big fires in all parts of London. It is quite absurd to put aside a hundred thousand a year for this important duty, upon which so much depends. Electricity will not give Captain Shaw the additional force he claims and should have—more money would; and it is to be hoped that in the coming Parliamentary session, when London's defence against fire is to be brought stringently forward, there will be a means found of placing another hundred thousand a-year at the disposal of the captain, not all, of course, as salary to his worthy self. A sovereign tax on every new baby that is born would as nearly as possible do it.

FIJI.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LEVUKA, FEB. 22.

The gale which I described in my last caught the mission schooner John Hunt at sea, and gave that unhappy vessel a bad time of it. She was coming from New Britain with some invalid native missionaries and their families, and as she drew near to Fiji encountered six days of a terrific sea, with strong winds, culminating in the gale of the 8th. Sighting Kia on the north edge of the Fiji Group, the captain ran her in out of "the troublesome waves" into the smooth haven of the Macuata Lagoon, and proceeded to beat his way leisurely up inside the reef, when on the 9th he "missed stays" and went on to a soft patch of sand and coral so sweetly that no one else on board knew that the vessel had grounded. Very soon they found out that the water had risen rapidly in the hold, that everything was floating about, and that the vessel was in bad case. Fearing she might float off eventually and go down in deep water, the master clapped on sail again and drove her well up on the patch, where sits set amidst boulders and hard lumps. She was abandoned, and all hands came on to Levuka in a passing schooner. There is very little doubt that the vessel will have to be sold as she lies, for the benefit of the underwriters; but the Wesleyan Missionary Society may be very thankful for the remarkable escape of their ship from her perilous position at sea, and the saving of the lives of all on board. I have conversed with some of the returned native teachers, who appear here with unmistakable signs of the fever and ague that rack their frames in the fair pestilential islands where they have been preaching Christianity and teaching the "three Rs." They tell me that the mission is making most satisfactory and cheering progress amongst those very nude people in the populous isles yonder. Three European missionaries (Wesleyan) are resident there. The Roman Catholic priests have retired from the scene smitten with fever, with the exception of two, who are going from place to place endeavouring to get a hold upon the people. The Fijian, Samoan, and Tongan Wesleyan teachers are reduced in number by sickness, but those who are there hold manfully to their posts. Some had permission to return to their own land, and though much needing to do so, the brave fellows, when they found that the mission vessel had brought no recruits this time, elected to stay where they were rather than that the prospering work should be checked. Fine traits of character such as this are deserving of "honorable mention," especially as very opposite traits occur also in people of this race and are duly noted by the press. For instance, the Suva Times has recently recorded the fact that five employees of the Deuba Mill having been capsized in a rough sea were in extremis, and that a canoe with Fijians put off from the shore to chaffer with them as to the exact amount of their redemption money. £1 a man was offered, but was not considered by the calm and calculating Fijians, who had the advantage of the situation, as sufficient. Eventually the sufferers got ashore without their assistance. This is a bad case, and not the only one that has occurred; but there are also many instances of the very opposite course of behaviour, for Fijians have shown themselves remarkably kind to foreigners in distress, and that not infrequently. While on the subject of the Fijians I might say that in worldly matters they are prospering, whatever they may be doing about their Christianity. They earn in some places plenty of money, especially in the neighbourhood of the sugar mills. Some also reach the dignity and obtain the emoluments of what is called here "skilled labour" (though that scarcely means all that is commonly understood by the term); and what is more, Fijians are learning to hoard their earnings instead of giving them away to the many fifth cousins and poor relations which every comparatively wealthy Fijian finds appearing at his door. A Fijian who was entrusted with the charge of one of the C. S. R. Company's steam launches was fined £50 the other day for supplying spirits to a half-caste, and he paid the amount; a proof that he had a nice little nest-egg stowed away. But the other day a Fijian of the Windward Isles died at Mango worth £150. A millionaire this man! By careful observation and patient tentative effort he had acquired a knowledge of cookery, which raised him to the platform of "skilled labour." He had, I daresay, acquired it in some family (perhaps a mission family), where he was probably a considerable nuisance; but he reaped the fruits of some poor lady's patience, and became a chef-de-cuisine, and made money hand over fist at it. His grandfather's nephews by the mother's side, his cousins-German eleven degrees removed, together with other near kinsmen, bled him occasionally, but never got all. And now he has departed this life a highly respectable man, with £150 left behind him. This morning I mentioned his case to an educated Fijian. He reflected a moment, and then remarked, "Well, what a fool the man was to scrape up his money like that, making no use of it, having little enjoyment of it, and then dying and leaving it all behind him. What was the use of it?" I must confess that I could make no reply, and I did not like to admit that it was a very common thing among people of our own race. But the Fijians do not all hoard, but find a ready use for all the money it suits their convenience to earn. They come to town and go to the butcher, they crowd the bakers' shops, are large consumers of tinned salmon, and a cheap pastry sold for their convenience, which their mighty digestions are about equal to. When thirsty they scorn simple water, and cry for ginger ale of the best Dublin brand—the hotter the better. Their women purchase second-hand sewing-machines; many of them are attired in silks, satins, and velvets, with bright gold lockets resting upon their rich brown throats. But the highest aim of a native moneyed gentleman is to buy a boat, then a cutter, and when he does attain unto a schooner he is ready for the nunc dimittis. At present there are large numbers of native boats and vessels throughout the group, and a happy boatbuilder told me in mellifluous tones the other day that the Kai Kadavu were determined to have 200 boats! These Kadavuans are within a day's open sea sailing of Suva, and they are awake to the advantages of tearing across the waves with a freight of that most cheaply-produced fruit—the banana. The return of some few now and again from the colonial steamers of the capital, with a bright store of "yellow boys" as the price of their green bunches, has stirred their neighbours, and awoke them to what a glorious fact commerce is. Now, all this means good for every interest in the Islands. Once the local natives were inert in every place, for nature had supplied the wants they then felt, and why should they work or produce more than enough for themselves and their numerous relations? Now their wants are increased, they are learning to appreciate the elaborate provisions of civilization, their desires are aroused, some are kindly created for them, and hence they have a stimulus to make themselves useful in the world to help their white brother to "make his pile," to produce food that is very much wanted here, and to grow fruit to refresh the sun-parched graziers of Riverina, and the toothsome of other places. This new stimulus will make the people more active, a good thing for themselves; and the supply of labour and products may yet become plentiful, a good thing for the capitalists. Before long I have little doubt the Fijians will have entered into a full understanding of, and a deep sympathy with, the profound, the impressive meaning of the grand old American phrase, "Almighty dollar." Whether this be a consummation devoutly to be wished I am quite willing to leave for after-dinner disputation.

A hard-working tradesman in this town entered, with some other employers of Polynesian immigrants, into an enterprise whereby a ship was to be fitted out and despatched to the recruiting-grounds for very-much-required men. The expenses were to be divided proportionately, and likewise the men and women obtained. The vessel has returned with a very small company indeed; and the hard-working tradesman aforesaid has the privilege of paying £75 as his share of the expenses of the voyage, and he does not receive a single boy in return. If the planters of the present time could only be induced to call their Polynesian labourers their "brethren" they would have no difficulty then in prefixing the adjective "dear."

Our Government has to do the paternal part of their business towards the natives at present in more ways than one. For instance, King "Hocus-pocus" is making advancing strides on at least the main island, Navitilevu. What is known as the "Luveniwai" is in full force. How to describe this to you puts me somewhat at a loss. A stumbling block occurs at the very name. It means "Children of the water," but as to why this title has been applied authorities differ; more than one reason is stated by native wundits, but these may be conjectures only. A Fijian is very apt to give you his impromptu conjecture as the valid solution of the question. But the thing itself consists in a lot of people, especially young men, getting together and performing various antics until a god or goddess takes possession of one or more of them, and then they are inspired. Under some circumstances these dark tabernacles of the wandering spirit become invulnerable to a greater extent even than Achilles was, for he had one weak spot left in an unguarded heel. Under other arrangements these same scoundrels become cognisant of those who have committed felonious actions, and denounce culprits who have surreptitiously slain hogs belonging to other people, or stolen cloth from a neighbour, or otherwise committed a wrong, and with not unusual reticence refrained from confessing it. That is to say, they will charge someone at haphazard, who might be entirely innocent, or someone who might very naturally be suspected (and here they sometimes make a happy hit) or and here the effect is very mischievous—vent personal malice by slanderously accusing a man whom they have an object in denouncing. Furthermore, these gentry have revelations to make on affairs in general, sometimes to regulate the price of fowls, the quantity of yams to be sold to white men as a shillingsworth, and not infrequently to pooh! pooh! the necessity of paying any more taxes to the Government. In short, there is no limit to the vagaries of the thing, or to the mischief that it may produce. For it lays hold upon the people with a swift infatuation, they being not at all unwilling to be excited and duped, and giving, or professing to give, wonderful credence to what these impudent fools like to tell them. Against the inroads of these superstitions or impostures some of the mission teachers erect very feeble barriers indeed, being rather inclined themselves to go in with the humbug or make their own capital out of it; and their missionaries have to watch them very carefully. Several Government officers (of course of the coloured department of the service) have "assisted" at the functions of the Luve ni wai, first, however, conscientiously reporting in the proper quarters that the Hocus-pocus had arrived in their villages, after which they joined heartily therein themselves. Native constabulary too have not been entirely free from the delightfully infectious nuisance. The authorities have most wisely prohibited ardent spirits to all Fijians (with the exception of a few high chiefs in positions of great responsibility who, in some cases, through their permits disgrace themselves excessively); but it would seem that all mankind must have a "spree" in some form or other, and so they take it out in this sort of thing. A mild and cheerful form of the disease has, however, attacked one village. There a happy individual has been sitting in the gloomy hours of night in the remarkably gay and festive place, the village graveyard. There he perched himself upon the graves of the ancestors of the people of the koro, and listened to what these dead men said to him. In the morning he visited a house, and informed the master of it of what his great-great-granduncle had said. The message was received with the greatest awe, as was fitting. On one memorable night the ancestry of the villagers seemed to have made a common communication to the medium perched among their graves, and it was to the effect that their present posterity need trouble themselves no further about planting food. "Leave the ground alone, and we, your forefathers, will fill it with yams and sweet-potatoes and other good things." This quite jumped with the inclinations of the people, and so having already cleared their new plantations and burnt them off, they left the earth alone to be attended to by their respected ancestors, whose bones, like those of "Old John Brown," lie mouldering in the grave. This last mild delusion will work its own cure before long, and cannot last for an indefinite period. I spoke of the Government as being "paternal." Well, they are taking these things in hand, and are determined to put them down. Some of the actors in the Nunitogoloa business, wherein a town was burnt down, a "scribe" affirming that he saw angels with Winchesters firing into the flames, have been brought to book by a flogging. It is said that a mission teacher has been publicly flogged. Mission teachers sometimes deserve this treatment as well as other people, and so we must suppose that the piece of wild vine which was laid upon his back was a quid pro quo for some actual mischief that he had helped to bring about in connection with the imposition aforesaid. I ought also to explain the official inquiry elicited the fact that the houses were burnt at the instance of the man who saw the vision—that he did it to spite a chief, and invented the machinery of the unearthly to conceal himself and add impressiveness to what he had done. I hear the Government intends to be to a further extent paternal if King Hocus-pocus makes any more advances. For curiously enough when the people had a sincere belief, as when a few genuinely embraced Christianity, harsh treatment did not cause them to relinquish it; but as soon as a stick is laid upon the shoulders of impostors, the imposture subsides at once, a proof of the little sincerity there is in these dabblers in the supernatural. The real meaning underlying all this superficial nonsense is radicalism. It is fenianism and nihilism of a very watery kind, and is an attempt on the part of wily malcontents to get at the back of government, at the back of Christianity, right to the old Vakaviti. To reverse the words of Tennyson—or would do so were the Government a little less paternal.

"The new order giveth place to old,"

NEW ZEALAND.

We have files of the New Zealand Times to the 1st March, from which the following intelligence is taken:—

Serious floods and damage are anticipated in the New River Valley, Southland, where crops are still uncut. Telegrams from upcountry to-day state it has been raining heavily from Kingston down to Elbow. The railway has been washed away at Nokomai and Parrowa, and the line was under water at Elbow and Josephville, and the crops in the district are said to be submerged. The river takes a considerable time to run down. In the Lake District warning has been sent to the settlers to remove their live stock.

A telegram from Wanganui to the New Zealand Times states that on the 28th February Sir Robert Douglas, Bart., died from cancer at Mr. Ashforth's residence, where he had been on a visit for several weeks past. The deceased gentleman came to the colony as captain in the 57th Regiment, and sat in the last Parliament as member for Marsden.

For 9000 or 10,000 acres of bush land offered on lease by the Government at Hawera, it is understood that only four tenders have been sent in. The failure is attributed to the circumstance that the land is rather far back, and there is no immediate prospect of passable roads being made to the land.

The Hawkes Bay Herald makes the following estimate of the meat export from Napier this year:—"We have been informed that this year 80,000 sheep were offered for freezing to Messrs. Nelson Brothers, Limited, but that only 30,000 can be frozen. Besides this 80,000, a large number, estimated at nearly 100,000 more, will be tinned or boiled down, many of which would do for freezing, and thousands have gone to Wellington to be frozen. We do not, therefore, over-estimate the capacity of Hawkes Bay to supply meat for freezing when we put the annual available surplus at 100,000."

At the Resident Magistrate's court, at Cambridge, on the 22nd February, Natana Taowharoro, Piripi Whatuala, Hiko Apolo and Hauata Hamuera, were charged on the information of Mr. Percy S. Smith, with wilfully obstructing and hindering Mr. D. Stubbing, an assistant to a Government surveyor, while in the execution of his duty. The case arose out of the obstructions offered to the surveyors while working on the Waotu block. The case was clearly proved, and Natana was fined £20, Piripi £10, and the other defendants £10 each with costs—£11 16s. 6d. A second charge was brought against the same defendants for wilfully resisting Mr. Stubbing, and forcibly taking possession of his survey instrument. Mr. Keesing appeared for defendants, and pleaded guilty. Natana and Piripi were fined £5 each, and the women were cautioned. Costs, £1 2s. 6d. each. On the solicitation of defendants, the presiding magistrate gave them one month to find the money.

THE ORBIT OF THE LATE COMET.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Since the publication of my letter on this subject Mr. Butterfield, of Sydney, has kindly handed to me a set of comet observations received by him from the Melbourne Observatory. It appears that Mr. Ellery obtained an observation as early as January 12, and as the comet's apparent motion was much more rapid at that time than during the interval embraced by my fundamental positions for the orbit, it would obviously afford a very satisfactory test of the elements which I have computed. I have accordingly applied this test, and I find that the Melbourne observation for January 12th, uncorrected for aberration and parallax, is represented by my elements within 24 seconds of an arc in longitude, and 25 seconds in latitude. It is therefore conclusively shown that my determination of the orbit will require but a very small correction when all the southern observations come to be discussed. Yours, &c.,
Windsor, March 7, 1884. JOHN TEBBUTT.

OUR MELBOURNE LETTER.

MELBOURE, MARCH 5.

There died in the Lying-in Hospital, 10 days ago, a girl aged 15, after becoming the mother of a child which is now being "reformed" in the schools provided by a benevolent State for that purpose. There is nothing unusual in the circumstances of the case other than that the girl was unknown. She died without giving any information about herself, and there has been no inquiry made from any persons presumably related to her. The conclusion, to which it is impossible not to come, is that this is only one of many such examples of girls going straight to their destruction without their conduct occasioning any sort of distress to their friends. In fact, thousands of girls in this city are allowed to do exactly as they like so far as the disposal of their time is concerned. Bourke-street of a night is full of them, and it is this freedom to occupy their leisure at their option which prompts so many of them to prefer factory life to that of domestic service. They are entirely free of parental control, and many of them absent themselves from home for indefinite periods. It is quite possible, therefore, for any of them to fall into the depths of degradation without the knowledge of it coming at all to those who should be the first to be made aware of it. In this way the ranks of what are known as the "unfortunate" class are recruited, and so they will continue to be recruited until a more wholesome system of home life shall be brought about.

In another case, in which the body of a woman was found floating in a muddy waterhole, there was also a mystery as to who she was; but now she is said to have been the sister of Lady Mordaunt, whose divorce from her husband furnished such a scandal a few years ago. It is nothing surprising there should be such a tragedy, for there are many of them; but the recurrence of them sets one thinking upon the abundance of the dramatic materials always to be found in this colony. It is horrible, no doubt, to think that a woman, once beautiful and worshipped as an idol of society, should end her days in a noisome puddle, and her body be laid for idlers to gaze upon in a dirty shed in the most unattractive suburb of this southern city. Perhaps it was only right, however, that such a tragedy should happen in such a neighbourhood. All the greater pity that all the unpleasant things could not be confined to unpleasant places.

Take tripe for example. A butcher has been fined for boiling tripe in Lonsdale-street. He was not fined heavily, because his counsel insisted that the tripe-boiling was not the cause of the villanous smells which had been complained against. The defence was to the effect that the boiling of tripe caused no smell, and that, if it did, in a general way that this particular tripe establishment, was a model of sweetness. Moreover, his counsel asked, what if this tripe-making did create noisome odours? Melbourne was full of them; and that one, more or less, made no difference. But apart from smells, the wonder to me is that there should be any tripe-boiling at all. I am told that a great many people eat tripe and like it, which taste has always excited my special wonder. For tripe-eating is as great a puzzle to me as the wearing of buttons at the back of a coat. I cannot discover the purpose in either case.

But, then, there are so many things for which it is quite impossible to assign a reason. For example, why does it give pleasure to a large class of persons to cut their names upon any wooden surface to which they may find themselves near? And why especially should they wish to carve the benches and tables in the new Law Courts? It is true these places are irritating in the inconvenience of their arrangements to most people, but why the irritation should take the form of wood-carving it is very difficult to make out.

And in respect of these Law Courts, every day discovers in them some new folly. The latest explanation of the blunders is that they were all invented by the Chief Justice. There was a committee, so I hear, of Judges, barristers, and solicitors, to decide upon the arrangements in the courts, and everybody was afraid of contradicting the Chief Justice when he suggested anything; and now they say they are sorry they did not contradict him. Up to the present, he has not sat in the new courts; he has been on circuit since they were opened, as if he wanted to test them on the experimentum in corpore vili principle. And now that they have been tried and found wanting, those who know him are asking what he will say. He will probably say, as he said once during the short period of his chancellorship of the University, when told of a former ruling being different from a present ruling, "If I ruled so, I was wrong." Undoubtedly his ruling in this Law Court business has been most consumedly wrong.

And Mr. Service has been employing his denunciatory powers in relieving his mind upon the subject of the St. Kilda-road. It is the ruttiest road he ever drove upon, and he thinks a city councillor ought to break his neck on the road in order to make everybody convinced that it is impassible, and to compel the council to think seriously about repairing it. But as he has begun the denouncing process, another man, an obscure person, has written a letter to the Argus denouncing him (Mr. Service) for letting the road through the St. Kilda Park fall into quite as bad a condition as the St. Kilda-road.

And from roads we get to bridges, meaning especially Prince's Bridge, concerning which there is more controversy than ever. Mr. Deakin, the Minister of Public Works, insists upon pulling down the present bridge, and although the City Council have desired him not to pull it down until he is quite sure of all the money required to put up the new one, he will go on pulling. The City Council, however, declare that they will not give a farthing of the forty-seven thousand pounds they have promised towards the cost, unless the new bridge be put up according to the plan first agreed upon. They will have no cheap-and-nasty bridge, and in this decision they are supported by all good citizens who desire to see the city made beautiful.

And touching the beautiful, the Kalizoic Society has at last got itself into an organised shape, and is ready for business. They have got beyond the stage at which shallow persons laugh at all new things they cannot understand, and they are going to work with a resolve to make Melbourne less hateful to well-regulated eyes. They have elected Mr. James Smith president, and as he is probably the best man that could be found to take the principal place in an association which is going to try to teach the public to get away from savagery, and to worship in the most practical way the gods which rule over colour and form, the society may be said to have made a good beginning.

Somebody has suggested that the Kalizoic Society should take up the question of manners, as well as streets, gardens, and houses, and probably they will; and considering the illimitable field there is for their efforts in that direction they will not have much spare time on their hands. Morals, too, might follow—especially church morals—more particularly dwelling upon the commoner forms of honesty, such as the obligation of deacons to render up the money collected for charitable purposes to the charities, and not to apply them to church uses, as was the case with some deacons at Hotham the other day, which deacons endeavoured to justify their action on the grounds that, as they had no money for church uses, they took the money which had been collected for something else. But it would seem as if religious bodies regarded themselves as absolved from the obligations which ordinary folk have to submit to. Thus, in the case of the new St. George's Catholic Hall in Drummond-street, which was opened a few days ago, the sensibilities of the trustees were greatly shocked at being reminded that it was their duty to obtain the sanction of the Central Board of Health before using the building. They thought that all that was necessary was to get the place blessed by an archbishop; but as the Central Board did not take that view, there has been commotion and not words have escaped, and the board has been denounced as impious and presumptuous. But as the board are neither shocked nor contrite at the denunciation, the regular course of the law will have to be taken; which makes one sad to think that in these degenerate and iconoclastic days an archbishop should be looked upon as less potential than a board. Some fearful judgment, therefore, is looked forward to as likely to happen to those irreverent persons who prompted the board to act as they did.

NEW ZEALAND BORROWING.

(From the Saturday Review, January 12.)

The colony of New Zealand has a magnificent future if its Government does not too heavily encumber it resources in the hurry to develop them. The appearances are that it is borrowing too rapidly. The colony is somewhat larger than Victoria; but, compared with the other Australian colonies, it is quite small. And it is to be recollected that it has not the rich gold-mines of Victoria. Besides, it has a considerable native population, which has given trouble in the past, and possibly may do so again, and which at any rate still occupies nearly a quarter of the lands of the colony; while Victoria has no native population worth speaking of. Lastly, its white population does not greatly exceed half that of Victoria. At the end of 1882 the total white population of New Zealand but slightly exceeded half a million. That is to say, it was about equal to the population of one of our great provincial towns. And this population at that time had a debt of about 30½ millions sterling. Victoria, whose population exceeded 900,000, had a debt at the time not greatly exceeding 22 millions; while New South Wales, whose population was 817,000, had a debt of barely 18½ millions. Compared with the remaining Australian colonies, the debt was enormous. Without, then, taking account of the old countries of Europe, we see that the liabilities of New Zealand are out of proportion great, even when compared with those of the most prosperous and most go-ahead of its sister colonies, with populations nearly twice as large as its own. Per head of the population, the debt of New Zealand at the end of 1882 amounted to the enormous sum of £58 8s. 1d., while that of Victoria was only £24 7s. 10d., and that of New South Wales only £22 13s. Again, the debt of New Zealand was equal to 7¾ years' revenue of the colony, while that of Victoria was equal to somewhat less than four years, and that of New South Wales but little more than 2¼ years. And what is not the least disquieting circumstance in the whole matter is that the debt has mainly grown up within the last 10 years. At the end of 1873 it did not quite reach 11 millions; at the end of 1882, as already stated, it was nearly 30½ millions. In nine years, therefore, it had nearly trebled. It will cause no surprise then that such repeated appeals to the London money market as is here implied caused some disquietude, and that at last pressure was brought to bear upon the Government of New Zealand, and a promise was extracted from it that for three years it would not again raise a loan in London. The promise expired 12 months ago, and immediately a fresh loan was brought out. Now again the Government of New Zealand is asking for another loan of a million. It is once more, that is, resuming the course which caused disquietude four or five years ago, and is adding every year seriously to its debt. Nor is it only the colony itself that is thus piling encumbrance upon encumbrance. The London Stock Exchange official list quotes no fewer than 13 different loans of New Zealand municipalities, the present amount of which is not less than £2,315,000. And one of these municipalities is at the present time applying for a fresh loan of £100,000. Thus the colony and its component parts are accumulating a mass of debt which, it is to be feared, will cause serious inconvenience, unless a wise and more prudent course is adopted.

It is to be borne in mind, of course, that the colony of New Zealand had serious native difficulties, and that in its wars with the natives it was obliged to borrow money. In this way liabilities were forced upon it from which the purely Australian colonies were happily free. It is, furthermore, to be admitted that its later debts are incurred for useful public works. At the end of 1882 it had 1465 miles of railway actually open, and over 4000 miles of telegraph lines likewise open. And the municipalities to which we have referred have also borrowed for the construction of useful public works. It is not to be questioned that these railways, telegraphs, harbours, and other works greatly benefit the colony. They enable immigrants to push forward, and extend the area under cultivation; they open up to the settlers new markets; they enable them to send their produce quickly down to the sea-coast, and thence to Europe; and, in short, they greatly develop the resources of the country. Without such public works population could not grow very rapidly, and wealth could not be accumulated. But just as a private owner may embarrass himself by too great haste in improving his property, so may a new community like New Zealand. As we have just been admitting, the value of a railway is not to be measured by the revenue it returns; but, on the other hand a new and small community cannot safely disregard the earning capacity of its lines when it builds on a large scale. That the condition of the colony is not thought favourable by emigrants from Europe seems clear. For in the year 1882 the excess of immigrants into the colony over emigrants from it was only 3489; while the excess in the case of Victoria was 10,880; in that of New South Wales, 19,317; and in that of Queensland, 17,013. Again, the imports and exports together in the case of New Zealand amounted to only £29 19s. 6d per head of the population; while in the case of Victoria they amounted to £39 4s. 9d., and in that of New South Wales to £47 10s. 8d. Of course many causes affect imports and exports besides the rate of taxation, and many causes, too, tend to direct the stream of emigration one way or another. We do not, therefore, wish to attach overmuch importance to these latter figures. Nevertheless, the fact is significant that the effective immigration into New Zealand is so small; for the climate of New Zealand is certainly more favourable to Europeans than that of any part of Australia, and the soil is extremely fertile. Other things being equal, one would expect a much greater immigration into New Zealand than into any part of Australia. Still, we do not intend to say that the finances are as yet embarrassed. We are quite satisfied that the colony has a magnificent future before it if not prematurely compromised. Nor have we any wish to deny that its resources are great, that the public works being carried on are developing those resources, and that the progress of the colony, all things considered, has been fairly satisfactory. What we urge is that the debt has grown too rapidly in the past, and is growing too rapidly at the present time; that it is growing, not only in the case of the colony itself, but in the case also of the local authorities; and that is threatens to become so heavy as seriously to embarrass the population. Another point not to be lost sight of is that, with a population but slightly exceeding half a million, the revenue of New Zealand in 1882 was nearly four millions sterling, being at the rate of £7 13s. 10d. per head of the population. The rate in Victoria was only £6 7s. 1d. But in New South Wales it was as much as £9 5s. 5d. It is true that only 51 per cent. of the total revenue was raised by taxation, so that the actual taxation amounted to no more than £3 18s. 6d. per head of the population. That, however, is much too heavy. It greatly exceeds the rate of taxation here at home, and it can be justified by nothing in the circumstances of the colony. The remaining revenue proceeds partly from the railways and other services, and partly from the sale of public land. The total area of the colony somewhat exceeds 66½ million acres. Of this area about 16 million acres, or nearly one-fourth, are still occupied by Maoris; and somewhat under 17¼ million acres have been sold; leaving about 33¼ million acres still to be disposed of. In other words, about one-third of the area in the possession of the colony has already been alienated, leaving only two-thirds open for settlers; assuming that the lands still held by the Maoris are not to be touched. The area of New Zealand somewhat exceeds that of England, Scotland, and Wales, and with one-third already alienated, the population but slightly exceeds half a million. Evidently if the Government goes on selling its lands at this rate, it will have parted with the whole long before the population has reached a respectable figure. Then it will find itself in very serious difficulties. The amount realised up to the present by the sale of lands somewhat exceeds 12 millions sterling, so that the average price obtained is only 14s. 1d. per acre.

The advocates of the policy pursued by the colony reply to such criticisms as we are now urging that the Government, as rapidly as it sells land, is building railways; that therefore, it is merely changing the form of investment, the capital previously represented by land being henceforward represented by railways. But the answer is by no means sufficient. When the land is all bought by private owners there will be no inducement for emigrants from Europe to go to New Zealand; unless, indeed, there is such a development of manufactures as there is no reason to anticipate. European emigrants will therefore turn away from New Zealand to the colonies of Australia, where land will still continue abundant. Moreover, it is to be borne in mind that with the growth of wealth and population the value of land will rise, and that, instead of 14s. 1d. per acre, as the Government has obtained up to the present, the price of an acre of land will be represented by pounds. It would be a much wiser course, then, to be chary of the sale of land. Nor is it to be forgotten that, when the land is all sold, the difficulty which is becoming greater and greater every day in the Old World will have to be faced by the New Zealand Government. The land will be monopolised, as the opponents of landlordism term it and a struggle will begin between the landless and the landowners. Even in the United States, where the extent of country still unsettled is so vast, it is easy to see already the germs of difficulties of this kind. How much greater will they be in an island about the size of Great Britain, which has already sold a third of the land it owns, while its population is not greater than that of many a provincial English town? That some kind of a homestead law may be necessary is probable enough; but that the Government is too lavish in its sales of land is quite evident. If the debt goes on growing as it has grown during the past 10 years, by the time that the whole of the land is alienated the charge of the debt will be a very heavy item even for a country with such resources as New Zealand. And in addition there will be all the ordinary expenses of administration. The Government then will have to depend entirely upon taxation and upon the revenue of the railways, the telegraphs, the post-office, and such other services as it renders to the people. There will inevitably be a cry if these revenues remain large for reductions in the interests of the people at large, and this can be conceded only by adding to the burdens of the taxpayers. The unwise policy which the colony is pursuing is thus leading it into grave economic mistakes of various kinds. It is piling up a debt which is mortgaging the future of the country. And at the same time it is parting with that form of property which beyond all question must increase in value every year that passes, and for which the demand will become more and more intense as the population grows. Not only is it doing this, but at the same time it is preparing for itself social and political difficulties of the first order. For every reason, then, it is extremely desirable that the New Zealand Government should be much more moderate in its applications to the London loan market. And the great London capitalists, who four years ago exacted from it a promise to refrain for three years to come, would perform a service to the colony if they would again compel it to hold its hand for a still longer period.

REVIEW.

SIR THEODORE MARTIN'S LIFE OF LORD LYNDHURST.*

This is a volume which is bound, in our opinion, to cause disappointment rather than pleasure to the majority of its readers, and that for reasons not far to seek. As a biography, it will certainly fail to reach the expectations of those who welcomed the announcement of a new work from the pen of the courtly author of the Prince Consort's life, for the materials of which it is composed are too slight, and the fresh information which it furnishes is too scanty to make it interesting in this respect, while the tone of controversy which runs through its pages does much to mar the pleasure of perusal. The fact is, the book is not published as a biography, i.e., as the narrative of a life pure and simple, but to accomplish a special purpose, which is ever before the author's mind: this is the vindication of Lord Lyndhurst from the calumnies which were so freely cast upon his character by Lord Campbell, in his account of the ex-Chancellor, which was brought out in 1869 in a supplementary volume to the "Lives of the Lord Chancellors," containing biographies of Lyndhurst and Brougham. All readers of this entertaining but inaccurate work must be aware that the noble and learned author was not over-scrupulous in making use of any materials which he thought would have the effect of enlivening his pages. It was well known that he intended including his two illustrious contemporaries in the series which had ended for the time with the life of Lord Eldon; and for this purpose he applied to Lyndhurst for any letters or documents which might assist him. "Materials from me you shall have none," said the old man, who was in the habit of observing that "a new sting was added to death" now that Campbell contemplated writing his life, and forthwith he destroyed all that might be of use in this respect. This gave Campbell, says Sir T. Martin, an opportunity of drawing upon his own malignant imagination, as there were no proofs to the contrary left to rise up in judgment against him. Be that as it may, the volume contained many unkind insinuations against Lyndhurst's private character, while it credited him with a total lack of principle in his choice of a party and in the acts of his political life. Fourteen years is a long space of time for impressions of any kind to remain unerased from the public mind with regard to the character of any man, unless the result of the interval be a work so peculiarly weighty as to banish its predecessor from the field. But the present author laboured under the same disadvantages as Campbell in respect of materials for a biography, and to make up for this he has thought fit to heap disparaging criticisms on the character of his opponent—as though to blacken Campbell were identical with whitening Lyndhurst—and to make numerous extracts from those set speeches and solemn protestations of honesty and consistency with which the latter was in the habit of astonishing the House of Lords. It is needless to say that this is a most unsatisfactory mode of defence, and one ill calculated to create opinions opposite to those which it was the writer's endeavour to efface. In one part of his task we gladly concede that Sir Theodore Martin has been successful; he has done much to clear the private character of his hero from charges which seem to have been as ill-founded as they were ill-natured. In this, however, he has done little more than was effected by the appearance of Mrs. Amory's "Life of John S. Copley, with reminiscences of his son, Lord Lyndhurst," a very interesting volume of the home lives of the father and son, by a kinswoman. It is from her that Sir T. Martin derived the idea which has been the cause of so much correspondence—viz., that Campbell had no opportunity of ever seeing Lyndhurst in his own house, as he never had the entree to it. This has been completely shown to be erroneous from various letters which passed between them, the most important of which seems to have been purposely kept back by the writer of the present work, but triumphantly produced by Mrs. Hardcastle, Lord Campbell's daughter. It is, however, all the more discreditable that the intimacy should have been used with such a purpose in view. While, then, we believe that the servants in Lord Lyndhurst's dining-room were bona-fide waiters and no bailiff's men, we still remain incredulous as to the honesty of "Jacobin Copley's" acceptance of a seat in Parliament from Lord Liverpool; and while we allow him to have been as admirable in his family relations as Macaulay, we have still unexplained the wonderful coincidences of changes of opinion with promotions which are so noticeable in his career. These points should have been cleared up by Sir T. Martin, if that was possible; in any case we expected a better vindication of them from him.

The truth seems to be that Lord Lyndhurst was a puzzle even to his contemporaries, by whom he was not understood; and, it may be, misunderstood. He unbosomed himself to none in respect of his public acts, and the few materials which might have been available for an historian in an attempt to fix his place in the history of the times he apparently destroyed deliberately. There is no doubt that current opinion credited him with advanced views up to the time he entered Parliament in the Tory interest. To this, it must be confessed, he remained true, with certain slight but opportune modifications. Not only Campbell, but Eldon, Scarlett, Melbourne, and the high-minded Denman—to whom it caused genuine pain—all looked upon him as one who had changed well-known opinions, and all listened with incredulity to his vehement assertions to the contrary. To repeat the numerous stories, ranging from the jests of waiters at circuit mess to grim jokes of old Lord Eldon, would be to fill pages. The best is a mot of Sir J. Mackintosh, related by Lord John Russell, as follows:—"I remember sitting by Mackintosh when a great lawyer, disclaiming from the Treasury Bench all participation in the opinions of the Liberal party, said, 'I could see nothing to tempt me in the views of the gentlemen opposite.' 'For views read prospects,' whispered Mackintosh to me." The prospects of the party referred to were indeed gloomy at that time, and the position which they occupied was very different to that of the "well-placed Whigs of thirty-nine," so wittily described by Praed, and when Copley made choice of a party he might well have thought out of all range of possibility. Yet he clearly foresaw that the era of Eldon and the old Tories was soon to end; and accordingly, though he was returned for Cambridge as an anti-Catholic, and spoke against the sect most vehemently in orations, from which the old ex-Chancellor afterwards said he had obtained all his arguments, yet he afterwards as vehemently co-operated in removing their disabilities. Upon his party's leaving office in 1830, it seems that he might have been Lord Chancellor to Earl Grey, and he actually was appointed Lord Chief Baron by him, on condition, it was understood, that he would not oppose the Reform Bill.

It is time, however, now to detail in order a few of the circumstances of his extraordinary life. John Singleton Copley was the son of the artist of that name, and of Susannah, daughter of Richard Clarke, the merchant, whose consignment of tea was thrown into the Boston harbour on account of the obnoxious tax. Born in 1772, his childhood beheld the birth of the great republic of the west, while the closing years of his long life saw it engaged in all the agony of a civil strife to prevent disunion of its States. Before the war broke out the artist left America for Europe, his wife and children remaining at home. Being known already through his works, he was well received in England, where he had many commissions for painting portraits, amongst them from Lord and Lady North, who were accounted the ugliest couple of the time, and from George III. and his Queen. After staying in England for a short time, Copley, who had never had a master, but was entirely self-taught, visited Italy in order to study the masterpieces of art. Upon his return to England he was joined by Mrs. Copley and the children, and settled in a house in George-street. Elected a Royal Academician, for a time he prospered in his profession, but the war with France drained the country, and though commissions were numerous, yet remuneration by no means followed as a matter of course, and he became gradually worse and worse off. His most famous historical work, "The Death of Chatham," was, and perhaps still is, among the first pictures to arrest the eye on entering the National Gallery. His distinguished son, who had no taste for his father's calling, was educated at Cambridge, where he was second wrangler and Fellow of Trinity. Having received the appointment of travelling Bachelor, he paid a visit to America, and from there wrote letters to the Vice-chancellor of the University, according to custom, giving an account of the country, and the manners and customs of the people. On his return he read in the chambers of a special pleader in the Temple, and was called to the Bar in 1804. The family circumstances were at this time by no means good, and Copley had to borrow from his brother-in-law £1000 to support himself and pay the necessary fees. Meantime he read diligently, and became an example of the truth of a favourite statement of Lord Eldon's: "Nothing does a young barrister so much good as to be half-starved. It has a fine effect." Having no interest on any circuit, he chose the Midland. Most assiduous in his attendance at court and chambers, he had to wait many weary years before attorneys thought fit to entrust him with work; in fact, it is on record that he had purposed leaving the Bar when he got his first important brief at Nottingham, in 1812, to defend the "Luddite" rioters. The indictment charged the prisoners with sending threatening letters to Nunn and Co., "proprietors of a silk and cotton lace manufactory." In cross-examination Copley discovered that the firm were "proprietors of a silk lace manufactory and of a cotton lace manufactory." According to the law at the time the wrong description was sufficient to invalidate the indictment, and the prisoners were ordered to be discharged. The case had caused great excitement, and Copley's rise was afterwards most rapid. In 1813 he was made serjeant-at-law, and when his father died, two years later, greatly in debt, his son was able to satisfy all the creditors. Henceforth he supported his mother and sister, and was the "kindest and best of brothers and sons." He was so frequently engaged in defending conspirators and rioters, and performed his task with such success, that the Crown in 1817 retained his services to prosecute in similar cases. For this he was reproached by Denman, the counsel for the accused in the Brandreth trial, who said that till then "Copley and Liberty" were a byword. It was the year after this that he accepted Lord Liverpool's offer of a seat, and from the time of entering Parliament became a supporter of Government measures, for which he was rewarded with the office of Solicitor-General. We have mentioned before the opinions of his early friends on his conduct in this respect. His professional ability was enlisted on the King's side in the trial of the Queen, Caroline, after which he was marked out for promotion. Successively Attorney-General and Master of the Rolls, in 1827 he became Lord Chancellor, with the title of Baron Lyndhurst, in Canning's Ministry. While holding this office he procured Brougham, Denman, and Campbell the honour of silk gowns, preferred Sydney Smith to a canonry, and Macaulay to a Commissionership in Bankruptcy. On the Whigs coming into power in 1830 he was appointed Lord Chief Baron, and did much to raise the reputation of the Court of Exchequer. It was perhaps in this judicial position that his abilities were best used for the public good. As a judge he was perhaps without an equal, and gave great satisfaction even to counsel, whose eloquence he considered it to be his duty to check as much as possible, unless it was confined strictly to the points at issue. His own powers as an advocate at the Bar had been unrivalled, and it was said that "the statement of a case by Copley was worth any other man's argument." Meanwhile he offered strenuous opposition to the Reform Bill, to the great surprise of Lords Grey and Denman, who openly twitted him with inconsistency. But even to mention all the political acts of his life would need too much space here; we will only refer to a curious story which was related at the time of his death, to the effect that in 1834 he was offered the Premiership by William IV., with the title of Earl Copley, while a place in the Ministry was to be found for Benjamin Disraeli, between whom and Lyndhurst there existed a close friendship. Of them the author of the "Greville Memoirs" relates what he seemed to consider a characteristic story, under date September, 1834:—"The Chancellor called on me yesterday about getting young Disraeli, whom he called a friend of Chandos, into Parliament (through the means of George Bentinck) for Lynn. His political principles must however be in abeyance, for he said Durham was doing all he could to get him by the offer of a seat. If he is undecided between Chandos and Durham he must be a mighty impartial personage, though just such a person as Lyndhurst would be connected with." He was again Chancellor in 1834, and for the third time from 1841-46, from which date till 1863, when he died, he held no office, but exercised the greatest influence over the House of Lords, which he continued to address almost up to the date of his death with great force. Like Halifax, he might well be said to be a man

> ". . . of piercing wit and pregnant thought,
> Endued by nature and by learning taught
> To move assemblies."

There were, however, dark and doubtful spots in his brilliant career, which Sir T. Martin has by no means cleared up by simply enveloping his hero in a blaze of panegyric.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your news column of March 6, you say that certain explanations have been given by the Department as to the use of the Australian series and Irish National books for reading in the Public schools.

There are certain reasons that lead to the conclusion that the A. S. S. will, under the present regime, most certainly supplant the I. N. B. 1. The A. S. S. is published by Collins and Sons, but compiled by Mr. Wilkins and the inspectors, who in answer to request in 1876 or 1877 sent in their views as to the best lessons to be given for reading in the various classes. Now, it does not take much knowledge of human nature to know that authors or compilers are likely to think more of their own productions, and look kindly upon those who are of like opinion. 2. In the standards of proficiency issued and approved by the Minister on 28th September, 1883, the A. S. S. series is put first in every case, and named, whilst the I. N. B. is put out under the name of equivalent. 3. The A. S. S. is a better series from a literary standpoint, and more suitable for Australian youths, and so, from a secular view, to be preferred. These three reasons will be quite sufficient to show that in the battle between the series it will go hard with the I. N. B.

The puzzle is, the better literary book has neither religious nor moral lessons as such. Teachers, therefore, who wish to stand well with the heads of the Department, and who care not about religious teaching, have the way opened to them very conveniently by using the A. S. S. Then the marks given for Scripture are so few in the 5th class—only 30 out of 930—that it matters but little whether the subject is touched or not.

On the other hand, teachers who do value religious instruction, and at the same time naturally wish to stand well with their chiefs, find themselves in a dilemma. If they read the A. S. S., the religious lessons are missed; if they don't, it is an open secret that that series is best thought of. If they read the A. S. S. for literary excellence and the I. N. B. for religious instruction, the time is too short to get through more than half the work prescribed.

But why give room for this discussion at all? Why not raise the marks for Scripture from 30 or 40 to, say, 80 or 90, and let the Scripture lessons go lower down in age to, say, 7 or 8 years instead of 9 or 10, as now?

These two points conceded, and the teachers would for their own credit be compelled to encourage at least an intelligent grasp of the facts of the Scripture lessons, and the now forgotten Scriptural instruction would be at once galvanised into a renewed life through all the schools of the colony. I am, &c., JAS. RICKARD.

THE WORKHOUSE ACT OF 1866.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Nearly 20 years ago, being then the head of the Administration, I brought in and carried the above Act, after some very unwise opposition, particularly in the Legislative Council. My colleague the Colonial Secretary, to whose Department the carrying out of this enactment belonged, unfortunately neglected the matter, and no step having been taken while I remained in office to establish the projected workhouses, an honourable member, with more party feeling than knowledge or ability, brought in a bill to repeal the Act. I was too disgusted at the evident intention on the part of many members to support this gratuitous piece of stupidity to say one word in opposition, and the Act was repealed without discussion. A more silly step was never taken. Before bringing in that bill I had procured returns showing the number of drunken and dissipated persons who spent their lives in oscillating from the lockup to the gaol—objects of loathing to the public, and of commiseration to those who saw no means of alleviating their unhappy condition. Unable to obtain employment either from repulsive physical infirmity or ineradicable love of drink, and unworthy to seek the refuge of a charitable asylum, it occurred to me that it would be a mercy to these unhappy creatures to send them to a home where they would be kept from rolling about the streets, haunting the public-houses, taking up the time of the police, and travelling continually from the watchhouse to the prison. At Port Macquarie there was and is a suitable building to which these wretched people could be sent. Could not the Government devote two or three days to the re-enactment of this salutary law, the carrying out of which at the time of its passing would have prevented much misery to hundreds of poor creatures unable and unwilling to help themselves, and have left the police some time to attend to matters of greater utility than picking up drunkards and vagrants from the gutters?

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

FOURTH DAY—FRIDAY.

The Assembly was constituted at 20 minutes to 11 o'clock.

The debate on the report of the treasurership committee (which was presented on Wednesday) was resumed. Eventually the following deliverance (moved by Mr. J. H. Goodlet and seconded by Rev. James Adam) was adopted:—"That the Assembly approve and adopt the report, thank the committee for their diligence, resolve that the assessment for the Assembly Fund be continued at 2 per cent. on the ordinary revenue for congregational purposes—viz., seat rents, ordinary collections, remit of Sustentation Fund [illegible] not being aid, and other stipend [illegible]—until a sufficient working balance is provided, enjoin congregations who have not paid the assessment for the last two years, or any part of the assessment, to pay the same."

The following reference from the Presbytery of the Clarence respecting two charges having only one minister was brought up:—"Re Grafton and Ulmarra charges.—At Rocky Mouth, on the 11th day of January, 1884, which day the Presbytery being met and constituted, inter alia, during conversation on this matter (Ulmarra records) it having come to the knowledge of the Presbytery that Ulmarra is a distinct charge from Grafton, with a distinct and separate session and committee of management, but ministered to by the minister of Grafton, who had received and accepted distinct calls from both of the charges previous to the formation of this Presbytery, whilst there was only one induction service. The Presbytery of the Clarence, therefore, desires to know whether, seeing that there was only one induction, the two charges are to be declared a composite charge with one session, or whether one of the charges is to be declared vacant, and accordingly refers the case of Grafton and Ulmarra to the General Assembly for guidance and instruction thereon."

A committee was appointed to consider the matter and report.

Rev. A. Miles Jarvie read the following report of committee on intercourse with other Churches:—"Your committee on intercourse with other Churches have to state that the highly important matters referred to them have received careful attention, and that during the past year the subject of union of the Presbyterian Churches of Australia has been under their prolonged and anxious consideration. In terms of the appointment of last assembly, the conference which was held at Melbourne on the 5th June and following days was attended by seven representatives from this Church. The meetings of the conference, which extended over several days, were of a very interesting character. As a copy of the minutes of conference has been sent to each of the ministers of the Church, it is not necessary to enter into detail as to the business that was transacted. The subjects of home missions, missions to the heathen, theological education, the formula, directory for public worship, scheme of constitution, and code of rules, were all carefully considered, and the findings or resolutions of the conference on these various subjects are in the minutes. The fundamental principle of the proposed union, that it is not to interfere with the autonomy of the Churches further than may be found necessary to render the union efficient and practicable, was kept in view. But in order to discover how far such union was in the present circumstances of the various Churches really practicable, much information is needed, and the conference adopted the means to secure such information, with a view of laying it before the supreme courts of the respective Churches, that these courts having it before them might be in a position thoroughly to consider the whole bearings of the question. The subjects in regard to which such information was needed were:—1. The tenure of the properties of the Churches in the different colonies, the powers of trustees, and all cognate matters. (2.) The funds for widows and orphans and infirm ministers in the various colonies, and the practicability of these being amalgamated, and the terms of such amalgamation. (3.) The relations of the heathen mission and missionaries to the different Churches, British or Australian, and how these could be placed under one general management. And (4.) the financial arrangements of the different colonial Churches themselves, whether by sustentation or congregational funds, and the bearing of these upon Church extension or home mission work. In order to secure this information the conference appointed a general committee, consisting of the representatives of the different colonies. There were also appointed under the general committee subcommittees and conveners for each colony. It was further arranged at the close of the conference that this general committee should be divided into three sub-committees, relative respectively to heathen mission sustentation fund, and home mission work, and Messrs. Wilson, Robinson, and Dr. Nish, of the Victorian Church were appointed conveners of these sub-committees accordingly. In accordance with these resolutions of the conference, your committee procured the information that was desired relating to the Church of New South Wales, so far as this was in their power. It need not be said that the labour of preparing the reports fell chiefly on the general agent of the Church, the Rev. Mr. Ross. But it has to be stated that Mr. Ross, to give definiteness to the discussion, added to his labours by drawing out and laying on the table of your committee a paper containing proposals in regard to incorporative union, regulations for effecting the proposed union, and sundry details. Your committee was so impressed with the value of this paper, that, without adopting it, they unanimously agreed that it should be printed. This was accordingly done. Your committee have now the pleasure to lay a copy of these reports on the table of the General Assembly. Your committee have received copies of the reports from the Victorian Church as to the tenure of properties, home missions, and the formula. It was hoped that the reports from all the Churches in the various colonies might have been in such a state, as to be laid before the General Assemblies at their annual meetings. This, however, has not been found to be the case. The conference held in Melbourne resolved that the various General Assemblies should be asked to arrange for another conference, to be held in Sydney on the first Wednesday of July, 1884, and to appoint delegates to the said conference. Your committee recommend this General Assembly to accede to this request, and to appoint delegates accordingly. It is probable that the information sought from the various colonies may by that time be obtained, and that such reports may be laid before the conference as to lead to some scheme of union being formulated, such as that which was prepared by Mr. Ross, and which has been sent to the general committee. In the expectation that this may be the case, the whole question of union in its nature and extent, and practical suggestions for effecting such union, would be thoroughly discussed, and the matured recommendations of the conference presented to the General Assemblies. The conferences of the brethren from the various colonies had been of a very pleasant character, and much brotherly regard has been evoked. One result of these meetings has been, that it has made it manifest, what none of us doubted, that all the Presbyterian Churches of the colonies, in doctrine, discipline, and practice, are substantially one. By increased personal and ministerial intercourse, the desire for union would be greatly enlarged." He concluded by moving a deliverance in accordance with the report.

Rev. Dr. Geekie seconded the adoption of the report. He did not see his way to incorporation. The union would be a federation rather than an absolute incorporation. Although the United States were federated they were unquestionably united. He could not see why the Churches should lose their individuality. He did not know of anyone who asked for absolute incorporation, which would mean an obliteration of individualities.

The Clerk read the returns received from presbyteries with respect to the remit re federation.

Rev. W. Gardner expressed it as his conviction that, as far as the movement for union had gone, it had been in the hands of only a few of the senior members of the Church; and unless the Church were more generally represented, the co-operation of all the members of the Church in this colony would not be secured.

Rev. Dr. Nish, at the request of the Moderator, addressed the assembly with reference to the proposed union of the Presbyterian Churches. In reply to the objection that it would be impossible to have incorporative union and reserve the autonomy of the Churches, he pointed to the case of the United States. No one, he said, would surely affirm that the United States were not one body politic, and yet they knew that the autonomy of the States had been carefully maintained. He also alluded to the case of the Dominion of Canada, the autonomy of the different provinces of which had been carefully preserved. He had now obtained all the information that was required before they dealt with the question of union, and printed reports containing that information would be distributed some time before the sitting of the conference took place.

Rev. Dr. Steel gave notice of his intention to move the following motion:—"That in accordance with the returns from the presbyteries this assembly approves generally of the code of rules and of the union of the Presbyterian Churches in Australia on the lines therein laid down, and instructs the committee to prosecute this object with a view to its ultimate accomplishment, and trusts that as many members of the assembly as can find it convenient may attend the proposed conference in July next."

The debate was then adjourned until Tuesday next.

EVENING SEDERUNT.

The evening session was commenced at a quarter to 7 o'clock, under the presidency of the Moderator (Rev. J. S. Laing). There was a large attendance of visitors, including Captain Braithwaite (of the Dayspring), two converts from the New Hebrides, and Mr. J. Young Wai (missionary to the Chinese in this city).

The minutes of the morning sederunt having been read and confirmed,

Rev. William Gardner, of Bombala, asked the clerk to be good enough to inform him of the names of the members of the committee appointed to deal with matters arising out of the reference with respect to the Grafton and Ulmarra charges.

The Clerk read out the names of the committee.

Rev. W. Gardner said he found that he had not been appointed a member of that committee. It was the Rev. J. M. Ross who moved the motion providing for the appointment of that committee, and he who seconded it; and as the seconder of the motion he was entitled to have his name included in the committee. He took it as a special act of discourtesy that his name had been omitted. It was not the first time that he had been treated in that way, and a continuance of that discourtesy would only result in the establishment of determined opposition on the part of country members.

The Moderator, addressing Rev. W. Gardner: I take your remarks as being directly aimed at the chair, because it devolves upon me as Moderator to name the members of the committee. I disavow any intention of slighting you. I do not know you have any special claim to be put on the committee by reason of the action you took in simply seconding the resolution. I cannot, however, enter into any dispute with any of the brethren upon this point.

The Rev. Robert Collie read the report of the committee on missions to the heathen, of which the following is an abridgment:—"Your committee have to report that in accordance with the instructions of the last General Assembly they brought under the notice of the Government the great desirableness of setting apart certain portions of land in suitable parts of the colony for the use of the aborigines; of having the aborigines collected together in these places, and schools established for their instruction; and of affording at the same time, facilities to the churches for carrying on missionary work amongst them. In reply to their communication containing these recommendations, your committee received from the Hon. the Colonial Secretary a strong assurance of the warm interest felt by himself and his colleagues in the welfare of the aborigines, and of their desire to do everything in their power for the amelioration of their condition. Whilst agreeing with the recommendations of your committee as to the desirableness of collecting the children into schools, Mr. Stuart sees considerable difficulty in the concentration of the able-bodied men in mission or other homes, and his opinion is that these men should be induced, if possible, to work at neighbouring stations, and to provide at least in part for the maintenance and comfort of their wives and children, who might be encouraged to remain at the mission, where also the men themselves might find a retreat in sickness or old age. With the view of having this whole question considered, and the wants of the aborigines provided for, the Government has appointed a board of protection, consisting of gentlemen all well acquainted with the subject, and deeply interested in the aborigines; and it is hoped that the steps which may be taken by this board may in some degree remove the national shortcomings in regard to the existing remnant of the aborigines. Your committee further find that the claims of the aborigines are being carefully attended to by the New South Wales Aborigines Protection Association, and also by the missions known as the Maloga and the Warrangesda missions. In view of these facts, and of the very great difficulties which lie in the way of this Church undertaking a special mission to the aborigines at present, your committee, after fully considering the matter, have thought it better not to take any further action with reference to the aborigines in the meantime. They recommend that this field be left in the hands of those who are already engaged in it, and that the missionary zeal and energies of this Church be concentrated upon the two other missions already in operation—to the Chinese in this colony, and the mission to the New Hebrides. With reference to the mission to the Chinese in and around Sydney, your committee have pleasure in reporting that the catechist, Mr. J. Young Wai, has prosecuted his work with great diligence and regularity, and with a gratifying measure of encouragement. The service which was begun last year in Scots Church schoolroom has been held regularly every Sabbath afternoon. The attendance averages from 20 to 30, and Mr. Young Wai still continues to receive valuable assistance in the conducting of the musical portion of the service from Mr. and Miss Small and other friends. The Sabbath evening service is held in a house at the corner of Nithsdale and Goulburn streets, which your committee have secured on lease for the use of the mission. Part of this house is occupied by Mr. Young Wai as his own residence, and the other rooms are used for meetings on Sabbaths and on week days. The attendance on Sabbath evenings varies from 20 to 40. A prayer meeting is held on Wednesday evenings, and on one or two other evenings there is a class for the teaching of English. Mr. Young Wai has also held meetings once a month at North Sydney, and twice a month at Botany, and occasionally at Canterbury and other places. He has been very active and diligent in visiting his countrymen in the city and suburbs, and also in the hospital. He has found great help in his work in the use of Chinese hymn-books and tracts, a case of which your committee procured for him from the Religious Tract Society's depôt at Canton. Through the kindness also of the missionaries of the London Missionary Society, two cases of Chinese New Testaments, which had been sent to the Society Group for distribution, but which were not needed there, were forwarded by the John Williams to Dr. Steel and were placed at the disposal of your committee. These, also, have been exceedingly helpful to our catechist in his work among his countrymen in Sydney. Your committee note with great satisfaction the movement which has recently been initiated by Mr. Quong Tart, for securing by legislative enactment the prohibition of the importation of opium, and also for the more effective inspection and regulation of gaming-houses among the Chinese. Measures of the kind aimed at are much needed, and, if secured, would doubtless be productive of much good. Your committee have to report that our missionaries, the Rev. W. B. Murray, M.A., and Mrs. Murray, left Sydney for the New Hebrides by the Dayspring in April last. After making a tour of the islands, and seeing for himself the several places open for the reception of a missionary, Mr. Murray was appointed by the New Hebrides Mission Synod to the island of Ambrym, a large island at the northern end of the group on which no missionary has ever before been settled. A suitable piece of land was selected and purchased from the natives, and, with the assistance of two of the missionaries who accompanied them as a deputation from the synod, a house was erected thereon, and Mr. and Mrs. Murray entered upon their work in high spirits, and with many tokens of encouragement. The committee regret to learn from letters come to hand since, that Mr. Murray's health has not been good, and that some of the natives have been in an irritable and threatening attitude. It is satisfactory to know that the natives under whose protection Mr. Murray was settled have continued steadfast in their attachment to him, and favourably disposed towards his work. Your committee have further to report that, in view of the recent agitation in connection with the South Sea Islands, and the proposal of the French to send out convicts, your committee thought it desirable to press upon the Government, and also upon the Intercolonial Convention, the desirableness and importance of including the New Hebrides in the scheme of annexation to be recommended to the Imperial authorities. A public meeting was held on the subject in St. Stephen's Church, and a resolution was passed in favour of the same, a copy of which was forwarded to the Government and to the convention. The committee regret to find that, owing to an understanding arrived at between Great Britain and France in 1878, recognising the independence of the New Hebrides, the British Government seems precluded from taking any steps for the annexation of these islands, and they cordially approve of the resolution of the convention, declaring it to be extremely desirable that the understanding should give place to some more definite arrangement which shall secure these islands from falling under any foreign dominion, and they trust also that her Majesty's Government will avail itself of any opportunity that may arise for negotiating with the Government of France with the object of obtaining the control of these islands in the interests of Australasia." Having made some observations with respect to the report, he moved the following deliverance:—"The assembly receive the report and thank the committee for their diligence. The assembly regret the difficulties that lie in the way of establishing a mission to the aborigines in connection with this Church, and express the hope that these difficulties may soon be removed. The assembly meanwhile commend the aborigines of the colony and those labouring for their well-being to the sympathies and prayers of the Church, and recommend all the ministers and members of the Church who may come in contact with any of the aborigines to show them all Christian kindness, and to do what in them lies to bring them to the knowledge of the Saviour. The assembly are gratified to hear that the mission to the Chinese in Sydney and suburbs is being prosecuted with vigour and with tokens of encouragement. The assembly are also gratified to hear that such a favourable and hopeful settlement has been obtained by the Rev. W. B. Murray in the island of Ambrym, express their hearty sympathy with him and Mrs. Murray in the difficulties attending the first stages of their work amongst the natives, and in the dangers to which they are exposed, and cordially commend them and their work to the prayers of the Church. The assembly further express their earnest hope that, in the interests of the Australasian colonies, her Majesty's Government may be able to make such arrangements as will at least prevent these islands from falling under any foreign dominion, or from being occupied with convicts or other disreputable persons. Finally, the assembly take this opportunity of expressing their grateful sense of the services of the Rev. James Cosh, who for ten years past has acted as convener, and their hope that his visit to Europe may be useful in advancing the cause of missions and of this Church."

Rev. J. Lamont, of East Maitland, seconded the deliverance. He earnestly commended the efforts being made for the conversion of the Chinese.

The deliverance was adopted.

Rev. J. Gardner, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church of Victoria, then, at the invitation of the Moderator, addressed the congregation. He spoke of the success of missionary effort, and afterwards conveyed the greetings of the Victorian to the New South Wales Church. He had been greatly delighted with the discussions in the assembly. He was not going to criticise the logic, or the law, or the arguments of the brethren who had spoken in the assembly. He had been greatly delighted by the accounts of their prosperity.

Rev. Dr. Nish, of Sandhurst, said he stood before them, as the embodiment of the Church in Victoria, to promote the establishment of the contemplated union. He hoped one of the first resolutions of the united Church would be to take the entire charge of the missions in the New Hebrides. They would as a united Church be much better able to promote the interests of ministers with respect to the Widows and Orphans' Fund than they would as separate churches. He spoke of other advantages that would follow the union of the Churches. They would be able to increase their influence as a Church.

Rev. James White, of Carrickfergus, Ireland, spoke of the circumstances in which Presbyterianism was established in Ireland, and the success which had attended the operations of the Church in that land.

Rev. Mr. Bell, of Port Glasgow, congratulated them that they had been able to gather together the various sections of the Presbyterian family into one Church. He could not help longing for the time when the Israel in Scotland should be gathered into one Church. He was fain to confess that the standard of intelligence in these colonies was higher than at home, and that being so, he recognised that, with respect to the sending out of ministers from Scotland, it would be useless to send out men who had not been able to succeed at home.

Rev. W. Anson Smith, of Queensland, spoke of the desirableness of students for the ministry cultivating the study of apologetics.

The proceedings, which had embraced the successful singing of a duet and a solo, were brought to a close by the passing of a vote of thanks to the visitors who had taken part in the meeting.

The assembly will meet again at 10 o'clock this morning. The following is the business to be dealt with:—Report of the general purposes committee, nominations of representatives to standing committees, report on aged and infirm ministers' fund, report of committee on superior boarding schools. Widows and Orphans' Association is appointed to meet on Monday, at 4 p.m.

REFORMATORY FOR BOYS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—For many years the desirability of establishing a Reformatory for boys has been a constant topic for discussion. Upon all sides but one expression of opinion has obtained, that such an institution (or institutions, for one will not prove sufficient) should be created with as little delay as possible. So far every one is agreed.

The next question is as to what kind of system shall be adopted. And here the great difficulty arises, for opinions on this point are as far apart as the poles. Everybody fancies that he can sail a boat or drive a horse, and it is only after much experience in these two occupations that the difficulty of doing these easy-looking things becomes apparent. Similar ideas prevail as to dealing with neglected or criminal boys and girls. The number of paid superintendents, matrons, and officials, of ladies' committees, of charity boards, and of amateur philanthropists of various kinds, is legion. In some instances, "safety has been found in a multitude of councillors"; in other instances another old proverb has been exemplified—"Too many cooks spoil the broth." Too many want to drive, and the institution "bolts" or "jibs"; or everybody desires to be captain, with the result that mutiny arises, or the institution is badly steered and eventually capsizes.

Riots, gross disorder, confusion, &c., are not so uncommon in these institutions as people imagine. In some cases, when the misconduct and bad management reach an extreme height, the whole matter comes prominently before the public; but in most cases affairs are hushed up. Where matters cannot, however, be glossed over, it will be found that it arises, in nine cases out of ten, from want of harmony amongst the members of the governing body, who each has some pet crotchet of his or her own, which is ventilated at every opportunity both in and out of season. Disorder arises, want of discipline prevails, and the inmates suffer, for while their guardians squabble, they go on steadily growing into manhood or womanhood under the guidance of a system badly carried out or of itself bad, and they finally are carried out on the world's stream the flotsam and jetsam of society, the boys going to swell the ranks of thieves, loafers, &c., and the girls eventually going the same way into the vast army of criminals, if they survive their horrible experiences as prostitutes. It will be found that these failures are attributed to irremediable viciousness on the part of the children, and not to any fault of the system or its administration. I have had somewhat special opportunities of observing these waifs and strays both here and in England, and many years' experience convinces me that these unfortunate youngsters owe their downfall to the utter badness of the plans pursued in the institutions where they have been trained—plans promulgated by kind, well-meaning ladies and gentlemen with the very best intentions, but plans also which are framed with the most superficial knowledge of the subject. To use an expression of Dick Deadeye's, "they mean well but they don't know."

Although our ways of dealing with this question are not as numerous as at home, or even in the neighbouring southern colony, we yet have a tolerable quantity of "another ways," as Mrs. Glass has it. The Destitute Children's Asylum, Randwick; the State Children's Relief Board (more generally called the Boarding Out committee), the Shaftesbury Reformatory, the Cottage Homes, the Roman Catholic Orphan School, the Protestant Orphan School, the Benevolent Society's Asylum, the Newsboys' Brigade, the Girls' Industrial School, the training ship Vernon, and possibly some others which just now escape my memory, form a pretty good number of institutions for our young country. All of these places have totally different ways of dealing with the children; and it is now proposed to introduce another system altogether, from Victoria, as the basis of operations to be pursued in the coming reformatory. I read Mr. Foster's (late Minister of Justice) letter in a recent issue of your paper with much attention. He is evidently impressed with the urgency of establishing a reformatory, and from his letter it can be easily seen that he devoted a deal of attention to the subject when in office. The system to be pursued in particular seems to have occupied his consideration, for the Comptroller of Prisons was requested to report upon the matter. No doubt both of these gentlemen have very carefully inspected and considered the institutions of this colony; but the system ultimately approved of was that carried out at the Ballarat Reformatory in Victoria. Taking much interest in the subject, I obtained from Victoria the last report of the Secretary of the Department of Industrial and Reformatory Schools in that colony, in which appears a very lengthy report from the superintendent of the Ballarat Reformatory of the work of that institution for the two and a-half years covered by the document in question. I was certainly much disappointed at the results shown, and am of opinion that much consideration should be given ere we finally adopt the same scheme of turning bad boys into good ones. I may say at once that I have not been at Ballarat, know no one connected with the reformatory, and simply take my repugnance to adopting its plan of operations from the published report of its proceedings.

The report, which I append for your information, says:—"I will here briefly summarise the results of two and a half years' work, as shown in the after career of the inmates. Thus: 39 very good, 41 good, 20 fair, 14 doubtful, 4 indifferent, 21 bad, 15 not sufficient information, 26 no information." You will here see that out of 184 sent out in the world in two and a-half years 91 did well, and 93 are classed doubtful, bad, &c. The report goes on:—"In many cases the antecedents were so bad that to anticipate any good results from reformatory training was hopeless." (This does not seem at all encouraging.) "Average number for 1880 was 136, and there were 50 absconders. During 1881 it was 162 and 30 absconders. During 1882 it was 167 and 30 absconders." It will thus be seen that in three years there were 110 desertions! The promotion system is thus spoken of: "There are some boys who behave and work well in order to get into 'A' division, simply because of the facilities afforded for absconding to this higher division." Great stress is laid on the results of the farming and gardening which, in table 11, brought in £179. The gross cost per head for the last year reported upon came to £30 16s. 6d.

I think that these figures should be carefully considered before we introduce the Ballarat system into our new reformatory. One hundred and nineteen absconders in two and a-half years out of so small a number of inmates, and only 71 boys behaving "good" out of 184 at service, with a yearly cost per head of over £30, appear to offer little grounds for imitation.

In England it is the practice to hold at intervals conferences of persons engaged in reformatory and similar work, and these conferences have been productive of the greatest good. They last a week, and are numerously attended by managers, superintendents, and other officials, and also by ladies and gentlemen connected with institutions in honorary capacities. Papers are read on the various systems in force, and discussion is not only invited, but invariably forms the principal part of the proceedings. The weak points of each plan are discovered and remedies proposed, and it is obvious that much valuable information must be gained from this interchange of ideas. The Reformatory and Refuge Union, under whose auspices these conferences are held, and whose president is that philanthropic nobleman, the Earl of Shaftesbury, has no less than 518 institutions connected with it, affording shelter for 42,205 inmates.

At some future time I should much wish to deal further with this question, but my letter is now of such an inordinate length that I can hardly venture to hope for its insertion. I will therefore conclude for the present with a suggestion that we should follow the plan carried out at home, and hold a conference here of all persons engaged in the treatment of neglected or vicious girls and boys.

I am, &c.,
VALEAT QUANTUM VALERE POTEST.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—When I read the proposal of the Colonial Treasurer to retrench and cut down so great a sum as £12,000 asked for for the contemplated reformatory, I imagined and thought that such an institution was again doomed; but learning from yesterday's Herald that the sum of £8000 has been reserved so as to make a start I breathe again, and shall be much obliged if you will permit me to add my quota to what has already been said.

As for the necessity for such an institution it is useless to dwell upon, for abundant has been seen and exemplifications given by our police magistrates and others; but should anyone feel doubtful on the subject, they have but to perambulate a few evenings of the week in the quietest suburbs of Sydney, and I think they can scarcely fail to be convinced.

As matters now stand, very frequently juvenile offenders escape punishment because the magistrates are aware that to commit them to the tuition of hardened criminals, whether at Darlinghurst, or in other gaols, they would most likely, in nine cases out of ten, learn, become, and emerge incorrigible villains, their apprenticeship would be complete, and they would thereafter prove pests of society.

Mr. W. J. Foster, late Attorney-General, has correctly estimated the evils attending our present system, as well as the benefits that would accrue from an institution having for its objects the moral and physical culture of our waifs and strays, the cultivation of their inborn good qualities, and the inculcation of such trades and employments as are most suitable for their development as men, and fit members of a rising country.

It is a well established fact that the Vernon is not adequate, nor is in every case suitable, and I think it is also acknowledged that we require an institution where the adaptabilities of its inmates may be brought into full play, so that when they leave it they may be welcomed by society instead of being constantly suspected and hounded by the police.

Had such an establishment existed some eight or ten years ago, the probabilities are that we should never have heard of such revolting atrocities as have recently been perpetrated at Waterloo, Woolloomooloo, and other places.

I would, therefore, urge the Government to at once push the matter forward, and if they do so I venture to predict that not a few who will inhabit and learn what their parents failed to teach, not only become fit members of society, but will thank God that in their boyhood they were protected and taught by the present Government.

The sum of £8000 is ample to begin with, and if the institution is managed purely on the cottage industrial home system it will require annually but a small endowment to balance the difference of its production.

I am, &c., NON SIBI, SED PATRIÆ.

LECTURES.

ART, BOTANY, AND COLONIAL MANUFACTURES.

A lecture was given on the above subjects, under the auspices of the Board of Technical Education, by Mr. John Plummer, in the hall of the Technical College, Pitt-street, on Tuesday evening last. The lecturer spoke at some length upon the architecture displayed in different parts of the town, and suggested the names of several plants, such as the broad-leaded wattle and most of our gums, as being admirably adapted for purposes of design in ornamental ironwork. In most instances the emu, and sometimes a blackfellow or kangaroo, were introduced as designs for ornamental work; but these had become monotonous, and a change was needed. In England the importance of plant forms as a source of ornamental design for gold and silver was strongly recommended in the Birmingham and other schools of art. In ornamental designs for terra cotta, plant forms were recommended, and those engaged in its production should by no means neglect the study of art botany. In the carving of stone a glance at the ornamental stone work of Sydney would show how the Australian flora had been neglected by way of design, instead of which the emu or kangaroo or some other classical kind of ornament was suggested. In conclusion the lecturer remarked upon wood-carving, and of the importance of a knowledge of plant forms for that branch of industry, and added that he cared little for animal forms, but sought his chief inspiration from the world of flowers.

SCIENTIFIC AGRICULTURE.

A lecture was given in connection with the Board of Technical Education on Thursday, the 15th instant, on "Scientific Agriculture," by Mr. William M. Hamlet, F.C.S., in the Technical College Hall. Mr. Edward Combes, C.M.G., M.P., President of the Board of Technical Education, took the chair, and in introducing the lecturer stated that he was a member of several scientific societies in the mother country, from which he had only arrived last week. The lecturer pointed out the great advantages to be derived from the proper and systematic study of agriculture, and gave a description of the method and aims of the Royal Agricultural Society of England, and the agricultural colleges and experimental stations of England, Denmark, Germany, and France, especially of the famous Rothamsted station, where Sir J. B. Lawes and Dr. Gilbert show how good yields of barley have been grown from the same land for 20 years in succession. Having defined both science and agriculture, the lecturer gave a clear account of the first principles of the subject in a simple and easy manner specially adapted for the New South Wales colonist. He showed the bearing of botany, chemistry, biology, zoology, entomology, and veterinary science upon the practical course of husbandry, which is followed in the technical institutions of Europe, drew attention to the practical requirements of the colony, such as land surveying, practical engineering, drainage, the construction of dams and weirs, and well-sinking. The motto of the Royal Agricultural Society was "Practice with Science," and should be the motto of the colonist, the enormous advantages of science over rule of thumb being fully pointed out. The researches of eminent agriculturists were then alluded to, and a review of the work of such men as Jethro Tull, Liebig, Proctor, Ville, The Earl of Ducie, Johnstone, Lawes, Gilbert, Dr. Voelcker, Mr. Clare Sewell Read, Colonel Kingscote, Mr. Howard, Mr. Ransome, and of famous breeders of pedigree stock. The topics then dwelt upon by the lecturer were:—The soil, subsoil, and the virgin soils; the effect of salt, and the scour of tidal rivers, clearing scrub and timber lands, plains and low scrub, and the effect of bush fires; the fertility of the soil and what it mainly depended on; barren soils and the cause of sterility; light, heavy, and sour lands, arable and pastoral, and the demands made upon the soil by different crops; the mechanical action of ploughing, hoeing, and harrowing, water supply, drought, and inundations; manures—guano, bones, bone ash, and nitrate of soda, with some valuable suggestions as to the way in which the mineral resources of New South Wales may be turned to practical account in the cultivation of the soil; the crops grown, such as grasses, roots, cereals, vines, and fruit, how crops are nourished, the characters of tropical and subtropical husbandry, the system of rotation of crops, the colonial practice of fallow, the diseases of plant life and their prevention. The lecturer next treated of live stock pedigree; sheep, store, and fat cattle; the value and economical uses of suint and potash; diseases and epidemics, including scab, fluke, foot-rot, and pleuro-pneumonia; natural and artificial foods, dry and green fodder, and more especially the modern system of ensilage or silos, a graphic account being given from personal experience of what the lecturer had witnessed in the case of Lord Walsingham's experiments. Special remarks on the suitability of the Australian soil for wheat, oats, rice, barley, beans, coffee, sugarcane, maize, cocoa, tobacco, spices, olives, hops, vines, caoutchouc, and cinchona. The lecturer pointed out that Australia was a land of squatters, and by special means in particular cases of husbandry she should be one of the foremost food-producing countries in the world. A full and clear account was given of the vast national loss by sewage, and the best means of making up the deficit, which the lecturer described as more than a national debt. A rapid review of 40 years of progress and modern experience was then made, and the following proposition was established—that where the truths inculcated by scientific agriculture are faithfully carried out, the maximum of yield will be obtained by the minimum expenditure of capital and labour, and with the least injury to the soil. In concluding a subject so vast and important—a subject that presses home so closely to everyone—the lecturer said that if he seemed to exaggerate its importance he considered himself justified by the facts of the case to urge upon all the necessity for its study. The farmer can no longer grow produce from English soil without an outlay that he never dreamed of in the years gone by. The land question in England is approaching a crisis, and the agriculturist is waiting to see how he is to be compensated for permanent improvements that he finds absolutely needed on the land. Under existing competition with the newer lands in the United States and in this colony he can no longer produce wheat. The wheat supplies from California and South Australia have outstripped his own producing powers, and he must henceforth turn his attention to barley-growing, grazing, and dairy produce. This is the natural result of the increase in the world's population; and the lecturer reiterated that, sooner or later, we must adopt New South Wales to the principles of modern agriculture to compete in the race. It does not necessarily follow that this preparation shall be burdensome and costly to either the Legislature or the people; but to be forewarned is to be forearmed, and the present expense of providing sound and systematic agricultural instruction, together with the establishment of experimental stations open to all the agriculturists of the colony, will be as nothing compared to the lasting and valuable benefits to be derived therefrom—a legacy of wealth to our children and the heritage of generations to come. Mr. Combes, C.M.G., in moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Hamlet, said that he concurred in what the lecturer had told them of the system of fallow and the necessity in the immediate future for economising everything in the shape of manure for growing wheat. Of course farmers grew wheat largely at Bathurst and Orange, where only a few years ago scarcely any cultivation existed; and in the not distant future, when Dakota and Minnesota had ceased to give England its food, the valleys of the Lachlan and Murrumbidgee would be found among the greatest wheat-producing districts of the world. He looked forward to the time when these scientific principles, so ably explained by the lecturer should be put into useful practice. Mr. Hamlet, he might inform them, had considerable experience in the secondary productions of coal and in the ammonia and manure manufacture, and he should like to see some of the natural wealth of the colony turned to advantage, for he believed that everything that these substances now manufactured at home could be also manufactured here.

WORKMEN'S EMERGENCY LECTURES.

A joint committee of gentlemen and members of the Trades and Labour Council have made arrangements for the delivery of a course of four lectures by Professor Anderson Stuart, of the Sydney University, assisted by Drs. Skirving and M'Cormack, of the Prince Alfred Hospital. The lectures will be delivered at the Protestant Hall, Castlereagh-street, on the evenings of March 11, 13, 17, and 19, commencing at a quarter to 8. Practical illustrations and diagrams will be shown, making the lectures attractive and instructive.

SYDNEY FISH SUPPLY.

The following is a return showing the number of baskets of fish supplied during the week ending March 1:—Botany, 118; Sydney Harbour, 63; Wollongong, 50; Broken Bay, 98; Newcastle, 96; Tuggera Lake, 303; Port Stephens, 6; and Narrabeen, 12; making a total of 746 baskets. The sum realised was £631 3s. 6d. One basket was seized for being under weight, and was forwarded to the hospital. The contents of 61 baskets were condemned as being unfit for food. The following prices were obtained:—Per dozen: Schnapper, 14s. to 48s.; squire 4s. to 13s.; flathead, 3s. 6d. to 12s.; whiting, 3s. 6d. to 8s.; flounders, 5s. to 8s.; soles, 4s. to 6s.; Jewfish, 11s. to 96s.; tragilin, 7s. to 13s.; sea mullet, 3s. to 9s.; rock cod, 6s. to 8s.; lobsters, 17s. 6d.; crabs, 3s. to 8s. Prawns, 20s. to 60s. per bushel. Per basket: Black bream, 4s. 6d. to 37s.; mullet, 9s. to 42s.; travally, 18s.; yellowtail, 14s. to 45s.; blackfish, 9s. to 21s.; garfish, 14s. to 33s.; and tailers, 3s. to 8s. 6d. During the month of February 18,256lb. of fish were exported into Victoria, via Moama. The foreshores of the Manning River were opened to dredging on Monday last. There appears to be a good supply of very fine oysters coming down from the Richmond River, in which a large bed has recently been discovered.

The Church and the Stage.—The London correspondent of the Liverpool Mercury says:—"The other night I was present at a discussion on the drama where several clergymen spoke. They all said the same thing. They began life with a prejudice against the drama. They had been obliged to champion it. A clergyman who had worked very much among the lowest classes of London as chaplain of the metropolitan asylums, declared that he found the theatre implanting the first ideas of a higher life in the hearts of men who never attended church, and one costermonger came to him because he had been convinced by a play that a course of reckless vice led to misery. There is no longer any need for a church and stage guild. In fact, I know a very earnest London parson who rewards the best scholars in his Sunday school by taking them occasionally to the pit of a theatre to see a good play."

PARLIAMENT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

At the time we went to press yesterday morning, the Legislative Assembly was still sitting. The following is a continuation of our report:—

After discussion, a great deal of which was ruled by the Chairman to be out of order, the item of £993 for public works in connection with the Treasurer's department was agreed to.

The next item was under the head Miscellaneous Services, £86,821.

Mr. A. G. TAYLOR took exception to the sum of £10,000 set down for advertising, and he thought it should be reduced by one-half. He moved that the item should be so reduced.

Mr. SUTTOR suggested the adjournment of the debate.

Mr. DIBBS said that he was willing to withdraw for future discussion the sum of £1218 to meet the claims of Messrs. G. R. Stevens and Co. for compensation for loss sustained by detention in quarantine of the Ocean (s.).

The motion that the sum of £10,000 for advertising be reduced to £5000 was negatived, on division, by 23 votes to 15.

Mr. BRUNKER moved,—"That the sum be reduced by £2500."

Mr. COPELAND wanted to know whether the expenses incurred for advertising land sales were included in the vote.

Mr. DIBBS said that it included all Government advertising.

Mr. FARNELL said a new departure had been made by the Government in reference to advertising land sales. They advertised them like private auctioneers advertised their sales. They had placards posted in different places, and the result had been that liberal advertising had brought in prices higher than would otherwise have been obtained for the land.

Mr. DIBBS said he would agree to the reduction of the vote by £2500.

The motion was then agreed to.

By consent of the committee, the item of £1218, to meet the claim of Messrs. G. R. Stevens and Co. for compensation for loss sustained by detention in quarantine of the steamship Ocean in June, 1881, was withdrawn.

The item for miscellaneous services, as reduced by withdrawals to £83,103, was agreed to.

The next item was, "Advance to Treasurer, £150,000," which was reduced by £50,000, and agreed to.

The House resumed, progress was reported, and leave was given to sit again.

At 7 minutes to 4 o'clock the House adjourned until 4 p.m. on Tuesday next.

GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

The infantry in the Northern district, at present consisting of four companies, with head quarters at Newcastle, West Maitland, Singleton, and East Maitland respectively, will form an administrative regiment, to be styled the "4th Regiment of New South Wales Volunteer Infantry."

RANDWICK ASYLUM.

The thirty-second annual report of the directors of the Randwick Asylum has been printed in pamphlet form, and, as heretofore, a large amount of useful information is supplied. In addition to the report submitted at the annual general meeting, there appears information respecting the admissions and apprenticeship of children, extracts copied from the visiting book, copies of certificates received from employers of apprentices, a full list of perpetual subscribers, the names of the office-bearers and directors, together with a complete list, in alphabetical form, of all the subscribers. From the tabulated statement it will be found that since the establishment of the institution in 1852 the number of children who have benefited by the operations of the society has amounted to 4066 who are thus accounted for:—Apprenticed under indentures, 918 boys and 728 girls; restored to parents, 1638; discharged to boarding-out officer, 28; died in 32 years, 209; remaining in asylum on 31st December, 1882, 358 boys and 187 girls: total, 4066. The reports are now being distributed to the subscribers, and the secretary will be glad to furnish others with copies upon application.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, MARCH 7.

Banco Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice WINDEYER and a jury of four.)

SHAUL V. PENNY, PART HEARD.

This was an action to recover £200 damages for breach of contract. Defendant, according to plaintiff's evidence, called for tenders in November last for the erection of a house at Glebe Point-road, and plaintiff, who was one of the tenderers, was successful, and the contract was entered into for £2245. Plaintiff carried out all the work which was ordinarily done by a builder before going on with the building, but defendant put plaintiff off upon various pretexts, and finally refused to allow him to proceed.

The defence was simply a denial that a contract had been made. Defendant admitted that he did at one time call for tenders, and that plaintiff, among others sent in a tender, but defendant never accepted his tender, as it was too high, and he never signed, or promised to sign, the contract. The question of erecting the building remained in abeyance for some time, and was finally abandoned by defendant, who did not see his way clear to go on in consequence of certain difficulties he encountered. The jury, after hearing counsel and his Honor's summing up, returned a verdict for the defendant.

BOOTH V. CLOZENBURG.

This was an action to recover £69 11s. 7d., balance of account between plaintiff, a timber merchant, and defendant, who is a builder, for timber supplied by plaintiff. There was no appearance for the defendant, and the jury returned a verdict for the full amount claimed. Mr. Hanbury Davies, instructed by Mr. Colyer, for plaintiff.

EDWARDS V. JARMAN.

Jury: Thomas Williams, Edward Campbell, John Hawkins, and George Pratt.

Dr. Sly and Mr. Teece, instructed by Messrs. Daintrey and Jones, for plaintiff; Mr. Rogers and Mr. O'Connor, instructed by Mr. T. M. Williamson, for defendant.

This was an action to recover £150 for work and labour done by plaintiff as a builder. This case was only part heard.

Jury Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice INNES and a jury of four.)

MOON V. BARTON.

Jury: Michael Boyleon, Henry Burrows, James Milne, and Robert Precious.

Mr. C. B. Simpson, with Mr. Lingen and Mr. Harris, instructed by Messrs. Heron and Smith, for plaintiff; Mr. M. H. Stephen, Q.C., with Mr. Pring, instructed by Mr. Rolin, for defendant.

This case, which was commenced on Tuesday last, was concluded to-day.

This was an action brought by Thomas Moon, builder and contractor, to recover the sum of £724 (less £108 set-off), being balance of account for services rendered in the erection of a building at Five Dock, for defendant, Russell Barton, in December, 1881; also for materials supplied and materials converted by defendant to his own use. The evidence in respect of plaintiff's claim was to the following effect. Defendant, being desirous of having a house built at Five Dock, entered into a contract with plaintiff in September, 1881, under which the latter undertook to carry out a certain portion of the work, consisting of excavations, masonry, brickwork, &c., the amount agreed upon being £3000. In order that plaintiff might go on with his work, it was necessary that he should remove an old cottage, which was in the occupation of the defendant, who promised that he would allow plaintiff to take it down. When the time came, however, for its removal, Mr. Barton, refused to permit it to be removed, and so hindered plaintiff that he was prevented from getting on with the work, and lost a considerable amount of money in consequence of having to keep his men idle. There was also a provision in the contract by which Mr. Barton undertook to supply a certain quantity of glazed tiles to be used in the building, but Mr. Barton did not supply the tiles for a very long time, and Moon was in consequence further delayed and put to additional expense. In addition to the amount of the contract originally entered upon, there was certain extra work carried out under the orders of Mr. Barton, and these extras amounted to to £574 17s. 1d., making the total amount of the contract £3574 17s. 1d. There was a condition in the contract that payments were to be made to Mr. Moon at various periods upon the production of the certificate of Mr. Thompson, the architect; and although he had duly carried out his contract, and did everything that would entitle him to to the certificate, the architect refused to give it to him, acting, as plaintiff alleged, in collusion with defendant. After the last certificate was given by the architect, and paid, a great deal more work was done; but the architect refused to give another certificate, although plaintiff on several occasions urged him to do so in order that he might be able to pay his men and continue the work. In support of the charge of collusion between defendant and the architect, several letters were put in evidence, which, according to plaintiff's contention went to show that the architect was acting in the interests of defendant, and not in the interests of both parties; and that in refusing the final certificate, after the work had been completed and approved, the architect had acted upon the instructions conveyed to him by a letter from defendant in September, 1882, in which defendant positively refused to pay any more money. It was agreed, when the contract was made between the parties, that if in the course of the work any disputes occurred, or if the architect should withhold any certificate to which plaintiff might be entitled under the contract, then the dispute should be submitted to arbitration, and the award of the arbitrators should be equivalent to a certificate from the architect. Disputes did arise, and the architect refused his certificate, but defendant declined to go to arbitration, thus compelling plaintiff to bring the present action. A number of witnesses who had been engaged in the contract gave evidence as to the delay created by the non-removal of the cottage, and it was also stated that very serious delay was caused by the extra work which had been ordered by defendant. The goods alleged to have been converted by defendant consisted of bricks, cement, and white metal, which plaintiff left at the work.

Defendant filed a number of pleas in reply, the main grounds of defence being that whatever breaches had been committed were committed with the leave and license of plaintiff; that no disputes arose to justify a reference to arbitration, that no collusion existed between defendant and the architect; and by way of cross action, that a set-off existed equal to the amount claimed. His case was that from the commencement of the work the plaintiff was dilatory in his operations, and took three weeks to remove two figtrees. The bricklayers commenced their work in November, and got on very well until plaintiff failed to keep up the supply of bricks, and this lasted all through the contract, defendant himself being compelled to lend him thousands of bricks and a number of casks of cement in order to enable plaintiff to get on with the work; and these materials were returned by plaintiff when he was in a position to do so. Throughout the contract plaintiff was continually complaining that he had not means to get on and that he could not get material. He begged defendant to allow him to draw more than the usual 75 per cent., and as a matter of fact actually did receive more than 75 per cent. As to the non-removal of the cottage, defendant swore that before the contract was entered upon he pointed out to the architect exactly the line up to which the house was to come, and also explained to plaintiff that he intended to occupy certain rooms of the cottage while the new building was in progress. It was expressly stipulated that with the exception of six rooms, four of which defendant pulled down and two of which plaintiff took down, the other part of the building was to remain intact, and plaintiff thoroughly understood this before the contract was started. Defendant did everything to assist plaintiff in getting on with the work, and although there might have been some delay in regard to the steps and porch, the building generally was not sufficiently advanced to render it necessary for plaintiff to complete them at any particular time. One of the rooms which had to come down was not removed for four or five weeks after plaintiff had received permission to pull it down, and even then defendant had to send men to help him. Defendant complained that the work was not being proceeded with, and the plaintiff said that the masons were leaving him, and that he could not get others. He also said that he could not get bricklayers. With reference to the statement of plaintiff that collusion existed between defendant and his architect, the former swore that the only occasion upon which he interfered with the architect giving plaintiff a certificate was in the letter which had been put in evidence; and Thompson, defendant's architect, also swore that in refusing to give plaintiff a certificate, he did so upon his own responsibility, and was not swayed in his judgment by any influence used by defendant. The amount claimed by defendant as set-off was £430 15s., which included a fine of £200, plaintiff having been 40 weeks beyond his contract time; £108 paid to Stokes and Winter (and admitted by plaintiff), £25 for fencing, and £92 for carting soil and removing rubbish, which work ought under the contract to have been carried out by plaintiff. In reference to the conversion of material the property of plaintiff, defendant gave evidence to show that with the exception of 800 or 1000 bricks the material was used in completing the plaintiff's contract, and even the bricks were used in the extra work which plaintiff would have had to do.

Defendant's case having been closed, counsel addressed the Court.

His HONOR, in summing up, pointed out that the first count in the declaration charged defendant with improperly and unfairly acting in collusion with his architect to prevent plaintiff from getting a certificate; and if that was made out plaintiff was entitled to succeed, and the damages would be at least equal to what he would have been paid if he had finished the work. It had been said that there was no imputation of moral fraud, but he did not see how it could be said that where two persons combined together unfairly and unjustly to defeat the just claims of a third person, there was no moral fraud. It must not mean that defendant did this from a mistaken view of his rights, but from a bad motive, and in order to prevent plaintiff from recovering his just rights, and it was for the jury to say what weight to attach to the documents produced in proof of the charge that there was improper collusion between the defendant and his architect to defeat the just claim of plaintiff. If defendant, in a high-handed arbitrary way, determined not to pay any more money, and Thompson, the architect, was weak enough to be persuaded by defendant's influence to refuse a certificate, that, in his opinion, would be sufficient to establish the first count. Then, in determining that, the jury had to consider not only whether defendant took such an arbitrary stand, and that it had the effect of improperly influencing the architect to refuse a certificate, but that the plaintiff was then entitled to a certificate. With reference to the second count, as to the refusal of defendant to allow plaintiff to pull down certain cottages there was a conflict of evidence upon that point, and in deciding the question it was important to remember that the contract was to commence in September, 1881, and to be finished within 40 weeks of that time. He also pointed out that it would be for the jury to decide whether defendant had acted unjustly towards plaintiff in refusing to go to arbitration. He requested the jury in considering their verdict to decide the following questions: 1. Did the architect improperly refuse to give any certificate to which the plaintiff was entitled in collusion with and by the procurement of the defendant? 2. Was the agreement with reference to the old cottages that the plaintiff should have a right to pull them down at any time upon request by him? Or was it that the defendant was to remain in them as long as he (the defendant) liked, in so far as they did not overlap any part of the ground actually occupied, or to be occupied, by the new buildings? 3. Was plaintiff improperly delayed and hindered in his work by the refusal to allow him to pull down the cottages or any part of them? What damages, if any, do you award on this head? 4. Had the work been completed by the plaintiff before the bringing of the action? 5. Assess separately the damages (if any) in consequence of the refusal to arbitrate. The jury returned the following answers:—1. No. 2. Defendant to remain in cottage at his own convenience. 3. No delay was caused. 4. No. 5. There was no refusal to arbitrate upon any question or dispute upon the contract, and plaintiff could have proceeded to arbitration by himself.

On the first, second, and third counts in plaintiff's declaration, therefore, the verdict was for the defendant; on the fourth count, as to conversion of material by defendant, a verdict was given for plaintiff, £8; and on the fifth count, for materials supplied and work and labour, the verdict was also for the plaintiff for £208 11s. 9d.

WRIGHT V. KELLY.

Jury: John Hinchcliff, Thomas Lockwood, Charles Bailey, and William James Osgood.

Mr. Owen, Q.C., and Mr. C. Stephen, instructed by Messrs. Want and Johnson, for plaintiff; Mr. G. B. Simpson and Mr. O'Connor, instructed by Mr. Cahill (agent for Mr. Hogan), for defendant.

This was an action to recover the sum of £55, which plaintiff had paid as stamp duty for the transfer of a run known as Booroomugga, in the Warrego district, which plaintiff sold to defendant in the month of June, 1882. The case was not concluded when the Court rose.

EDWARDS V. TOPHAM.

In this case the plaintiff did not appear, and was nonsuited. Mr. Bruce Smith and Mr. G. H. Reid, instructed by Mr. Curtis, appeared for the defendant.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice FAUCETT.)

FARNELL V. CRAWFORD.

Mr. Walker moved for an injunction restraining the defendant from continuing an action of ejectment. The plaintiff purchased the land for £35 from the firm of E. Greer and Co., wine merchants, who claim the right to do so under an equitable mortgage, which was given as collateral security for two promissory notes made by defendant's father, the late Samuel Crawford. The land in question is situated at Fomarong. The plaintiff had gone into possession. It was admitted that something was due to Greer and Co. He submitted that an equitable mortgagee was by analogy entitled to go into possession just as much as a legal mortgagee was.

Messrs. A. H. Simpson and Lingen appeared for the defendant, but were not called upon.

His HONOR said he had never heard of an authority for such a proceeding. If he were to preserve the status quo he would be continuing a wrong, and keeping alive a state of things absolutely without precedent. He would dismiss the application with costs.

STARKEY V. STUART.

Mr. Darley, Q.C., and Mr. W. G. Walker appeared to move for an injunction restraining the defendant from using a certain patent for sodawater bottles. Mr. H. F. Barton appeared for the defendant, and asked for an adjournment for a fortnight.

His Honor granted the postponement in the form of an interim injunction.

REDMAN V. FALSTEAD.

Mr. F. Barton, instructed by Mr. E. Marshall, for the plaintiff; Mr. Lingen, instructed by Messrs. Jones and Jones, for the defendant.

Counsel appeared to speak to the minutes of the decree as to costs. His Honor had decreed that Mrs. Adelaide Redman should pay plaintiff's costs, and it now transpired that she had married one Charles Falstead, and his Honor's attention had not been drawn to that fact. The plaintiff had inserted the name of Mr. Falstead in the draft, and this the defendant's counsel asserted was unwarrantable.

Mr. Barton submitted that the Court should give him an order against both Mr. and Mrs. Falstead.

His HONOR said it was clearly a matter of oversight, and he had only to consider what decree he would have made had he been aware of the marriage of the defendant, Adelaide Redman.

Mr. Lingen submitted that his client was only a formal party, and according to the law in England he could not be liable. The plea was that he did not receive the assets with his wife.

His HONOR said he would make a decree against the husband and wife, and in case Mrs. Falstead had any separate property, the decree should be enforced in the first instance against that so far as it would go, and in such latter case the husband should be released from liability under this order. Costs of this application were given to the defendant on the ground that it was plaintiff's mistake that the decree was not drawn up properly.

IN ESTATE E. E. PHILLIPS, AN INFANT.

Mr. A. H. Simpson asked on petition that the father of this infant should act as her guardian in respect to the resumption of certain land belonging to the infant which had been resumed for railway from Murrumburrah to Blayney.

BELL AND OTHERS V. BELL AND OTHERS.

Mr. H. F. Barton, instructed by Mr. R. D. G. Fitzgerald, of Muswellbrook, for the plaintiffs (trustees); Mr. A. Nash, instructed by Mr. D. K. Farr, for Mrs. A. W. Bell; Dr. Donovan, instructed by Mr. S. Stewart, for the defendants A. W. N. Bell, H. N. Bell, and J. E. N. Bell; Mr. A. H. Simpson, instructed by Mr. Carolan, for the next of kin.

This was a friendly suit, instituted for the purpose of getting the Court to construe certain ambiguities in the will of the late Hon. Archibald Bell, of Pickering, near Denman, Hunter River.

The arguments of counsel extended over three days.

His HONOR in giving judgment decided what he considered to be the primary difficulty by admitting oral evidence in explanation of the intentions of the testator. He said it was evident that the deceased gentleman had had a wrong idea as to the direction of the course of the Wygong Creek, for the division of the Milgarrah property described in the will did not in any way coincide with the plan of the estate. The testator had described the two divisions as lying respectively to the S.W. and N.E. It was plain that the creek, instead of running east and west, ran north and south. Taking the evidence of his two sons, he had come to the conclusion that Mr. G. D. Bell was entitled to the western portion of the estate, and the three sons of the late A. N. Bell to the eastern portion, the creek being taken as the boundary, the latter including the 2000 acres at Dartbrook. He held that the stock on Milgarrah, which was divided in a similar way, consisted in live stock, and did not apply to Government stock. It seemed to him that the stock should be sold at once, and the proceeds should be devoted to the payment of the debts. He considered that the sons of the late A. N. Bell were spoken of in these bequests as a class, and although he was not called upon to decide whether or not they were tenants in common, his opinion was that they were. He construed the £150 to be allowed to Mrs. A. N. Bell as an annuity which ceased when her youngest son became of age. He could not see any connection between this allowance and the bequests to the daughter to lead him to consider that the £50 set down for them was to be anything more than a single payment. It seemed to him that the testator intended the annuity to Mrs. A. N. Bell and the bequests to her daughters to be charges on the son's interests in Milgarrah; but in the absence of explicit directions, the sums would have to be charged on the general estate. The term "ready money," in his opinion, applied to the bank deposits, as well as the current accounts, because all were just as easily called up. Money which had been lent, however, could not come in the same category. Though he could not see why a distinction should be drawn between money lent to other persons and that left with a bank at interest, still the authorities showed that such a difference was made, therefore he was bound to accept it. He would order the costs of all parties to be paid as between solicitor and client out of the residuary estate.

William Tate, sen., commission agent, Walter Bradley, auctioneer, and Robert Prendergast, brewer, who were fined 40s. on Thursday in the Banco Court for non-attendance as jurors, were fined £5 each for not attending yesterday.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—FRIDAY.

(Before the CHIEF COMMISSIONER.)

In the matter of James Wheeler, an adjourned single meeting was held and terminated.

In the matter of Joel Phillips and Joseph Aarons, trading as Smith, Phillips and Co., the second meeting was taken and adjourned to the 5th proximo.

In the matters of John Nugent, Richard Albert Drock, and David Gubbay, second meetings were held and terminated.

In the matter of Harris Toub and Henry Rooke, single meetings were held, and terminated.

In the matter of George Evans, a single meeting was held, and terminated.

In the matter of Joseph Connelly and Peter O'Sullivan, an adjourned third meeting was by request again adjourned, to the 2nd May.

In the matter of Joseph Rose, a single meeting was taken, and adjourned to the 4th April.

In the matter of Stuart A. Hill, an adjourned second meeting was taken, and terminated.

In the matter of Henry Riece, an adjourned single meeting was taken and terminated.

SURRENDERS.

The assigned estate of Edward Ambrose and John Kinloch. Liabilities, £7145 8s. 11d. Assets, £88 3s. 3d.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.—FRIDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge WILKINSON.)

WYNDOW V. MACKIE.

In this case George Wyndow sued W. Mackie for £15 16s. on a promissory note. Having heard the evidence his Honor gave plaintiff a verdict for £10.

FIELD V. SMART.

In this case George Field sued David Smart for £9 8s. for work and labour. He failed to establish his claim, and a verdict was given for defendant.

S. DE BEER V. HENOCHSBERG.

This was an action brought against defendant as an auctioneer for not accounting for the proceeds of a piano placed in his hands for sale in November last. Mr. O'Connor appeared for plaintiff, Mr. Levy for defendant. It was proved that defendant had offered plaintiff the proceeds of the sale, and that plaintiff declined to accept them. His Honor gave a verdict for defendant, but ordered him to at once pay the proceeds into court.

HERON V. WOOD.

This was a claim for lawyer's costs, amounting to £74 0s. 11d. The case was undefended, and a verdict was given to plaintiff for the amount claimed.

J. HORDERN V. STURT.

This was a claim for goods sold amounting to £40 16s. 8d. The case was undefended, and a verdict was given to plaintiff for the amount claimed.

CITY ASSESSMENTS.

The Judge also dealt with a supplementary list of appeals against assessments in connection with new buildings in the city. The number of appellants was 62, and the number of properties they represented 109. In the case of 23 properties reductions were made as to the city rate, several of them of considerable amount; and in 37 cases of property, reductions were made in the number of rooms assessed for a water rate.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.—FRIDAY.

The Attorney-General, assisted by Mr. W. J. Foster, and Mr. Gibson, prosecuted on behalf of the Crown.

ALLEGED MURDER.

Thomas Thornton, Thomas Conway, John Foley, Patrick Fahey, and John Hourigan were again placed in the dock charged with the murder of one Margaret Owen at Mount Carmel, Waterloo, on the 26th December, 1883.

Mr. G. H. Reid, instructed by Mr. T. M. Williamson, appeared for the prisoner Thornton; Mr. D. Buchanan, instructed by Mr. T. M. Williamson, for Foley; Mr. E. P. Field, for Conway; Mr. Heydon, instructed by Mr. Murray White, for Fahey and Hourigan.

Ellen Coffey was the first witness examined this morning, her evidence being a repetition of that given by her at the previous inquiries. She deposed that about half-past 10 o'clock on the night of December 25, 1883, she heard a woman singing out, "Oh! don't," and afterwards, "For God's sake leave me alone;" she heard a smothered cry again from the same direction, as if a hand was being held over the person's mouth; she was proceeding in the direction of the screams, and when the woman asked to be left alone witness called out "Leave the woman alone," and then cried "Police" in a loud voice; immediately after calling "Police" she saw something lying on the ground; it was a woman; saw her move, and some young fellow jumped up and ran away; when the man had left, witness spoke to the woman, telling her to get up and run, or the men would come back; she said they had not done anything to her, and did not get up; early the next morning witness saw the woman lying dead on the same spot she was on the night previous.

Frances Logan, a married woman, but living apart from her husband, also repeated the evidence she had previously given: When she went out after hearing the screams she saw several men round a woman—one of them at her head, and Thornton, one of the prisoners, in an equivocal position, beside her; she called out to them, and Thornton left the woman and went up to witness, striking her in the face; amongst those round the prisoner she recognised Thornton, Conway, Foley, Hourigan, and Smith.

Cross-examined by Mr. Reid: This witness admitted having been thrice convicted—indecent language, and having no lawful means of support, being her offence—but declined to answer questions relative to other alleged convictions; her husband had left her, and did not contribute to her support, and she declined to state what her mode of life was; she had been living at No. 4 police station since December 26; was there four or five days, and was then sent to Windsor, where she lived in the same boarding-house with Ida Spraggs; the clothes she was wearing were found her by the Government, and they supplied her with pocket money; she was with a man named Tom Martin on the night of December 25; was with him only a few minutes, and had a drink of brandy at a public-house; witness denied saying in a letter to some one in Sydney, "I was very sorry to hear about the Martins and you having a row, but you ought to go and put them away for it. I intend to put them away if they get on to me." (The letter of which this is an extract was handed to witness, when she denied that the handwriting was hers.) No one wrote that or any letter for her from Windsor; she had written two letters to W. Hughes from Windsor, beginning them "My dear friend." (A second letter was handed to witness.) The handwriting of that letter was not hers either; she did not deny writing to Hughes, but she denied that the letter produced was hers. (The witness at this stage wrote a portion of one of the letters at Mr. Reid's dictation. In the letter to Hughes she signed her name "faney," with a small "f," and the learned counsel got her to write the name Fanny, which, together with her other copy and the two letters, were handed in and marked as exhibits in the trial.) She and Thornton had been reared together in the same neighbourhood at Waterloo; had no ill-will towards him, and never complained of Thornton informing her husband of her conduct.

C. Smith, the Coroner's clerk, produced the depositions taken on the inquest; both Fahey and Hourigan were examined at the inquiry, and he produced their depositions taken down by him at the time.

The depositions of these two prisoners were then put in and read.

Senior-sergeant Bradwell deposed to having seen Fahey before his arrest in Turner-street, Redfern, near the police station; witness was in uniform at the time; he said to Fahey, "I suppose you know what I want to see you about;" he replied, "Oh, yes; I suppose it is about this Waterloo affair;" about the finish of the conversation, when Fahey made a certain statement he said, "If I am to get into any trouble over it, I cannot help it; that is all I had to do with it;" then witness said, "That is all right; you tell the truth, and I have no doubt it will be right."

Mr. Heydon submitted that the expression "It is all right" was reassuring, and was tantamount to a promise.

Mr. Buchanan said it was an inducement to any person to disclose what he knew, and that was the sort of inference he would draw from the words.

Mr. Heydon applied that Fahey's depositions put into court should be withdrawn because of this promise, and because the statement was made after the senior-sergeant had said, "If you tell the truth it will be right."

Mr. Foster said the Crown did not wish to press the depositions.

His Honor then struck out that portion of the evidence.

William Smith, the approver, a youth of 17 years, gave evidence relative to the outrage on Margaret Owen on the night of December 25. The evidence of this witness directly implicated Fahey and Hourigan, but not the other prisoners.

The court adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

METROPOLITAN QUARTER SESSIONS.

FRIDAY, MARCH 7.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge FORBES.)

APPEAL CASES.

Peter Walsh appealed against a decision of Mr. Addison, S.M., by which he was convicted of a charge of being a suspected person, and found frequenting a public place—to wit, the Randwick racecourse—with intent to commit a felony. On the 26th January last, whilst a race meeting was being held at the course, the prisoner was seen amongst the people assembled in the St. Leger reserve. He was standing behind a man who was receiving money from a bookmaker. The man placed the money which he received in one of his pockets, and the prisoner was observed to stretch out his hand towards the pocket, and being detected he walked away. He was arrested by the police, and he was sentenced by Mr. Addison to two months' imprisonment. The appeal was made on the grounds that the prisoner was not guilty, that the evidence disclosed no offence, that the conviction was bad, and contrary to law, and that it was against the weight of evidence. His Honor dismissed the appeal with £7 7s. costs.

Abraham Lemon, who was convicted under similar circumstances, appealed against his conviction on the same grounds, and his Honor also dismissed the appeal in this case with £7 7s. costs.

Henry Harris appealed against a decision of Mr. Crane, S.M., by which he was fined £5, with costs, on an information setting forth that he had rescued certain property which had been levied upon by a bailiff of the Court of Petty Sessions for the district of Sydney. The appellant was of the firm of Messrs. Harris and Ackman, auctioneers, of this city, and on the 21st January last certain goods belonging to a Mr. T. A. Smith were sold by them. The bailiff had previously levied in the case, and a garnishee order was served upon Mr. Harris. It was urged in favour of the appeal that the appellant did not know Mr. Smith in the matter. His Honor, however, dismissed the appeal, allowing no costs.

The Court then adjourned sine die.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Mr. Clarke, S.M., disposed of the business at the Central Police Court yesterday.

A number of persons were fined for drunkenness and also for having used obscene language.

John Kilgarry (29), charged with having been drunk and disorderly in George-street, was fined 40s., in default seven days' imprisonment.

Robert John Smirl (59), described as a builder, was fined 40s., in default 14 days' imprisonment, for having used obscene language in Liverpool-street.

Ada Lewis (20) was fined 40s., in default seven days' imprisonment, for having behaved in a riotous manner in Goulburn-street. She was also fined £3, in default one month's imprisonment, upon a charge of having used obscene language in Pitt-street.

Lottie Durant (20) and Elizabeth Wilson (22), charged with having behaved in a riotous manner in Goulburn-street, were fined 40s. each, with the option of seven days' imprisonment.

Charlotte Stevens (30) was fined £5, in default three months' imprisonment, for having used indecent language in Pitt-street.

Robert Jones (22), described as a dealer, was charged with having illtreated a horse in York-street. He was convicted, and ordered to pay a fine of 40s. An order was made for the detention of a cart until the fine was paid.

Alfred Samuels (13) was brought before the Bench charged under the Industrial Schools Act with sleeping in the open air. He was ordered to be sent on board the Vernon.

Louisa Smith, charged under the Vagrant Act with having no visible lawful means of support, was ordered to be imprisoned for three months with hard labour.

Clara Archibald, alias Thomas, was charged with having stolen a purse, containing 15s. 4d., the property of Edith Bayley. Constable James Duncan deposed that at about 1 o'clock that afternoon he was called into Mr. Quong Tart's shop in the Royal Arcade; he saw the prisoner there, and she was accused of having taken a purse containing money from a lady; the prisoner was crying, and said she had picked the purse up from the floor; she had two purses in her hand, and stated that one was her own and one belonged to a lady present; the purse produced contained 10s. 10d., but the prosecutrix stated in the prisoner's presence that it contained 15s. Edith Bayley, the prosecutrix, deposed that she resided at Manly; about 1 o'clock that day she was sitting at a table in Mr. Quong Tart's establishment; the prisoner was sitting at the same table; witness had occasion to take her purse out of her pocket, and left it on the seat beside her; she subsequently left the place, neglecting to pick her purse up, and on missing it she returned to the shop when she met the prisoner coming down the stairs; she asked the prisoner to go back with her to the place where they had been sitting, but the prisoner hesitated, saying she was going to her mother, who was in a shop opposite; she afterwards consented, and went back with witness, when Mr. Quong Tart who was present, took prisoner's parasol and opened it, and the missing purse dropped out; the purse contained 15s. 4d., a ferry boat ticket, and also a letter; the letter was missing, and on prisoner being questioned with regard to it she stated that she had torn it up; the purse produced by the constable was witness' property. This concluded the evidence, and the prisoner, who elected to be summarily dealt with, and pleaded not guilty, was ordered to be imprisoned for six months with hard labour.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Mr. Marsh, S.M., presided in the Charge Court yesterday.

A number of drunkards were dealt with.

John Bloomfield Bates was fined 20s. for being drunk and disorderly, and a further sum of 20s. for using profane language.

George Moss, having been thrice convicted of drunkenness within 12 months, and also of riotous behaviour, was sent to gaol for a month, with hard labour.

Alexander Calder was charged with stealing a £1-note, the property of Simeon Riding. The prisoner snatched the note out of the prosecutor's hand on board the ship on which the prisoner was a steward. The prisoner was sent to gaol for a month.

Mr. Marsh also presided in the Summons Court.

A number of corporation cases were heard. About 20 persons were fined for trotting over crossings, two for driving on the wrong side of the street, and three for placing rubbish on the carriage-way.

Three persons were punished for wasting water, viz., Tong Wah, fined £1 and £2 on two charges, and Timothy Hart, fined £1.

REDFERN POLICE COURT.

Mr. Crane, S.M., occupied the bench yesterday.

William M'Ateer was charged with assaulting Joseph Matterson on Sunday, the 2nd instant. Complainant was returning home through Elizabeth-street, Strawberry Hills, accompanied by his dog; defendant, who was a perfect stranger, came and took the dog up, and on complainant trying to retake it from him he struck him twice in the face. Mr. Crane inflicted a fine of 40s., 5s. 10d. costs, or 21 days' in gaol.

Amy Siddons, for using insulting words towards Mary Ragen, in Buckland-street, was fined 20s., 6s. 8d. costs, or seven days in gaol.

Theodore Wetsford (17) was charged with throwing stones in Raglan-street, Waterloo, on 3rd instant. Constable Meenaghan stated he was on duty in Raglan-street on the night in question, in company with another constable; at about 11.30 o'clock they met the prisoner and another young man; when they had passed them about 70 yards prisoner turned round and commenced pelting the witness with stones; he followed and caught him in Buckland-street, when prisoner admitted throwing the stones, and said, "I'll give you a —— dose one of these nights; I don't care for the lash, I'll swing yet." Constable Bolton gave corroborative evidence, and the witnesses for the defence declining to swear that it was not prisoner who had thrown the stones, Mr. Crane advised the prisoner not to do anything to bring himself under the operation of the flogging clauses, or he would most probably alter his opinion about the lash. He then fined the prisoner 40s., in default 14 days in gaol.

Patrick M'Guire, for using obscene language in Middle-street on the 23rd ultimo, was fined 40s., costs 7s. 6d., or 14 days.

NEWTOWN POLICE COURT.

Mr. Crane, S.M., disposed of the business at the Newtown Police Court on Thursday last. A man named Thomas Brown was charged with having assaulted Emily Jackson by striking her on the head. The prosecutrix fainted two or three times during the hearing of the case, which ultimately had to be postponed for three weeks. A number of cases under the Municipalities Act for breaches of the by-laws in the boroughs of Newtown, Marrickville, and Petersham, were dealt with. Sixty-four cases were determined in the Small Debts Court.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

An inquest was held by the City Coroner yesterday, at the White Hart Hotel, George-street, on the body of a man found on the previous day in the water in Farm Cove. Frederick Rowe, a labourer, deposed that at about 5.30 on Thursday morning he and another man were going along the path leading to the Botanic Gardens, and saw a man standing in the water with his hat on and his back towards the seawall; the man was about 15 feet from the wall; the water was level with the top of his head; witness borrowed a clothes prop and line and pulled the body ashore; the man was then dead; the body was in a standing position, with the feet on the bottom. Dr. Marsden deposed that he had examined the body; it was ill-nourished; the only marks of violence were mere abrasions, and all unimportant; they had nothing to do with death; there were no congenital or other marks that might lead to identification; death had not taken place more than a few hours; the cause of death was suffocation by drowning. Henry M'Ginty deposed that he recognised the body as that of a man to whom he had spoken near the eastern gate of the Botanic Gardens on Wednesday morning; witness sat on the same seat and remarked to deceased that he looked very bad; the deceased replied that he felt very weak; he then went and got some water in a bottle and came back; witness saw the body in the water, and helped Rowe to get it over the wall; it was close to the spot where he had seen the man on the previous day. The evidence of Constable Mullen, who took charge of the body, having been taken, the jury returned an open verdict that the deceased, name unknown, was found drowned in Farm Cove.

The City Coroner held an inquest yesterday afternoon, at the Lunatic Reception House, Darlinghurst, on the body of Joseph Thomas Blake, a patient, who was found dead in a room at the reception house yesterday morning. The deceased was 29 years of age, a bootmaker, and has left a widow and six children, residing at Alexandria. The circumstances attending the death were singular and revolting. It appeared in evidence that the deceased had been suffering from religious mania, which caused his friends to have him arrested. He had suffered from internal injury since boyhood, and was troubled with it for a few days before his death. On Thursday afternoon he was placed in the Reception House, Darlinghurst, and after two violent paroxysms was put to bed in a room by himself, and was subsequently left for the night, having then become perfectly quiet. There were no signs of his being likely to injure himself, and no utensils or instrument with which he could do himself harm were left in the room. He was last seen alive about half-past 10 p.m., when the door was locked on him, and was next seen through the hole in the door, sitting in a corner of the room, at about half-past 5 next morning. At half-past 6 the attendant entered the room, and found him sitting in the corner, dead. The evidence of Dr. O'Connor, who made the post-mortem examination, showed that deceased injured himself in a terrible manner; the patient had not been visited between 10 30 p.m. and 6.30 a.m.; the attendants did not consider that the patient required special attention; no person was ever kept on watch all night except in special cases where self-injury was to be feared; there were two attendants sleeping in the third room from deceased's, but no noise was heard proceeding from his room during the night. After a short consultation, the jury found that the deceased died from injuries inflicted by himself; and added an expression of opinion that patients in such establishments should be visited more frequently during the night than was shown to be the case by the evidence given in this inquiry. The Coroner said that he concurred in this opinion, and would convey it to the Minister of Justice, with a recommendation that a night watchman should be kept on duty.

DEPUTATIONS.

ROAD AT SEVEN HILLS.

Introduced by Mr. A. H. M'Culloch, M.L.A., yesterday, a deputation consisting of Messrs. T. Pye and G. Luke waited upon the Minister for Mines to request the hon. gentleman to cause a road to be opened from the old Windsor-road through Mulcock's grant to the Seven Hills railway station. The road would be about three-quarters of a mile long, and would prove a convenience to a large number of residents who had petitioned for it, because it would afford them quicker means of access to the station than they were now favoured with.

Mr. ABBOTT replied that he could not move in the matter at present. The preliminary notification for opening the road was published in the Gazette on February 25, and a month must elapse that objections might be filed. He added that a numerously signed petition had been addressed to him against the opening of the road, and it was impossible for him to take any steps in the matter until after March 25.

RAILWAY TO FORBES.

A deputation consisting of Mr. Stokes, M.L.A., Mr. Coonan, M.L.A., Messrs. Brookes and Landauer, and Rev. Mr. Aspinall waited on the Minister for Works, yesterday, to ask him for an assurance that when any extension of the Orange to Molong railway was made towards Forbes the line of route to Forbes should not be taken from Molong, but from Boree Nore to Cudal, and thence on to Forbes. Boree Nore, it was pointed out, was situated midway between Orange and Molong on the line of route for the Orange to Molong railway, and by taking the railway to Forbes from that point and through Cudal the line would pass through a very fertile district and greatly benefit the inhabitants; whereas if the line were taken to Forbes from Molong, the Cudal district would be without railway facilities, and the railway would pass through country of a kind very inferior to that recommended by the deputation.

Mr. WRIGHT, in reply, said that he did not yet know the result of the surveys that had been carried out, and until the plans of the survey of a route via Cudal had been worked out nothing definite could be stated. Within a few days he would be able to speak definitely on the matter; but, then, he himself had no power to alter the railway route. Any alteration must be made by Parliament. Personally he believed the route via Cudal was the best. He knew that it went through much better country than the other, and he thought it would be found when the survey plans were completed that this route was the shortest. If he found it so, and if the difficulties in the way of constructing the line by that route were not great, it would be his duty to ask Parliament to reconsider its resolution to carry the railway from Molong to a point between Forbes and Parkes. He would endeavour to act as the interests of the country warranted, but he could give no such assurance as the deputation asked.

Mr. STOKES asked if something could be done by the Government towards constructing a dam across the Lachlan River at Forbes, in order that the town might have an efficient water supply. The river at Forbes was now dry. A survey had been made and an estimate made of the cost, and now all that was wanted was that the Minister should put the work in progress.

Mr. WRIGHT said there was an amount of £1500 voted on the Estimates in 1878 for a water supply for Grenfell and Forbes, and half that amount less a few pounds that had been spent, was available for the work mentioned by Mr. Stokes.

DRAINAGE OF PADDINGTON.

A deputation from the Paddington Municipal Council waited upon the Minister for Works, to ask that the sewer now being constructed in Liverpool-street might be continued to Comber-street, in order to remove the nuisance arising from the boundry creek between Paddington and the City of Sydney.

Mr. WRIGHT said that he could say no more than he had said on a former occasion. If the two municipalities could not agree to assist the Government to resume a piece of land for a street under which the sewer might be constructed, it was for the Government to construct the sewer only to certain leading points, and leave the municipal councils to connect their various streets with it. He would, however, get a report from Mr. Bennett, commissioner for roads, on the subject, and he might say that the Government would take the drainage from the Victoria Barracks.

RAILWAY-STATION BUILDINGS, BUNGENDORE.

A deputation consisting of Hon. L. F. De Salis, M.L.C., Mr. Teece, M.L.A., Mr. Gannon, M.L.A., Mr. G. Campbell, M.L.A., and Messrs. Rutledge and Atkinson, residents of Bungendore, waited upon the Hon. F. A. Wright to ask that steps be taken to have the railway station buildings and cattle trucking yards erected at Bungendore, so that they might be ready by the time the railway from Tarago to Bungendore was opened.

Mr. WRIGHT said this matter was one that had engaged his attention some time ago, when he wrote a minute calling the attention of the Engineer-in-Chief for Railways to the fact that we had never opened a line of railway in this colony with the station buildings necessary for the line complete, and pointing out to him the great inconvenience that resulted from this to the public as well as to the Railway Department. He would call Mr. Whitton's attention again to these particular station buildings.

The deputation also asked the Minister to have arrangements made for the running of a day train between Tarago and Goulburn once a week on Wednesdays, and Mr. Wright, considering the request a very reasonable one, said he would look into the matter, and if possible grant what was asked.

TARAGO AND QUEANBEYAN MAILS.

A deputation, consisting of the Hon. L. F. De Salis, M.L.C., Mr. W. Teece, M.L.A., and Messrs. Rutledge and Atkinson, of Bungendore, waited upon the Postmaster-General yesterday, to request that a daily mail from Tarago to Queanbeyan, via Bungendore, might be established, to supersede the present tri-weekly mail. It was pointed out that the contractor now runs a daily coach, and would probably perform the extra service very cheaply. Mr. Trickett informed the deputation that in matters of this nature he was always guided by a due regard to the public convenience, coupled with the interest of the Government in the way of getting a fair receipt for the expenditure involved; and he promised that he would get a return of the business transacted on the line, and also ascertain what the contractor would require for the additional work, and would then acquaint the members of the deputation with his decision.

MR. LUSCOMBE'S CANDIDATURE IN EAST SYDNEY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In three different issues of the Herald you have alluded to my candidature for East Sydney as one in which I had no chance of success, and that I retired to save my £40. I trust that you will, in common fairness, permit me to call your attention to the following announcement made by me the day after the nomination, and which seems to have escaped your notice, although paid for as an advertisement in the Herald:—"East Sydney Election.—To the Electors.—Gentlemen,—Having been nominated by the Protection and Political Reform League to contest this election, I pledged the members to abide their decision in coming to the poll. After mature thought our party considered that the cause of encouragement to colonial industries would be well served at this juncture by my retiring from the contest. I have obeyed their decision. Heartily thanking you, gentlemen, for the manly promises of support made to me, and calling your attention to my retirement as a proof that I was not the nominee of the Government, but, on the contrary, a loyal adherent to my party and our cause, I am, yours obediently, R. C. LUSCOMBE." Surely, Sir, you will admit that in politics the cause of a party can be as well served (under special circumstances) by the retirement of a candidate at an election as by his being elected. The cause of my party in this case has been well served; you have no right, therefore, to assume that I "withdrew because I had no chance of success." You also made the statement in yesterday's issue that "I had held meetings throughout the electorate, but with so little real support that on the nomination day I declined to come forward and risk my nomination fee of £40." Your are again in error, for I called two meetings only—one at the Masonic Hall, and one at the top of William-street. The risk of the £40 existed in your editorial mind only, for I have personal friends in East Sydney who would have voted for me quite sufficient to have prevented the loss of the £40. But you are blind to the fact that not only the Herald and the three other daily papers backed up Mr. Reid's candidature, yet the united power of the whole of your artillery was not able to secure Mr. Reid's election. My own cause and the cause of my party is well served, in that by my one act of retirement the protectionists struck to the dust the greatest free-trade champion the importers ever had in this colony—the late Hon. G. H. Reid, Minister of Instruction.

The result of the division on Mr. Copeland's amendment is entirely satisfactory to our party also, seeing that on the former division on Mr. Heydon's motion in last session only five were found in the Protectionist ranks. In the present division (counting pairs) there were 22 voted for Mr. Copeland's amendment; add to these Mr. Heydon and Mr. Barbour, who were absent, and add also three renegades who voted with the Government on this occasion, and we have a force of 27 members on the protectionist side as against five last session. We are therefore perfectly satisfied that Mr. Heydon's period of five years will be amply realised in which a protection tariff will be the law of the land in New South Wales. Let the present free-trade members dare to come before the electorates at next general election without Ad valorem! Ad valorem! Ad valorem! for their war cry, and the House of Assembly will know them no more. I am, &c.,

Nithsdale-st., March 7. R. C. LUSCOMBE.

Saunders, for Levuka, Suva, and Noumea; Currajong (s.), 410 tons, Captain J. E. Butcher, for Brisbane and Northern ports; Euxine (s.), 978 tons, Captain J. B. Peters, for Melbourne.

There has been a little more activity observable in the shipment of wool during the past week, and a considerable number of bales have been sent away. The Gulf of Carpentaria, which left yesterday evening, had 2034 bales, besides 22 bales leather, 22 quarter-casks wine, 1 bale opossum skins, 11 packages machinery and sundries, and the R.M.S. Sutlej's cargo, consisted of 566 bales wool, 6360 ingots and 1865 cakes copper, 9024 ingots tin, 2229 cases meats, and a quantity of sundries. The R.M.S. Lusitania on Saturday last took 315 bales wool, in addition to large quantities of tin, copper, tallow, ore, and 1592 carcases mutton in the refrigerating chamber. At the Circular Quay Captain Davidson's fine ship has almost completed loading, and all her cargo is engaged, in fact she could not take all that was offered. Yesterday there were stowed 7684 bales, but by Thursday next, when she will haul into the stream, she will have 6100 bales of wool below hatches, besides 200 bales leather, 200 casks tallow, 5000 hides, 50 tons measurement goods, and 10 bales cotton. The Sydenham has made good progress, and has now 1500 bales wool, 300 tons copra, 200 bales leather, 260 tons ore, 200 casks tallow, 470 bags bark, 100 casks arsenic, and a quantity of sundries on board. Since last report the Persian has added 650 bales to her total, but her loading was interfered with by having to haul off from Parbury's wharf to let the Gulf of Carpentaria in. She will be taken to her old berth today, and the stowing of cargo renewed with vigour. There are now 2240 bales on board, in addition to other cargo. The British Ambassador, at the Central Wharf, has now 611 bales of wool, 1767 bags copra, 945 casks tallow, 6218 hides, 77 barrels oil, 104 bales leather, 748 bags charcoal, 8 bales glue pieces, 157 casks rum, 81 bales hasils, 110 casks molasses, 26 cases clocks, already stowed, and by this morning she will have 2240 bags bark in addition. The Sophocles, at Smith's Wharf, has added 390 casks molasses to her cargo since last week. She will probably take the Closeburn's berth at the Circular Quay, when the latter has completed discharge of her inward cargo.

During the week Mr. P. Keane, stevedore, successfully landed from the barque Inglewood, lying at the Circular Quay, two locomotives, weighing about 16 tons each, for the New South Wales Government; also, five cases of heavy machinery, weighing 7½ tons each.

The steamship Gulf of Carpentaria, for London, via Melbourne, cleared the Heads at 6.15 p.m. yesterday.

The R.M.S. Sutlej, which sailed yesterday for London, via ports took a large number of passengers and a very full cargo. Owing to the tide being low, she did not leave the wharf until after 2 o'clock, when she got under way and proceeded slowly down the bay, clearing the Heads at 3.17. She was in first-class order in every respect, and presented a very attractive appearance as she steamed away.

The barque Matthieu, belonging to Mr. J. C. Ellis, arrived yesterday, from Laucala Bay, Fiji, with a cargo of sugar, &c. She sailed on the 20th ultimo, and met with fine weather and light S.E. and easterly winds throughout the passage. She entered the Heads shortly before 6 p.m., and sailed to an anchorage below Garden Island.

The steamer Queen of the South crossed the Clarence bar at 5.30 p.m. on the 3rd instant, called off the Macleay bar at 10 a.m. on the 4th, anchored in Port Stephens at 6 a.m. on the 5th, left again at 6 a.m. on the 6th, and arrived in Newcastle at 10 a.m. same day. The voyage was resumed at 4 p.m., and the Heads were entered at 3 a.m. on the 7th. Experienced light winds and smooth sea to Seal Rocks, thence to Port Stephens strong S.E. winds and sea, and moderate S.E. weather from Port Stephens until arrival. Cargo: 42 bundles wire, 165 bags tin ore, 170 ingots tin, 100 tons coal.

The steamer Lyee-moon left Brisbane on the 5th instant at 0.17 p.m., rounded Cape Moreton at 4.50 p.m. same day, Cape Byron on the 6th at 1.50 a.m., Smoky Cape at 3.30 p.m. same day, Port Stephens on the 7th at 2.15 a.m., and entered Sydney Heads the same day at 9.15 a.m., arriving at the company's wharf at 9.52 a.m. Experienced strong S.E. winds and squally weather to Smoky Cape, and from there to arrival light variable winds and fine weather.

The steamers Rockton, for Noumea, Suva, and Levuka; the Currajong and Edina, for Queensland ports; the Tenterden, for Adelaide; and the Gabo, for Melbourne, sailed yesterday afternoon.

The steamship Euxine left last evening for Melbourne with part of original cargo from Hongkong.

The barque Royal Tar, with coal and shale, for Eureka, Humboldt Bay; and the schooner Defiance, with bonedust, &c., for Auckland, cleared at the Customs yesterday.

The ship Abergeldie, bound to London, cleared the Heads at 7.50 p.m. yesterday.

The fine topsail schooner Jessie Nicol sailed yesterday morning for Port Mackay.

H.M.S. Nelson sailed from Hobart yesterday, for Sydney.

The steamship Glenmavis, from London to Sydney, via ports, passed Wilson's Promontory, outwards, yesterday, and is due here to-morrow.

The steamship Cairngorm will to-day complete the discharge of her cargo from Fiji, and on Monday is to be taken from the Central Wharf to Mort's Dock, where she is to have her bottom cleaned and painted.

COASTING VESSELS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It would be a great boon to ship owners and ship agents who have vessels trading on our coast, and which enter and depart from this port weekly and monthly, if they were to be reported by the Electric Telegraph Department on the board at the General Post Office. I notice that they always report coasting steamships when they enter and depart from this port, and why not report sailing vessels as well. Of course sailing vessels are not considered so important as steamships are, but as a matter of fact they are the more important, for they convey the greater part of our produce and timber from the rivers on this coast. The steamers carry little compared with the vessels that make their passage under canvas. I am sure it would not be any great trouble for the signal-master at South Head to report to the telegraph officials at the General Post Office the names of all vessels that enter and depart from this port during the day. If the telegraph officials are put to any expense or trouble by so reporting, I would suggest that arrangement might be made with the shipping office officials to charge all vessels a small fee for such trouble or expense, and I am sure that numbers of shipowners and ship agents would not object to pay a reasonable sum; the fee could be paid when vessels are clearing at the Shipping Office. At times vessels enter this port, and their arrival is not known to their owners or agents, perhaps for two or three days after. If it was known to them they would have their vessels discharged during the time they are lying at anchor, thus saving them a considerable amount of money. If the authorities would take the matter into consideration, and have it carried out, the result would be appreciated by a vast number of shipowners and ship agents.

Yours, &c.,

W. CAMPBELL.

We hear that an arrangement has just been concluded between Mr. R. A. Ritchie, of Newcastle and Parramatta, and Hudson Brothers, Limited, by which the business of the two firms has been amalgamated. The works at Wickham, near Newcastle, are to be taken over by Hudson Brothers, and the whole of the rolling stock required of them for the Northern lines will be manufactured there. It is quite likely the company will find it necessary to augment the plant and stock to enable them to carry out the whole of the work thus required to be done at Newcastle. Hitherto a very large proportion of this work has been done in Sydney.

The prospectus has been published of the New South Wales Pure Ice Company, Limited; capital, £25,000, in shares of £1 each. The object of the company is to manufacture and deliver ice on a large scale in Sydney and suburbs. It is anticipated that by means of Raoul Pictet's patent sulphurous anhydride machinery ice will be delivered at a low price. Applications for shares are to be made to Mr. J. Mullens, broker for the company.

At a special general meeting of the Australian Steam Navigation Company this afternoon, Messrs. Richard Binnie, jun., and Captain W. J. Hynes were elected to the seats on the directory vacated by the Hon. L. W. Levy, M.L.C., and Mr. George Ferguson.

In the Import market business is still very dull, with few transactions of moment. Merchants are anxiously waiting the break up of the drought, so that goods may be got away from railway stations to their destination, and that country storekeepers may begin to renew their orders, which are becoming smaller, while their applications for renewals have been more numerous than agreeable. The flour trade continues extremely quiet, buyers operating only for the requirements of the day at the following prices:—Adelaide, £10 10s. to £10 15s.; country brands of South Australian, £9 10s.; New South Wales, £9 5s. to £10; Victorian, £9 to £9 10s. Prime samples of wheat may be quoted at 4s. 3d. A large line of inferior was placed at a lower figure. From the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company's circular of the 28th February we learn that in all parts of New Zealand more favourable weather for the ripening wheat was prevailing; and if it should continue, the crop would be of fine quality and above the average in quantity. In Canterbury a large area was already cut, rather too soon it was thought. In their eagerness to avoid the disasters of last season, many of the farmers were stacking their crops too quickly, with the result that stacks were heating and the grain was much deteriorated. The last of the old wheat was being taken at extreme rates. At Timaru the opening prices for new grain were expected to be 3s. to 3s. 6d. In our market we hear of sales of 680 half-chests Congou at 42s., and 700 boxes at 11s. 9d.; also 150 half-chests fine Panyong at 65s. Inquiry is noted for good medium Pekoes, which are scarce and wanted. Private information from Foochow is to the effect that nothing is coming except a small parcel of low medium, which is for Melbourne. About 160 tons Mauritius white sugar was placed privately to day at about equal to the auction rates of the week. Good yellow and low white colonial sugars are in fair demand at £27 to £28, with considerably reduced stocks; the lower qualities are still plentiful. For good confectioners' sugars, £34 to £35 is asked; the latter figure being wanted for brewers' crystals. In coffee there is no movement, and prices are stationary on the basis of 9½d. for No. 1 Ceylon Plantation. Barry's chicory, 6½d. Currants are selling at 5d. to 5½d., according to quality; for elemes the outside price is 6d. Jams are moving at 6s., with discounts. D. R. J. candles are quoted to 9¼d., business for to arrive lots having been done at a lower price. There has been some demand for the lower qualities of rice for export, but for local requirements there has been no inquiry for either low or fine grade; quotations £13 to £15, the finer qualities selling to £18 10s. Sago and tapioca are worth 1½d. to 1¾d., trade being quiet. Black pepper is selling at 10d.; white at 1s. 1½d. In brewers' goods we note an easier tone in malt, small lots of English selling at 10s., stocks, however, still being scarce; colonial 7s. 6d. Hops are very dull of sale, and colonial are quoted at from 11d. to 1s. 2d. In liquors, bottled beers of the leading brands still receive attention at agents' stock quotations, which are unchanged. There is very little doing in spirits; Hennessy's case brandy, 36s. and 47s. for single and three star respectively were the current rates; Hennessy's bulk, 16s.; and Martell's 17s., with very small trade. Geneva is held for 20s., with very light stocks. For Burnett's old tom 13s. is required, somewhat less being taken to arrive. Kinahan's whisky noticed at 22s; Dunville's at 17s. In metals, galvanised iron has been selling at very low and irregular rates; £20 10s. to £28 10s. may be quoted for parcels. Pig iron is nominally quoted at 70s. Sheet lead continues heavily stocked, and low in price; £15 15s. may be quoted as value. There has been rather more trade in fencing wire, chiefly in No. 6, though still business is far from active, and prices continue very depressed—£11 5s., £12 5s., and £13 10s. being nominal quotations for Nos. 6, 8, and 10 of leading brands, though business has been done at lower rates. I.C. charcoal tinplates having been largely taken for Coke's, have now become low in stock and dearer; 25s. to 25s. 6d. wanted; 20s. to 20s. 6d. quoted for Coke's. Muntz, 7d. to 7¼d. In oils, raw and boiled is dull of sale at 3s. 3d. for best brands; for castor, 3s. 7d. has been paid to arrive; 3s. 8d. is spot prices of ordinary lines; China quoted at 3s. 10d. In jute goods, the trade is very slack; cornsacks sell at from 7s. 9d. to 8s., according to quantity; and woolpacks may be quoted at 2s. 7d., some holders asking more. Supplies of cement having come forward freely, prices are not quite so firm, 19s. 6d. to 20s. being quoted for 50-barrel lots; business has been done at reduced prices for lots for forward delivery. The supply of forage forward at Darling Harbour terminus was small. The prices were good, and a fair amount of business was done. The following are the quotations:—Oaten hay, in bundles, 4s. 2d. to 5s. 9d.; bales, 4s. 9d. to 5s. 2d.; trusses, 5s. 2d.; wheaten and oaten hay, bales, 5s.; clean straw, bundles, 2s. 6d. to 2s. 9d.; rye straw, bundles, 3s. 6d.; wheaten hay, bundles, 4s. 9d.; sheaf, 4s.; oaten chaff, 5s. 8d.; lucerne and oaten hay, trusses, 4s. 8d.; bales, 5s.; lucerne, green, in truss, 4s. 7d. to 5s.; brown hay, 3s. 6d.; pumpkins, 1s. 2d. to 8s. 7d. per dozen, according to size. There was a fair supply of Hunter River lucerne forward along the wharfs, and the demand was active. The price for green lucerne was from £4 10s. to £5; brown, £3 to £4; seed and feed oats, 3s. to 3s. 4d.; Cape barley, 3s. 9d.; maize, 3s. for inferior, 3s. 9d. to 4s. 2d. for good qualities; Warrnambool potatoes, £8 10s.; Victorian oaten chaff, £4 15s. to £5 10s.; butter, 1s. 6d.; eggs, 1s. 7d. to 1s. 9d.; cheese, 5d. to 8d.; ham, 1s. to 1s. 1d.; bacon, 8d. to 10d.; honey, 5½d.; beeswax, 8d. to 10d.; lard, 5d. to 8d.

Messrs. Hill, Clark, and Co., F. L. Barker, John Bridge, Brunker and Wolfe, Mort and Co., Limited, and Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, held their weekly sales of tallow and hides to-day. For tallow the competition for shipping parcels was fairly active, and prices were dearer; best beef is worth £32 to £33 10s.; prime mutton, £33 to £34. Hides were in brisk demand at last week's rates, light selling from 3d., and extra heavy to 4½d. per lb.

From Mr. W. L. Hunter's Foochow tea report of the 30th January we extract the following:—

"In concluding my market advices for this year, I have to report the closing of the market for season 1883-84. Congous: Nearly the whole of later purchases have been made on colonial account. 8800 half-chests of Panyong and Foochow packed teas have been settled during the month at 10½ to 21¼ taels, or 8½d. to 1s. 2d. per lb.; 2960 half-chests have been disposed of at 3 to 8 taels, or 4½d. to 7d. per lb.; and 4120 boxes have found purchasers at 11 to 21 taels, or 8½d. to 1s. 1½d. per lb. Total arrivals for the season are—1883-84, 654,000 chests, against 705,600 chests in 1882-83. Total settlements for 1883-84, 654,000 chests, against 704,900 chests in 1882-83. Total stocks for 1883-84, nil, against 600 chests in 1882-83. Total export to London to date is 55,775,618lb., against 56,562,880lb. at the same date last year. Shipping: Rate of freight, £2 2s. 6d. per ton to London, and £1 via Hongkong for the colonies. No more vessels are expected to call."

The R.M.S. Sutlej sailed this afternoon for London with 566 bales wool, 9014 ingots tin, 6360 ingots and 1865 cakes copper, 2229 cases meats, 19 bales and 1 bag leather, 4 quarter-casks 1 case wine, 7 cases books, 3 casks bismuth ore, 1 box emu eggs, 2 cases tobacco, 2 packages stationery, 5 tons holystone, 1 box sovereigns (£3500), 4 cases parcels, and 16 packages sundries.

The steamship Gulf of Carpentaria sailed to-day for London via Melbourne, with 2304 bales and 2 bags wool, 22 bales leather, 1 bale opossum skins, 22 quarter-casks wine, and 11 packages machinery.

PROSPECTUS of NEW SOUTH WALES PURE ICE COMPANY, Limited, SYDNEY, (to be Registered under the Companies' Act.)

Capital, £25,000, in Shares of £1 each, to be issued as hereunder:—

To Mr. Louis Samuel 1500 Shares fully paid up, in consideration of his rights in the Pictet Machine.

To subscribers 23,500 shares, to be called up as follows:—ON APPLICATION, 2s 6d per share; ON ALLOTMENT, 5s per share; and up to 15s. per share in calls, at intervals of not less than 3 months. It is proposed to issue debentures for £8000, as permanent debenture capital, on security of the property and plant, so that the last 5s on the shares will probably not be required.

BROKER.
JOSIAH MULLENS, 92, Pitt-street.

This Company is formed for the economical manufacture of ice, and its delivery on a large scale in Sydney and suburbs.

It is proposed to manufacture up to twenty-four tons per day during the season. This may appear a large amount, but there is no doubt that with an ever-increasing population, with large orders to be expected from shipping, and with extraordinary inducements offered to customers by the low price and superior quality of the ice, to be manufactured perfectly transparent and free from bubbles, an immense number of orders will be secured, and the demand for ice largely increased; and that, instead of being a luxury, only to be met with at the tables of the wealthy, it will become a common household commodity.

It is anticipated that the company's ice will be sold and delivered for about ½d per pound, as the result of a new invention—Raoul Pictet's Patent Sulphurous Anhydride Machinery, pronounced by experts to be the best in existence for the manufacture of ice.

The chemical employed (Sulphurous Anhydride, SO2) is the only known volatile agent suitable for refrigerating purposes that is incombustible, inexplosive, and inexpensive. It has not only no deleterious effect on metals, but answers the purpose of a lubricant, and will work at a low pressure, varying from 25lb. to 40lb. per square inch above atmospheric pressure in the compression pump, and at a pressure very little below the atmosphere in the refrigerator. The remarkable properties of this chemical render the machine perfect, simple, and economical in working. Beyond the first charge of acid the machine requires no chemicals worthy of consideration. The first charge never gets destroyed by the use of lubricants, and the valves and stuffing boxes are all so skilfully designed and constructed that any leakage of acid is almost impossible at the low pressure employed. In these essential points this machine differs from all others in use. Though, theoretically, both ether and ammonia give good results, nevertheless, in practical working, difficulty and failure are experienced. In the case of the former, on account of its low vapour tension, atmospheric air finds its way into the refrigerator, thus destroying the efficiency of the plant; moreover, ether easily becomes decomposed and useless by the use of lubricants. The most serious objections to ether are its high cost and extreme inflammability. Ammonia is used in two systems; in both of these the pressure employed is very high, and the danger and leakage of vapour at the joints considerable. The amount of water used for condensing is also very large, and in the one class of machine in which a compression pump is used, the necessity of keeping the glands tight enough to retain in any degree the ammonia vapour, which is exceedingly penetrating and more difficult to retain than steam, absorbs a large amount of power, and this entails a proportionate loss of fuel.

A large number of the Pictet machines have already been fitted up at various places (see lists and testimonials attached) and subjected to rigid practical tests and the experience of daily working, with the greatest possible success. Amongst the larger of these may be mentioned one at Paris; one at New York; one at Southport, England; one at Liverpool, England; each turning out 24 tons of transparent block ice per day; there is also a large machine at work in Cairo, Egypt, besides a great number on the continent of Europe and North and South America. The Pictet Company are at present putting up a 24-ton machine in London and another at Manchester.

The promoter, Mr. Samuel, had this machinery brought under his notice in England, and was so struck with its efficiency that at considerable expense he visited several existing works; the undoubted success of all these works so convinced him of the value of the patent that he entered into negotiations for the sole right for Australia. Unfortunately, through the death of the owner of the patent rights for the world, the arrangements made have fallen through. Mr. Samuel, however, has been in communication with the patentees, who have agreed to supply him with the necessary plant on more favourable terms. Mr. Samuel has agreed to take all risk of the floating of the company, and all deposits will be returned in full should the Company not float. In return for this risk and the work of getting out specifications and arranging for inspection and importation of machinery, he will receive 1500 fully paid shares.

The machinery will be under the patentees' written guarantee to make the amount of ice set forth.

The estimates of cost of machinery, land, and buildings, &c., are as under:—

Plant, complete, erected	£8,500
Land, freehold	6,000
Buildings	4,000
Waggons and horses	1,500
Promoter, in fully paid-up shares	1,500
Working capital and contingencies	3,000
		25,000 0 0

It is proposed to call up only 15s. per share, and to issue debentures for £8000, secured on the property.

The estimated profit on a sale of 24 tons per diem for 150 days in the year is as under:—

24 tons of ice at ½d per pound		£112 0 0
Cost of manufacture—
Wages (three shifts)	£7 10 0
Coal, 42s; water, 30s	3 12 0
Stores, acid, &c.	2 0 0
Cost of distribution—
16 tons in 14lb blocks	32 0 0
8 tons in large quantities	5 2 0
		50 4 0
Gross profit per diem		£61 16 0
150 days at £61 16s	£9,270
Less depreciation	£1000
Staff	1000
	2,000
		£7,270 0 0

Leaving an annual profit of £7,270, deducting £480 for interest, at 6 per cent. on the debenture capital, a return of 25 per cent. on £17,000.

It is not expected that so large a sale would be achieved at once, but an out-turn and sale of 12 tons per day is estimated to give a return of £2700 nett, which would pay a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent., leaving a good margin.

These calculations do not take into account any profit on sales to shipping during the winter months.

The estimates have been very carefully made, and, it is believed, with a large margin throughout for contingencies.

Should the demand exceed the supply at any time shareholders will receive the first consideration in the delivery of ice.

Application must be made to the Broker of the Company in the annexed form, and the Share List will be closed as soon as a sufficient number are taken up.

Should the Company not be formed all deposits will be returned in full.

TESTIMONIALS.

"Pictet's Artificial Ice Company, New York, "28th August, 1877.

"Gentlemen,—The trials of the Machine on your system having been completely satisfactory to our Company, we have accepted it with pleasure, and have ratified the purchase of your Patent Rights for the United States.

"The Ice Machine has worked day and night since the 31st July to our entire satisfaction.

"Yours, &c.,
"(Signed) OSCAR VEZIN, President."

"Ice Factory, Geneva, 9th June, 1879.

"I have the pleasure of hereby declaring that the ice machine on your system for producing 200 kilos. an hour has worked ever since it was started to my entire satisfaction, and produces more than the quantity for which it was sold.

"The apparatus for producing transparent ice, which has been added to the machine, gives very good results. The ice is of beautiful quality, transparent, and crystalline.

"Two men are sufficient for the service of the machine and for the extraction of the ice.

"The price of production per ton of ice is in absolute conformity with the particulars given by you when the machine was ordered.

"Receive, &c.,

"Ice Factory, San Sebastian, 29th October, 1878.

"I have the satisfaction to inform you that the Ice Machine of 100 kilos. per hour you have sent me works very well, without any perceptible escape of acid, and during the ten days it has been at work its production has been 128 kilos. of ice per hour.

"I have the honour to be, &c.
"(Signed) R. USABIAGA."

"Ice Factory, Bilbao, 24th December, 1877.

"You ask me to tell you what I think of the Ice Machine you sold me last summer. I am pleased to find that the management of the machine is extremely easy, and that the consumption of acid is insignificant.

"Receive, &c.
"(Signed) HOFFMEYER."

"Ice Factory, Bordeaux, 29th July, 1879.

"In conformity with your desire, we declare that we are very well satisfied with the working of the machine you have sold us. Up to the present time the production has been superior to what you promised us.

"As regards the consumption of sulphurous anhydride, it has been very moderate; during the six months that the machine has been at work regularly we have only added about 25 kilos. beyond the first charge.

"Receive, &c.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, MARCH 8, 1884.

We referred lately to the annual address of the Governor of the State of Massachusetts, and to the remarks he made with respect to the State, county, and town taxation. We have before us now a copy of the Boston Herald, in which is given a complete list of all the citizens in Boston who pay taxes to the amount of a thousand dollars and upwards. Such a publication would amongst us be considered improper. We have preserved the English dislike to having our private affairs unnecessarily disclosed. It is rather curious that Americans should have so much varied from this type of what is agreeable and becoming. But there is no doubt that the Americans live more than the English do in the public eye, that they have more curiosity about each others' affairs, and that they do not resent the disclosure to the whole world of their pecuniary position. The list before us occupies more than a page of the paper, and gives exactly against each citizen's name the value of his real estate, the value of his personal estate, and the tax he pays. It is an annual publication, so that people must be used to it. Perhaps it has the one good result, that it is a check upon under-valuation, as everybody who is made to pay up looks down the list to see that his neighbours are made to do the same. It is possible that some people, who want to get more credit than they deserve, may over-assess themselves, and find that the extra tax pays them as an advertisement.

It is to be noticed that the city taxation of Boston rests, not as with us exclusively on real estate, but on personal estate also. In the latter, Government bonds are omitted, and property held in companies is taxed through the companies, and therefore not included in the private list. In taking stock of goods in store, the average of the stock for the year is taken by the assessors, and not the amount in hand on any one day.

The assessed value of the real estate in the city of Boston last year was 478,402,800 dollars; the personal estate was 203,966,700 dollars, the total value taxed being 682,369,500 dollars. The value of the personal estate, it will be seen, was less than half that of the real estate, and this proportion has held for at least the last five years, although there are some fluctuations in the relations between the two kinds of property. During that time the gross value of property in Boston has increased by more than 69,000,000 dollars, or nearly £14,000,000, so that Boston is getting rapidly richer. The city tax levied last year amounted to very nearly 10,000,000 dollars, or £2,000,000.

The rate of taxation in Boston has varied considerably during the last thirty years, with, on the whole, a tendency to increase. It was lowest in 1852, when it was less than six and a half dollars in a thousand. It was highest in 1865, one of the war years, when it was nearly sixteen dollars in a thousand. It ranges now from fourteen and a half to fifteen dollars. It has never been less than ten dollars since the year 1861—that is, for more than twenty years—and never seems likely to get down to that level again. The rate of taxation seems to us extremely high for purely civic purposes; but then we must remember that in America many things are paid for by cities that with us are charged to the general revenue. Thus, for instance, in Boston nearly one-fifth of the whole taxation, or at the rate of three dollars in a thousand, was for schools. The State taxes and county taxes are very small indeed as compared with the city tax. Thus, the man who lives in Boston pays very little more than a quarter of a dollar in the thousand for his county tax, and only three-quarters for his State tax, while the city tax alone amounts to thirteen dollars. A poll tax is a part of the Massachusetts fiscal system, and the number of Bostonians who are charged with it amounts to 106,985. Nearly nine-tenths of these people pay no other local tax at all. The exact numbers are as follows:—Only 16,264 persons pay the property tax, while 90,721 persons pay only a poll tax. Out of the smaller number only 2200 pay an annual tax of 1000 dollars and over, so that six-sevenths of those who pay the property tax come under this limit. It is only the remaining one-seventh whose contributions are published to the world in the list before us. The burden of the direct taxation therefore rests on the few, while the expenditure is distributed for the benefit of the many. The question, of course, remains, how far those who do not pay to the State directly, pay indirectly in rent to those to whom the State tax-gatherer comes. The taxes on consumption obtainable from Customs and excise, and which catch the non-propertied classes, go to the Federal Government.

The citizen who pays the largest tax, so far as the list before us shows, is Mr. Joshua M. Sears, and he figures as paying for the year 50,500 dollars, or over £10,000; and nearly the whole of his property is in real estate. The list, however, does not give a complete disclosure of the taxable wealth of any person, because he may have much more in the shares of companies, and the companies are taxed separately under their own names.

The Americans certainly cannot pass as a lightly-taxed people, seeing that in addition to what the Bostonians pay on consumption to the general Treasury, they are taxed to the extent of over threepence in the pound on property, or more than three times as heavily as Mr. Dibbs proposed to tax the people of New South Wales.

Years of neglect in regard to the proper housing of the working classes in London have now been followed by years of suffering highly admonitory to all other growing cities. The necessity for men and women to live near their employment led to the erection of houses never suitable, and to the crowding of families together in houses once the homes of higher classes. In the course of time, poverty, vice, and crime found shelter where only honest industry was meant to live. No matter how deep the squalor of these places, they were paying properties. The two things have mutually served one another—avarice and crime. The worse a neighbourhood became the more necessity there was for concealment, and the deeper that necessity, the higher the rent that could be extracted from an outlawed tenant. It is not so much that the pressure has now become greater than can be borne, as that some one has ventured to put his head into these dens of infamy and misery, and to tell the world what he has seen. Outcast London has not raised a bitter cry, but philanthropic London has done so. There will be two unwilling parties to any change, viz., the vicious and criminal portion of the poor, and the landlords of these wretched properties. For the former we have no specific; for the latter we have. The Corporation of London is now casting about for means to deal with a part of this question, which is dealt with promptly enough in Sydney. The Mayor of the city can after due inspection and advice declare buildings unsuitable for business or residential purposes. In this way a lot of old rookeries have gone down during the past three years. By a little policy and by promises to repair, the evil day has sometimes been postponed. It is only a lingering death instead of a sudden one; the crazy old tenements have at last to fall. Should the Mayor neglect his duty the City Improvement Board can, in a way not to be neglected, jog his memory. These two authorities are not on perfectly harmonious lines, but apparently that does not much interfere with the work of condemning old buildings. It may sometimes lead to the destruction of buildings not yet past safe and healthy use. Certainly the power named can go no further. There is no authority which can compel landlords to build better places, or to say that, if they rebuild, the new edifice must serve the same purposes as the old one did. The landlord is under no obligation to provide on the spot or elsewhere for the tenants turned out. In nine cases out of ten the owner proceeds to build a totally different class of property. The northern end of Sydney is marked for business purposes, and new warehouses take the places of old dwellings. What becomes of his late tenant the landlord does not inquire.

If the Corporation of London could quietly do the same, a partial remedy might be at once applied. And failing to do that duty, if the Board of Health for London could come behind with an admonition, the work would certainly be done. But the parish vestries by which, outside the central city, London is municipally governed, are filled or ruled by the very persons whose interest it is to retain things as they are. The great disclosure recently made may hasten the new incorporation of London, to make sure of a governing body not afraid of this unpleasant duty. But there would still remain the question, What is to be done with the thousands of persons swept out of their old unclean haunts? The criminal portion will be the better for being driven into the daylight. The difficulty will be to place the workmen, who must be located within easy reach of work. The difference between London and Sydney is that in the former this task has now taken a gigantic form, and at the same time it calls for immediate settlement. In Sydney the work is being done gradually; but it is certain that pressure will yet be felt here. If it is not a question of housing working people it will be one of providing them with quick and cheap transit between home and work. But all the municipal and all the governmental care that can be given to this subject here will avail little if the classes referred to will not take all the care they can of their own homes. Windows and doorways are not meant to be places for pouring out waste water. In the worst tenements there are possibilities of decency, and in the best the most ordinary sanitary means may be, and frequently are, neglected.

Now that the question of the North Shore ferry is settled for the present, it is just as well to indicate what might and should be done at public cost and by private enterprise. The ferry scheme ended, the tram proposal should be pushed on with vigour. There is no controversy about that. It is urgently required. It has been pronounced practicable and feasible. It will put no heavy strain upon the finances of the colony, and there is every reason to believe that it will pay. Mr. Dibbs was beside the mark when he talked about making the fortune of the company by making a tramway terminus close to their passenger wharf. How many fortunes have been made by running tram lines alongside suburban building lots? It will also be exceedingly difficult to convince common people that passenger traffic must yield to the demands of big ships. The centre of Circular Quay is the front harbour-gate of the city. It is the proper passenger entrance, and there are other places enough for all the requirements of the goods traffic. Let the companies pay a fair rental for their wharfs on that foreshore, and they may have a free gift for the time of whatever advantage they may gain from the terminal points of the trams.

But while the public may be content that the Government ferry scheme should be dropped, it must not be supposed that the present system is without fault or possibility of improvement. Threats of Government opposition had a little effect. In the first place, an apparent certainty of Government interference brought about the suspension of the double morning and evening service which, it must be remembered, has not yet been renewed. Then, rising on an apparent turn of tide, the company advertised some alterations and reductions of rates, and promised such improvements as should satisfy all the requirements of their passengers. We may hope that all will speedily be carried out, and it is well that the company should recognise and remember the fact that it was not perfect contentment with their service which defeated the Government proposal, but absolute inability to discover any probability of advantage from the proposed change. With a reasonable hope of an undisturbed possession of their line they should move now with a little more zeal towards the satisfying of those wants which, by some of the residents, are painfully felt. The reduction of fares upon the horse-ferry is tolerably satisfactory, and the prices charged for season tickets upon the passenger boats are not exorbitant; but the boats at morning and evening are most inconveniently crowded. The special boats to M'Mahon's Point and Lavender Bay should at once be put on, and the night service be commenced according to promise. It rests with the company to hold their present position and satisfy all the wants of the North Shore people till future requirements demand the construction of a bridge; but if they desire to hold on so, they must move and at once.

A correspondent, who says that he knows, undertakes to vouch for the fact that colonial wines are more adulterated than the imported French wines. This is a great reproach to our vignerons, if it is true. There ought to be no country in the world where wine ought to be more genuine than Australia. There is an almost unlimited power of production, and the article sold ought at least to be pure. In France the temptation to adulterate arises from deficient production. The demand is greater than the supply, and this is especially the case since the phylloxera ravaged so many vineyards. In Australia the temptation to adulterate has its origin, not in the field, but in the cellar. We are told that the wines are brandied, first, to stop the fermentation, and, secondly, to prevent their going bad. If this is so, it is because the vignerons have not the capital or patience to mature their wines properly, or the skill to make them in the first instance. Nature has done much for wine-growing in this country, and, thanks to the necessity for revenue, the wine-makers have an enormous protective duty. They have, therefore, nothing to complain of, and if they spoil nature's product it is another proof that too much help is a hindrance. We are very far, however, from accepting our correspondent's dogma that claret cannot be grown out of France. It is too early to adopt any such despondent conclusion. Patience and skill have got to do a great deal more before we can yield to France such a monopoly.

At Hunter's Hill, an agitation, which looked formidable before a ballot was taken, has recently raged and spent itself over the question of a tramway through that picturesque borough. It seems there are 463 ratepayers on the roll, only 175 of whom voted on this burning question, although cabs and omnibuses were employed by the anti-tramway party. There were recorded 89 votes against any change; and if the remaining ratepayers had cast their votes the figure might not have been much greater. The opposition probably showed all its strength, and all its reasons. Those who are in favour of a tramway have to deal with a double-headed objection. First, that no tramway is needed, and next, that if there must be one, it ought not to be in private hands. It is almost too late to hope that any residential neighbourhood within easy reach of Sydney can be held private for the comfort of a few persons. Nothing can be more delightful than such a place as Hunter's Hill to persons who wish to get away at night from city noise and dust, of which they have more than enough by day. They say plainly that a tramway would destroy the beauty of the borough, and interfere with the privacy of the residents. All other objections gather about this one as the central and most forceful. It is not without a feeling of regret at any time that one sees beauty of country and privacy of residence destroyed by tramways. They are the modern Juggernaut before whom all such interests fall. Hunter's Hill may make a brave stand for them, but such things are doomed so far as tramways can doom them in every place where people do or can reside. The question of public or private ownership is not to be settled on such sentimental grounds. Works of this kind are so uniformly undertaken by Government, that at first sight it is treated as a piece of audacity for syndicates to undertake them. They must run upon public roads, and must encroach in some respects upon rights. Oppositionists have a perfect right to ask what guarantees will be given that a tramway in private hands will not be a King Stork who will devour his subjects. Gas companies are allowed to use streets and to monopolise a particular trade. The public is sometimes oppressed by them, grumbles a good deal, and also is very glad to be so well served. On the face of it there can be no objection to a private company in this case. The question is to place such a company so that no course can be taken other than that which the Government might take. In some respects, under the best management, trams are a nuisance, but they have become indispensable in many places. Put a company under proper restrictions, and their trams would be neither better nor worse than those now worked by the Government. So far as Hunter's Hill is concerned the case will be determined on purely financial grounds. Will it pay? If it will the case is settled.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The overland telegraph line is still interrupted, and it is impossible to say when communication will be restored.

Thursday's sitting of the Legislative Assembly was continued until nearly 4 o'clock yesterday morning. At the time our last issue went to press, the House, in Committee of Supply, was discussing the last few items of the Colonial Treasurer's Department. Two or three items were reduced: another (£1218 to meet the claim of Messrs. G. R. Stevens and Co. for compensation for loss sustained by detention in quarantine of the steamship Ocean in June, 1881), was withdrawn. The Treasurer's advance vote was reduced from £150,000 to £100,000. The House then resumed, progress was reported, and an adjournment made till Tuesday.

The following is a list of the roads and bridges in the original Estimates which have been omitted by the Government from the revised Estimates now before the House:—Road, Grafton to Glen Innes, from £75 to £50 per mile, £3325; contingent works for roads under Department (from £15,000 to £12,000), £3000; minor roads—to make amount same as last year, £40,000; bridges on road Wilcannia to Bourke, £3815; bridge, Bungle Gully, Walgett to Coonamble, £1500; bridge, Castlereagh River, at Meregoen, £1600; bridge, Pappinbarra Creek, £800; bridge, Oakey Creek, Cudgegong to Rylstone, £500; bridge, Carwell Creek, £450; bridge, Clarke's Creek, £130; bridge, head of navigation, Lane Cove River, £3000; bridge, Bredbo River, Goulburn to Cooma, £2500; bridge, Boggy Creek, Carabost to Kiamba, £300; road, Fernmount to Grafton, £2000; road, Nambucca to Macleay Heads, £553; road, Quirindi towards Coonabarabran, £2000; road over Mount Keira Pass, £1000; road, Palmer's Oakey to Mudgee-road, £1000; road, Tumut to Cooma, via Kiandra, £2000; road, Manly Beach to Pittwater, £1000; tanks and wells (to be reduced from £60,000 to £30,000), £30,000, Re-votes: bridge, Four-mile Creek, Mudgee to Cassilis, £600; bridge, Bonberoi Creek, £111; bridge, Nambucca River, £850; bridge, Paddy's River, £1500. Total, £104,134.

According to the promise made in the Legislative Assembly on Thursday night respecting the railway goods rates, the Minister for Works has issued instructions that the original minimum weight of one ton in special classes A and B is to be reverted to in place of the higher quantity recently fixed.

Arrangements have been completed by the Hon. Alexander Stuart for the making of a road one chain wide around Wentworth Park. The road will be commenced from Pyrmont Bridge-road, and will pass through a portion of land between Gipps-crescent and the park, running up Wattle-street, as originally designed upon the Ultimo Estate plans, to William-street, taking in about 2¼ acres of very low-lying ground wholly unfit for building purposes, and which if allowed to be built upon would probably be a hotbed of fever. From William-street the road will cross Bay-street, and will be continued thence to the south-western side of the park, through the St. Philip's Glebe and Lyndhurst estates, until it again meets the Pyrmont Bridge-road. The effect of this being not only the existence of a good hard road round the park, but the preventing of any accumulation of dwellings in places which are quite unsuited for them, a great benefit will be conferred on the people of the Glebe on one side, and to the large population on the Ultimo Estate on the other. It is understood that the proprietors of land adjoining the park will give the land necessary for the road, being content to be paid for only the small portions of their land which may be included in the area of the park, and which portions will be valued by Mr. J. Y. Mills.

Yesterday morning the Acting Minister of Public Instruction (Hon. J. P. Abbott), accompanied by Mr. Inspector Maynard, visited the Blackfriars Estate, George-street West, for the purpose of ascertaining if it would be advisable to resume some land adjacent to that already acquired by the department for the new school in course of erection on the Blackfriars Estate, in order that a playground might be obtained for the school, which, in its several departments, will accommodate about 2500 children. The land upon which the school buildings are being erected is intersected by streets, and by resuming some adjoining land it is thought that these streets can be closed, and by that means a very fair playground obtained for the use of the school children.

The office of the Minister of Public Instruction has been removed from the building occupied by the Colonial Secretary and the Minister for Works to the Colonial Secretary's old office in Bridge-street, where the headquarters of the Department of Public Instruction are situated. By this arrangement the Minister's room will be under the same roof as the rooms occupied by the principal officers of the Department, and the loss of time on the part of officers in passing from the offices in Bridge-street to the Minister's room in Macquarie-street, will be avoided. The change was made yesterday.

It will be remembered that in December last it was reported to the Colonial Secretary, during a visit which he made to the mountains, that a much shorter route than that at present adopted could be found from Katoomba to the Fish River Caves, and that he issued instructions to have the accuracy of the report which was made to him tested. We are informed that a road surveyor was, in accordance with Mr. Stuart's instructions, entrusted with the duty of ascertaining whether a practicable route could be found, and that his report is not favourable to the construction of a road across the country lying between the caves and Katoomba. But the surveyor appears to have been impressed with the idea that it was the desire of the Colonial Secretary to have a road made for vehicle traffic from the top of the Katoomba Mountain to the summit of the mountain upon which the Fish River Caves are situated, whereas Mr. Stuart's idea was simply that a road might be made from the base of one mountain to the base of the other. In a minute which Mr. Stuart wrote, after reading the report of the road surveyor, he says: "It seems to me that the failure to obtain a good road arises chiefly from an attempt to do too much, i. e., to find a road for wheel traffic from point to point. The main object is to secure the means of reaching these grand wonders of nature in the most expeditious manner, so as to encourage tourists to visit them. It certainly cannot be said that we are doing that when passing Katoomba, from which they are distant in a straight line only 16 miles, we send tourists round by Tarana, 90 miles; nor would we be doing much better if we sent them by Rydal. If the Government is justified at all in opening up these caves, it ought to endeavour to open up the shortest route." Katoomba, Mr. Stuart points out, is situated on a high hill, the caves on another, and a comparatively level plateau lies between them, with a very steep ascent on either side. It seems to him that it would be well to try first for a good pedestrian road, say down to the falls, on or about the Katoomba level; descend the cliffs by means of steps or a winding path—there is a deep glen or ravine near the falls:—strike across the low country or valley towards the Fish River Caves Hill—the main difficulty is a depression in the valley of the Cox—and ascend the Fish River Caves by a winding road. He does not think it would be any great cost or heavy work to make a fairly passable wheel traffic road from base to base, and by degrees, as the road became more traversed by tourists, he considers that ways of connecting the two high-level points with the lower round would be found. At all events it seems to him that it would be extremely desirable to bring the caves within easy reach of even pedestrian expeditions, and Mr. Cooper, surveyor of parks, has been directed to proceed to Katoomba and see what he can do in finding a practicable route from that point to the caves. Mr. Cooper will probably go to Katoomba the week after next.

The following tenders have been accepted by the Minister for Works:—For the erection of barracks at Middle Head, the tender of Mr. J. A. Eaton; for the erection of a court-house and lockup at Cudal, the tender of Mr. Thomas Atkinson; and for the construction of a wall and railing at the Courthouse and Lands Office, Albury, the tender of Mr. Joseph Matthews.

The papers in connection with Mr. Inspector Jones' report on the Girls' department of the Redfern Public School during the time Mrs. Bardwell was mistress, have been printed by order of the Legislative Assembly. Mr. Jones inspected the school on the 6th, 7th, 11th, and 12th September, 1882. The report of Mr. Jones was very favourable on the whole, as will be seen from the following summary:—"Material condition highly satisfactory; organisation satisfactory, except as regards the classification, the distribution of the teachers' duties, and the time devoted by the teacher to the instruction and examination of the classes; discipline good, except as regards the attendance; instruction zealous, painstaking, and very fairly effective; general condition very fair to good." But Mr. Jones goes on to say:—"Existing defects have been pointed out to the teacher, but as she did not receive my suggestions and directions with becoming respect and attention, I am unable to state how far such suggestions will be carried out. I recommend, therefore, that the teacher be instructed to be more punctual in her attendance, to pay stricter attention to her printed instructions, and to raise her school to a higher degree of efficiency." And he says in a postscript:—"The teacher is very unpunctual in her attendance, and is generally the first to leave the school in the afternoon. The classes are examined quarterly, and not monthly as required. Contrary to the spirit of the regulations, the task of inflicting and recording corporal punishments is delegated to the assistant teacher. The teacher does not perform a fair share of the school duties appertaining to the drill, the supervision of the playground, the framing of the programmes of lessons, and the keeping of the records, nor does she distribute her time judiciously among the classes as required by her printed instructions." In a subsequent memo., Mr. Jones says when he began to point out to Mrs. Bardwell the defects in her school, she rose from her seat, and in an excited state of mind spoke of her wrongs in connection with the Crown-street Public School, broke out into bitter invectives against the examiners, the training master, Inspectors M'Credie and Morris, and Mr. Rooney, and more than once insinuated that Mr. Jones' action was part of the persecution against her. Mrs. Bardwell being called upon for an explanation denied that she had had any intention of being disrespectful to Mr. Jones, and asserted that she spoke emphatically because she felt deeply, but she did not associate Mr. Jones with her wrongs. She then went on to say, however, that some of Mr. Jones' proceedings at the inspection led to the apprehension that he might possibly participate in the feelings of her avowed and bitter enemies, and she proceeds to lay several charges against him. Mr. Jones, in a subsequent paper, denies or explains away all the allegations made by Mrs. Bardwell.

After occupying the attention of the Jury Court for three days, the action Moon v. Barton was brought to a conclusion yesterday morning. The claim was founded upon a contract entered into between the parties, by which plaintiff undertook to carry out certain work in connection with the erection of a house for defendant at Five Dock, and the amount sued for was £724, balance of account, less £108, which plaintiff admitted as a set-off. A large amount of evidence was given on both sides, plaintiff alleging that owing to defendant's acting in collusion with his architect he was unable to get a certificate which would have entitled him to payment. He also charged defendant with preventing him from removing certain cottages which stood on a portion of the site of the intended building, and thus hindering him in the performance of his contract; and further, that when disputes arose, defendant refused to go to arbitration in order to arrive at a settlement, and thus compelled plaintiff to have recourse to law. Defendant's case was a denial in toto of plaintiff's assertions as to collusion, delay, or a refusal to go to arbitration, and he also called evidence to prove that any delay in carrying out and completing the contract was entirely owing to the dilatory manner in which the plaintiff proceeded with the work. A set-off was also claimed of £430. The jury found for the defendant on the counts charging him with collusion, delay, and refusal to go to arbitration; but returned a verdict for the plaintiff, damages £216 11s. 9d., for conversion of materials by defendant, materials supplied to him, and work and labour done. Mr. Justice Faucett having cleared the list of motions and petitions generally in Equity, resumed the hearing of the friendly suit instituted by the representatives of the late Archibald Bell, of Pickering, near Denman, to determine the ambiguities of his will. His Honor subsequently expressed his opinion on the points of difficulty, and made an order for the payment of all costs out of the residuary estate.

The trial of the prisoners charged with the murder of Margaret Owen, at Mount Carmel, Waterloo, on December 25, was continued yesterday, at the Central Criminal Court, before his Honor the Chief Justice. The following witnesses were examined:—Ellen Coffey, Frances Logan, C. Smith (coroner's clerk), Senior-sergeant Bradwell, and William Smith, the approver. The depositions taken at the coroner's court were handed in, amongst others the evidence tendered by Fahey and Honrigan, two of the prisoners in the present trial. The evidence given by Fahey was struck out on the application of counsel, because of an implied rather than an expressed promise made previous to his arrest by Senior-sergeant Bradwell. There are several more witnesses to be called for the Crown, after which the evidence for the defence will be taken, and that will be followed by the addresses of counsel and summing up by the Judge. The Court adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning; but the case will probably last till Tuesday.

As is well known members of Parliament have most peculiar requests made to them by their constituents; but Mr. A. H. M'Culloch, M.L.A., has just had a desire expressed to him by one of his lady constituents which for novelty of character has never been equalled. It appears that the lady referred to resides in one of the suburbs, and according to her own words in a letter addressed to Mr. M'Culloch, she has been suffering severely from illness. She is known to be respectable, and is the mother of a large family, and she desires the hon. gentleman to obtain permission for a Chinese doctor who is at present in gaol to prescribe regularly for her. The lady writes: "I have been to a great many English doctors, but none have done me good. I should have been dead long ago but for the Chinese doctor. If I could get an order once every two weeks to consult him I would feel obliged, as I feel myself sinking every day." Without her knowledge, perhaps, the lady submitted in her letter a problem rather difficult of solution, namely, that of whether a confinee should be permitted to practise his profession while suffering incarceration. The point was submitted to the Comptroller-General of Prisons, and he regarded the request as being couched in such urgent terms that he did not deem it expedient to resist it.

The session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church was continued yesterday. Nearly the whole of the morning sitting was taken up with the consideration of unimportant business. At the evening sitting a report on heathen missions was adopted, and addresses were delivered by a number of ministers. The work of the assembly will be resumed this morning at 10 o'clock. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the annual gathering of Sabbath school children will be held in St. Stephen's Church. A number of addresses will be given, and music will be contributed by the united city choirs.

The new Baptist church on the Boulevard, Petersham, the corner-stone of which was laid by Mrs. Hugh Dixson, in October last, is completed, and will be opened by special services to-morrow. On Wednesday evening a public meeting is to be held to celebrate the completion of the structure.

The thirteenth annual meeting of the Alexandria Literary Institute was held in St. Mark's schoolroom, Darling Point, on Monday evening last. There was a full attendance of members, and Mr. T. Joyner in the chair. The committee's report for the past year was submitted, and although it was not so flourishing as some of the previous reports, it showed no actual cause for complaint. The attendance during the year at each weekly meeting showed a slight falling off, but notwithstanding this the members exhibited a steady improvement on all subjects of mutual improvement introduced in the syllabus, the most noticeable being in that of debates, political, historical, and biographical addresses, while a fair share of attention was paid to the writing of original articles for the manuscript journal. Three lectures were delivered during the year. Special reference was made to the excellent library now connected with the institute, the same being replete with works by the most popular authors of ancient and modern times. The financial position of the society was considered satisfactory, there being a small balance in hand after providing for all liabilities. The report was unanimously adopted. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Patron, the Hon. John Marks, M.L.C.; president, the Hon. John Macintosh, M.L.C.; speaker, Mr. W. Stephen; vice-presidents, Mr. T. Ridley and Mr. C. G. Sledge; secretary, Mr. H. Mortimore; treasurer, Mr. A. Maclean; librarian, Mr. B. Joyner; committee, Messrs. John Macintosh, jun., T. Joyner, W. Smithers, E. Stedman, and E. Bracken. The usual vote of thanks to the chairman and office-bearers for past year terminated the proceedings.

A suggestion has been made that the Government should cause the Supreme Court to be connected with the Telephone Exchange, in order that the lawyers whose offices are in Pitt-street and in other places remote from the court might be speedily apprised of the progress of business. It is often found exceedingly inconvenient to the profession to have to wait whilst the parties are sent for in a case which is suddenly called on, and there can be no doubt that the aid of the wire would be productive of a great deal of comfort, whilst it would remove the anxieties of those who generally have sufficient to think of without preparation for surprises.

At the Drapers' Association picnic on Thursday, the toast of the day, "The Drapers' Association," was proposed in a happy speech by Mr. D. O'Connor, M.L.A., who spoke of the importance of the association as bearing upon the interests of the employees, and expressed his opinion that this society would have a tendency to educate other classes to a fairer appreciation of the duties of enlightened citizenship. He also warmly eulogised the energetic secretary, Mr. Caddy. Mr. Jones, of D. Jones and Co., returned thanks.

A meeting of the New South Wales Wealth and Industrial Exhibition Committee was held on Thursday evening, in the Temperance Hall; Mr. W. Richardson occupied the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and confirmed. Correspondence referring to exhibition work, applications for space, and inquiries if models of ships, bridges, &c., made in the colony would be allowed space for exhibition were received; the secretary receiving instructions advising applicants that space would be allotted for all such exhibits. Subscriptions towards the exhibition expenses were received since last meeting from Messrs. Scott, West, and Jacobs. Accounts to date were passed and several members of the committee intimated their willingness to subscribe £25 each towards expenses as the work proceeded. The amended form of application for space, with other printing required, was ordered to be executed for immediate distribution. The meeting then adjourned.

The usual monthly meeting of the committee of the Sydney Mechanics School of Arts was held on Thursday evening last when the ordinary financial and other formal business was transacted, after which it was announced that Mr. Norman Selfe, M.I.C.E., had resigned the position of vice-president, owing to his projected departure for Europe. A motion was passed expressing the regret of the committee at the severance of Mr. Selfe's services from the institution after so many years of usefulness, and it was unanimously resolved that the honorary treasurer, Mr. Richard Teece, should be asked to accept the vacant vice-presidentship. This we understand Mr. Teece has done, and it is understood that Mr. F. J. Thomas, who is daily expected to arrive from England, will be offered the position of honorary treasurer.

The Charity Organisation Society held its ordinary monthly meeting on Thursday last, Mr. Fosbery presiding. Present: Messrs. F. C. Griffiths, C. H. Myles, and the secretary, J. Sidney. The secretary in submitting the usual monthly accounts for payment, drew the attention of the committee to the low state of the funds, and said that unless subscriptions were sent in more freely, only urgent cases could be relieved. The following is the summary for the month:—Applications for relief, 159, comprising 53 married couples, 36 widows, 3 deserted women, 67 single men. Seven cases were refused, found upon investigation to be worthless, four special cases were dealt with, and further assistance granted.

A monthly meeting in connection with the New South Wales Canary Society was held on Wednesday evening, in the Society's rooms, Rainford's Cambridge Club Hotel. Mr. J. Oswald Gilchrist occupied the chair, and a large number of members were present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Further arrangements were made for the first annual show to be held in the Temperance Hall, Pitt-street, on the 8th or 9th of April, and it was arranged that entries should close on Monday, the 17th instant, at 5 p.m. It was also decided to extend the time of receiving the exhibits until 8 o'clock p.m., instead of 7 o'clock, on Monday the 7th April, at which time all exhibits must be in the show-room.

A practical effort in the work of the social amelioration of the larrikins is being carried on at Harris-street, Ultimo, by a number of ladies and gentlemen, many of whom are connected with the Unitarian Church, Liverpool-street. Premises have been secured at Messrs. Cook Brothers' furniture warehouse, opposite the Apollo Hall, and a library, gymnasium, and reading-room have been provided, membership being obtained by the payment of a weekly nominal fee. Each evening instruction is given in various subjects, and at regular intervals concerts are held, the last one taking place on Wednesday evening last. Some 80 lads were present, very many of whom were erstwhile larrikins, but whose behaviour on this occasion was exceedingly good. Several ladies and gentlemen played, sang, and gave recitations in a remarkably effective manner and altogether the evening was a most successful one. The Rev. A. B. Camm was amongst those on the platform. It may, perhaps, be as well to add that any further information concerning what appears to be a highly meritorious work, which has been carried on hitherto with an utter absence of ostentation, may be obtained from the hon. treasurer, Miss C. A'Beckett, of Ashfield, or the secretary, Mr. Macartny, Saxthorpe, Victoria-street, Darlinghurst. The association is called the Young Australian Club.

Under the the auspices of the Democratic Alliance a public meeting was held in the vicinity of the Newtown bridge last night, the object being to protest against the system of assisted immigration. The speakers addressed those present, numbering about 750, from the balcony of the Town Hall Hotel. Mr. G. F. Garten was voted to the chair. Mr. A. Miller moved,—"That in the opinion of the meeting the system of immigration pursued by the Government is unjust and oppressive to the working classes of the colony, and unwarranted by the present state of the labour market, and it should therefore be abolished." The motion was seconded by Mr. H. Brown, and was carried unanimously. Mr. Melville, M.L.A., who was present, attempted to address the meeting, but in consequence of discordant voices being raised, he had to withdraw. It was decided to forward a petition to Parliament embodying a copy of the above resolution.

A child 10 years of age, named Mary Fuller, residing at 71, Riley-street, Woolloomooloo, while sliding on a balcony railing yesterday fell to the ground, a distance of about 12 feet. She sustained a fracture of the skull, and was removed in a comatose state to the hospital, where she lies in a critical condition.

The Argus, speaking of Lord Reay, who it is rumoured has had the vacant Governorship of Victoria offered him, says:—"This nobleman occupies a unique position in the British peerage. He is the head of the Highland clan Mackay, and a Scotch peerage was conferred upon the family in 1628. His ancestor entered the service of the United Provinces towards the close of the 17th century, and the branch of the family to which the present peer belongs has been practically Dutch ever since. On the failure of the direct line the title passed to Lord Reay's father, Baron Mackay d'Ophemert, Holland, who was successively a member of the Second Chamber of the States-General of Holland, vice-president of the Council of State, and Minister of State. He died in 1876, and was succeeded by his son, Sir Donald James Mackay, the present and 11th Baron Reay in the Scotch peerage, who was naturalised by Act of Parliament in 1877, and was created a peer of the United Kingdom on the 8th October, 1881. He was born on the 22nd December, 1839, and is married to the widow of Captain Alexander Mitchell, M.P., of Stow, Midlothian. Lord Reay, who is an intimate friend of Mr. Gladstone, is known to be a man of ability. A few years ago he presided over the National Association for the Promotion of Social Science, and last year, when the Ministry decided to send a special envoy to the Transvaal, Lord Reay was chosen as being likely, from his Dutch ancestry, to bring the matters in dispute between the British Government and the Boers to a satisfactory conclusion."

Prince Bismarck, says the Spectator, has introduced a new bill for insuring workmen against accident. The employers in each trade, or rather, division of trades—upholsterers, for example, being classed with carpenters—are to form an insurance guild, with a corporate existence and corporate liabilities. Each guild will subscribe to create a fund, and out of it will pay certain sums, laid down in the bill, to workmen in the trade when disabled by accident. The State will pay nothing, or the labourers, the employers providing the whole money. We do not know that the bill is objectionable, as, of course, the provision will count in reduction of wages, and it is right that there should be an accident fund; but then we do not see how it "solves the social question," as it is alleged to do. The workmen could set up a general insurance office, if they liked. Already, it is said, the German workmen perceive that the bill, by faintly reducing wages, but alleviating accident, will leave them in much the same position.

The Hongkong Daily Press learns on reliable authority that all operations are suspended for the present throughout Tonquin, pending the arrival of General Millot with reinforcements. As the moon will be full shortly after his arrival, the attack on Bacninh will be pushed forward immediately. It is understood that the French authorities have taken steps by which despatches will be sent from the field of battle direct to Hongkong, for telegraphing to France, without touching anywhere. Meanwhile correspondents are encouraged as little as ever.

Mr. George, the author of "Progress and Poverty," holds (says the N. Y. Tribune) that the true explanation of the genesis of evil in the world must be sought in that baneful institution known as private property in land. If nobody were allowed to own land, according to him, all poverty, and vice, and crime, and misery would disappear. Thenceforth the millennium would begin, the war-drum would throb no longer, the battle-flags would be furled, and in "the Parliament of man, the federation of the world," all tears would be dried, all heart-aches relieved, all beautiful and ennobling ideals be realised. An "Irish Nationalist" writes to the Pall Mall Gazette:—"No Irishman, not even his friend Mr. Davitt, accepts Mr. George's entire programme, for the disciple proposes purchase where the prophet with greater consistency suggests confiscation. Now the great mass of Irish Nationalists utterly repudiate both Mr. George's proposal and Mr. Davitt's amendment. They do not quarrel either with the word 'purchase' or the word 'confiscation.' They wish to get rid of the tribe of worthless and unimprovable parasites called landlords by the quickest and cheapest process available. Extremists would prefer confiscation as the more strictly just and honourable method of dealing with impostors; but since it is out of the question to propose confiscation at present, the next best plan is to commute. But while Mr. George's confiscation proposal, plainly stated, is to ignore alike the spurious claims of the landlord, founded upon fraud and violence, and the equitable claims of the tenant, founded upon centuries of patient labour and sacrifice, Mr. Davitt's amendment would be to buy out the landlord's 'vested interest' and practically confiscate the tenant's; after which both gentlemen would agree in establishing a system of taxation the most preposterous that could be conceived."

Speaking of Bishop Barry, the Church Review of January 4, says:—"Dr. Barry will take to his new sphere of labour, the fifth quarter of the globe, an almost unique reputation. He will take the heartfelt unmixed good wishes of all sections of English Churchmen. He is perhaps the only man of position in England who has never made an enemy or turned away a friend by reason of his theological prepossessions. That this happy faculty will be serviceable to him in Australia we do not doubt. A man of strong will, great energy, robust constitution, and unique intellectual and moral qualities is urgently needed in the antipodes, consequently his call to work there was an unmistakable one."

The Bishop of Exeter, in a speech at Holdsworthy, gave a somewhat melancholy picture of the pressure of routine correspondence on an ordinary Bishop. "The clergy often said that the Bishop worked very hard; but the Bishop worked very hard because the clergy work him. Never a morning passed without the post bringing half a dozen letters, asking, 'If you can only come to open our church,' or 'If you can only come to speak a word on behalf of our schools.' Except a few days he had to set apart, in order to prevent being drowned with correspondence, he did not think that from the beginning of October to the end of July he got a single day to himself. The Bishop resembled a puppet set up on high, with the clergy constantly pulling the strings."

A striking sign of the condition of trade in Shanghai is afforded by the following statement from the N. C. Daily News:—"Only 11 Chinese banks opened for business on the 1st February after the New Year holidays. Of these two are considered good for any engagements they may undertake, and the remaining nine as of second, third, and fourth degrees of financial standing. Last year 41 banks opened, and in 1882 there were 76 banks established here. The number of banks will probably be increased by-and-bye, as was the case last year."

The Saigon Independant gives the following details connected with the death of Hiep-hoa, the late Emperor of Annam. The poison almost failed in its effect, and it was four hours before the death occurred. This time was taken advantage of to make the Emperor sign an act of abdication, in which he declared himself incapable of governing, and even unfit to live, and therefore it was that he died: but before his death he availed himself of his last gleams of reason to abdicate in favour of his well-beloved Tai phu, &c., &c. The funeral of Tu-duc and Hiep-hoa took place on the 2nd January at Hue, unattended with any great pomp. The ceremonies were not witnessed by any Europeans.

Of the sugar industry in this colony and Fiji, the Australian Sugar Planter says:—"The sugar-mills of the Colonial Sugar Refining Company, five in all, situated on the Clarence, Richmond, and Tweed Rivers, are capable of producing 14,000 tons of sugar in the season of five months. The company employ during the sugar season between 1000 and 1200 men, and during the remainder of the year 400 or 500 men. Plantations and mills have also been erected by the company in Fiji, producing 6500 tons of sugar in the season, and employing about 90 white men and 400 to 500 coloured labourers. The greatness of the sugar industry, now so firmly established in New South Wales, may be gauged from the following statement:—The company have invested in plant, buildings, steamers, punts, and land in connection with their business in New South Wales and Fiji, about £650,000. They have between 50 and 60 steam boilers, of large size, at work ashore, besides many others of small powers, and afloat a large number of ocean steamers, paddle tugs, screw tugs, steam launches, large lighters, and cane punts; also a floating dock capable of docking a vessel 140 feet long. A distillery capable of producing about 5000 gallons of spirit a week, is worked in connection with the mills. Most of the rum made is exported. All the mills are worked on what is termed the central factory system. The canes grown by farmers in the neighbourhood of the mills are purchased by the company at a fixed rate per ton for a term of years. All the sugar produced at their mills is refined in Sydney, where the company has one of the most perfect and magnificent establishments in the world. In 1882, 210,568½cwt. of refined sugar, and 623,247 gallons of molasses were manufactured in the colony, as against 31,207cwt. of sugar and 143,795 gallons of molasses ten years ago."

One of the most depressing signs in connection with the stage (writes the Athenæum) is that the familiarity of an actor with a rôle leads habitually to the loss of artistic beauty. Had Shakespeare lived in days like the present, in which a man may play the same character some hundreds, or even thousands, of times, the advice of Hamlet to the players would, it is easy to believe, have been enriched with one or two extra maxims. Here and there only can an artist be found so conscientious and so firm in his knowledge of his art as at the one hundredth performance to maintain, in face of the inducements to extravagance held out by an ignorant public, the moderation he at first observed.

The Penang Times states that the expedition to Tenom by the Dutch troops under Colonel Demmeni, undertaken ostensibly for the rescue of the crew of the British steamer Nisero, landed on 7th January under cover of the fire of the war vessels, after the ultimatum that had been sent to the Rajah had been left unnoticed by him. The enemy received them with great courage, and, casting aside the guerilla mode of warfare lately carried on by them, for the first time after several years, met the fire and the bayonet of the troops with the klewang. A desperate hand to hand fight ensued, in which Lieutenant Snyder and a few men were killed, and Lieutenant Schimmel Penninck and ten men wounded. The enemy, however, retreated, and were pursued to the outskirts of the village, which was set fire to and razed to the ground, with the exception of the Rajah's house. The expeditionary troops then re-embarked, and returned to Oleh-leh, without the crew of the Nisero, whose rescue was the object of the expedition.

In a report which appeared in yesterday's issue respecting the Forbes water supply a slight mistake occurred with regard to the name of the engineer. The engineer employed was Mr. Arthur Blacket. The brass fittings referred to in our columns on the 5th instant, in connection with a report on the alterations recently made to the Marrickville Congregational Church, were of colonial manufacture, having been made by Messrs. Allan A. Marshall and Co., importers and manufacturers, of 9, Macquarie-place, in this city.

Mr. Harold Murray Cockshott, associate to his Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer, has been appointed a commissioner of the Supreme Court for taking affidavits.

The following is the order of musical service at St. Andrew's Cathedral to-morrow afternoon:—Magnificat, Stainer's Gregorian Tones; nunc dimittis, Stainer's Gregorian Tones; anthem, Attwood's, "Turn thy face from my sins."

FIRES IN ADELAIDE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Friday.

Another fire occurred at Kent Town last night, in a wood shed at the back of a house occupied by a Mr. Stout. The neighbours assembled promptly, and the fire was extinguished in half an hour.

This morning, between 1 and 2 o'clock, a window pane in a shop, belonging to a cabinetmaker named Peneschke, was broken in, and a rag saturated with spirits of wine was thrown in. Some neighbours who were on the alert heard the noise and stamped out the fire immediately afterwards. A painter named Nightingale observed a man, whom he believed to be a neighbour of his named Drew, running from Peneschke's fire. Drew was arrested at 8 o'clock this morning, and a preliminary inquiry was held at the Norwood police station, before Commissioner Peterswald. Drew, who is a photographer, only arrived eight months ago from England with his wife and family. When arrested he had a bottle of chloroform on him, which he tried to throw away. His wife states he has been drinking heavily for the last fortnight, and used often to leave home about 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning.

An inquiry was held to-day by the coroner into the cause of the fire which broke out at Hilton, in a cottage belonging to a man named M'Hugh. The evidence showed that the floors and woodwork were saturated with kerosene, and rags similarly saturated, together with pieces of candle, were found in the building. The place was insured. A verdict was returned that the house was wilfully set on fire, but there was no evidence to show by whom.

A meeting was held at the Norwood Town Hall this evening for the purpose of arranging for the relief of the sufferers by the late fires. The Mayor of Norwood presided. A committee was appointed to raise funds.

AMUSEMENTS.

The farewell performances of the Williamsons at the Theatre Royal are announced, and "Rip Van Winkle" will be played for only a few nights more. When "Rip" is withdrawn Charles Reade's drama "It's Never Too Late to Mend" will be revived, and Mr. Dampier, who will appear in his old part of Tom Robinson, will be supported by a well organised company.

"Fedora" has pleased theatre-goers so much that there is no saying when it will be withdrawn from the Opera House stage. Signor and Signora Majeroni, and Miss Novara, with the other ladies and gentlemen in the cast, act so well that this drama of Russian plot and passion goes splendidly, and people go again and again to witness it. The fascination of the story grows upon one, and the darker shades of revenge, dissimulation, and treachery are so relieved by the warmer tints of love and friendship, and by the sparkle of wit, that the result is a stage picture so full of beauty that its full merit cannot be perfectly appreciated until it is seen more than once.

At the Academy of Music to-night, a new realistic and sensational drama, entitled, "A Mystery in the Clouds," will be produced.

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Government have been asked to co-operate in the International Agricultural Exhibition to be held at Amsterdam in August and September next, but they have decided not to comply with the request.

The Rev. J. L. Paton, who has been a prominent supporter of the Premier's Pacific Islands policy, is about to visit England. Mr. Service has taken advantage of his approaching departure to formally thank him for the assistance he has rendered by his addresses in forming public opinion. Mr. Service has added an expression of hope that Mr. Paton will be equally successful in awakening in the United Kingdom a sense of the impolicy of delaying the incorporation of those territories with Australia. The rev. gentleman will carry with him a letter of introduction to the Agent-General, through whose influence he hopes to gain an interview with Lord Derby.

At the Melbourne General Sessions to-day the appeal of Edward Doyle, convicted of being without lawful or visible means of subsistence, he having been arrested with a number of the card-sharping fraternity, was heard before Mr. M'Dermott. The appellant called a number of witnesses to prove that he was in business as a grocer at Newtown, New South Wales. The Bench quashed the conviction.

There was a scene this morning at a meeting of the Tramways Trust Conference, respecting the election of chairman. Alderman O'Grady was elected by 11 votes to 7, defeating the Mayor of Melbourne. The Mayor showed marked feeling and threatened to resign his seat on the trust, and said Mr. O'Grady was a nominee of the Tramway Company.

Mr. Morgan William Smith, mining manager, who has been lodging at Hammond's Temperance Hotel, Lonsdale-street West, was found drowned in a bath to-day. It is thought he was seized with a fit.

The appeal of Samuel Nathan, of Melbourne, furniture dealer, against the decision of the South Melbourne magistrates sentencing him to 12 months' imprisonment for aiding and abetting a keeper of immoral houses, was again entered on to-day at the Melbourne General Sessions, it having been sent over from the last sessions on account of the two magistrates on the bench disagreeing. Judge Quinlan had two other justices on the bench to-day with him. The case was not concluded when the Court adjourned.

The figures presented to the members of the Prahran Board of Advice show that at three schools within the jurisdiction of the board 1500 children are now in average attendance at the voluntary religious teaching initiated by Mr. Saint.

With regard to the Horsham Bank robbery, it is believed that the detectives have a clue to the culprit or culprits.

The slander case, Evans v. Wyatt, which has occupied three days, was concluded in the Supreme Court to-day. The plaintiff is a lay reader of the Church of England, and defendant a hotelkeeper at Wallan Wallan. The slander imputed was the allegation by defendant that plaintiff was guilty of immorality. A verdict was given for plaintiff, damages £250.

Pilot Bower, who has been in the service since 1853, has resigned.

The leading residents of Ballarat propose to give the Railway Commissioners a public reception on their visit to the city, but the chairman, Mr. Speight, on behalf of himself and his colleagues, has desired that no such intention should be carried out.

At the Central Criminal Court to-day, James Marks, late licensee of the Criterion Hotel, Bourke-street, was charged with maliciously wounding Constable Gleeson, who was appointed to watch a right-of-way near defendant's house. The jury found him guilty of common assault, and he was remanded for sentence.

The new council-chamber in the Trades Hall was formally opened this evening. Among the invited guests present were Mr. Justice Higinbotham, Mr. Berry, Chief Secretary, Mr. Deakin, Minister for Public Works, and Mr. Langridge, Commissioner of Customs. The speeches made were mainly of a retrospective character and of local interest.

The inward mail steamer Mirzapore passed Cape Otway at 11.15 p.m., and is expected to reach the Heads at 4.30 a.m. to-morrow.

Arrivals: March 7, Catania (s.), from Hamburg; City of Adelaide (s.). Departures: T. R. Foster, barque, for Newcastle; Buninyong (s.), for Sydney; Glen Mavis (s.), for Sydney.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Friday.

The supporters of the Government in both Houses went a trip to the bay by the steamer Kate this morning, at the invitation of the Premier.

A telegram from Mackay to the Colonial Treasurer reports that a boat, with the master and two hands of the schooner Hugh Ewing, while returning to their vessel, which was lying under Round Top Island, shipped a sea which swamped and sank her. The captain and one man managed to reach the shore, but the third man is still missing.

A miner named William Buddington was killed by a fall of earth in No. 6 North-east Queen Mine, Charters Towers, this afternoon.

The following are the latest Gympie crushings:—Lucknow Extended, 153 tons for 1372oz. gold; a dividend of half-a-crown per share will probably be declared. Phœnix Prospectors, 640 tons for 550oz.; No. 2 and 3 Smithfield, 415 tons for 453oz.; Monkland and Abyssinia, 333 tons for 378oz. of gold. Total crushings cleaned up at Gympie during the month of February were 3864 tons, yielding 4400oz. of gold. The warden states that there are in the Queensland National Bank alone specimens from various mines amounting to between 6000oz. and 7000oz., besides 3000oz. of bar gold, and 2500oz. retorted gold. The warden calls attention to the misleading character of the names in some of the registered mining companies, which are calculated to deceive the public as to the real position of the ground.

Arrivals: March 7, Alexandra (s.), from Cooktown, via ports. The Catterthun (s.), from Sydney, for Hongkong, via ports, passed Cape Moreton at midday. The Derwent (s.), and the Ranelagh (s.), from Rockhampton, and the Corea (s.), from Thursday Island, via ports, are all bar-bound in Wide Bay. The Glanworth (s.) left Rockhampton yesterday afternoon for Sydney. The Wentworth (s.), for Port Douglas, arrived at Townsville this morning. The Governor Blackall (s.), from Cooktown for Brisbane, via ports, with mails per the Dacca, left Port Douglas last night. The Maranoa (s.), for Cooktown, left Port Douglas this morning. The Elamang (s.) arrived at Cooktown this morning from Sydney. The Chang Chow, from Sydney for Hongkong, arrived at Townsville last night. The Naples (s.), from Sydney to Hongkong, left Townsville last night. The Yaralla (s.), for Mackay, arrived at Inskip this afternoon. The Archer (s.), for Sydney, left Keppel Bay last night. The Dacca (s.), from London to Brisbane, left Cooktown last night. The Shannon, an immigrant ship from Glasgow, was towed to the quarantine station to-day.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

The Hon. R. D. Ross, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, was re-elected president of the Royal Agricultural Society at the annual meeting to-day.

Mr. J. K. K. Bond, late town clerk of Port Augusta, was committed for trial there to-day on two charges of embezzling and falsifying the books. Bail was granted.

An attempt to cause an explosion was frustrated last night on the premises of Messrs. Goyer and Co., chemists, Hindley-street. Some miscreant effected an entrance to the premises and removed two screws from the front of the meter in the office at the back part of the building. A strong smell of gas attracted the notice of a gentleman on the opposite side of the street, who without a light entered the premises, discovered the leakage, and plugged up the hole. The detectives consider it a thoughtless prank on the part of boys.

The leave of absence which was granted to the Government Resident in the Northern Territory expired to-day, and his successor will be appointed next week. Probably Mr. T. I. K. Pater, the well-known barrister, will accept the position of special magistrate at Palmerston.

Heavy thunderstorms are reported in the northern parts of the country. The train from Orroroo was stopped for the night, the line being washed away.

Steady rain fell at Port Augusta to-day, and still continues. A flood is reported from the Burra. The water is rushing down the main street at Kooringa in sufficient volume to float a boat.

Yesterday's Gazette contains a notice from the chief inspector of sheep that any person driving, or causing to be driven, sheep across the boundary from either New South Wales or Victoria, without a written permit, will be liable to a penalty not exceeding £200, and not less than £50, or six months' imprisonment. Any lessee of run or owner of sheep, if the permit be not produced, will be authorised to seize the sheep till the inspector examines them, and if they are found to be infected with scab the inspector may destroy them.

TASMANIA.

HOBART, Friday.

H.M.S. Nelson sailed this morning for Sydney. The commander has published a letter thanking the people of Hobart for the kind reception he has met, saying that probably that will be the last time he will visit this place.

A child, named William Henry Rickets, was crushed by a steam street roller passing over him.

Yesterday, at Launceston, Alderman Davis resigned his seat in the City Council, as he receives pay from the Government as a volunteer officer.

There is likely to be a contest for the electorate of Buckingham, the seat for which was vacated by the death of the Hon. T. D. Chapman. Messrs. P. O. Fysh, Russell, and Young are the probable candidates.

There is no opposition so far for West Hobart and Queensborough, the seats for which were vacated through volunteer officers taking pay from the Government.

NEW ZEALAND.

WELLINGTON, Friday.

The Government has resolved to abolish the Colonial Architect's Department and the Public Works and Engineer's Departments in the Middle Islands. It has also been determined to raise the railway goods tariff so as to make the railways pay three per cent. on the cost of construction. A large number of officials have received notice of dismissal.

The Court of Appeal has dismissed both applications for a new trial in the case of Hunt v. Sir Arthur Gordon, and also the appeal against the original verdict for £100 damages awarded to Mr. Hunt.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN FARMERS' ASSOCIATION.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Friday.

To-day the Farmers' Association delegates on concluding their business proceeded to the office of the Commissioner for Lands, for the purpose of laying before Government the resolutions arrived at relating to the land law. The president, in introducing the deputation, said the delegates simply wished to show that they held the same opinions on the most important parts of the policy as they did two years ago. The Commissioner said, as he had stated last year, he was in favour of the greater part of their programme, and his views had not altered materially since. He saw the necessity for further liberalising the land laws, and he was determined to do all he could for the selectors. The question of classification of the land was one of great importance, and he felt sooner or later the principle must be introduced. A great deal of the land occupied by the farmers was not worth more than 10s. per acre, but he could not reduce the price below £1 per acre, and his own knowledge of the country would induce him to reduce the price of some land in the country to 5s. an acre if he had power. He could not give a positive answer to the question, but he felt strongly about it, and he would urge it upon his colleagues, with the view of seeing if something could not be done in the next Legislature upon the subject.

COUNTRY NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondents.)

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The working of the hydraulic cranes is occasionally interrupted through the want of fresh water.

The first annual demonstration of the coal-miners of this district takes place to-morrow at 11 o'clock at Wallsend. The city and country members, with Messrs. Cameron and Garrard, are expected to be present.

GRAFTON, Friday.

280 acres of land were selected on Thursday in five portions.

Professor St. Leger, the horse-tamer, who is at present here giving exhibitions of his skill, had a very vicious horse on Thursday, which, after having been broken into the plough, had to be given up for his kicking propensities. After a couple of hours' treatment the animal submitted to be ridden, and permitted his hind legs to be lifted.

GLEN INNES, Friday.

Mr. James Berry is extending and improving the Commercial Hotel, which, when finished, will be one of the best out of Sydney.

Messrs. Proudfoot are advertising all their valuable draught stock for sale next month.

GIRILAMBONE, Friday.

A public meeting was held at the Royal Hotel last night to urge upon the Government the necessity of at once opening the railway for traffic here, and a petition to the Minister for Works, setting forth the hardships which the public here are unnecessarily called upon to endure through the delay in opening the line, was unanimously adopted. The chairman, Mr. A. Walker, was requested to ask our members, Messrs. Coonan and Stokes, to present the petition to the Minister when completed. The meeting also expressed great indignation at the action of the authorities in fencing across the main Bourke road at the railway crossing—411 miles and some chains—leading to this town, and requested the chairman to take whatever steps may be necessary to have the fence removed, and the crossing reopened at once.

WEST MAITLAND, Friday.

The Hunter River Agricultural and Horticultural Association is making a great many permanent improvements to their show-ground, in anticipation of the forthcoming annual show, which takes place on the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th of next month. The improvements, which will cost about £600, will be a great convenience to both exhibitors and visitors, and although the season has been such an exceptionally dry one, the committee expect to make the show quite equal to their last.

CARCOAR, Friday.

The girl Jane Core, who was lately severely burnt in Blayney whilst attending to her domestic duties, now lies in Carcoar hospital in a precarious condition, and but faint hopes of her recovery are entertained.

COOTAMUNDRA, Friday.

The foundation stone of the Presbyterian Church was laid by Mr. M'Clintock yesterday afternoon, in connection with which a very successful tea meeting and concert was held.

GUNDAGAI, Friday.

An inquest was held by the coroner to-day concerning the death of Dugald M'Lennan, who was drowned on Wednesday last, which resulted in a verdict of accidental death by drowning.

BRAIDWOOD, Friday.

As Mr. Thomas Lowry, a farmer, residing near Major's Creek, was returning from Mr. Knaggs's funeral yesterday, his horse bolted against a tree, the rider's death being instantaneous.

WAGGA WAGGA, Friday.

The returns from vineyards this year will not be so great owing to the hot winds having shrivelled up the grapes, causing the skins to become toughened to such an extent that the little juice they contain cannot be secured. The season has in fact been most unfavourable for winegrowers in this district.

The Pall Mall Gazette has introduced a new horror into public life. It has addressed a circular to all Liberal unofficial members, asking whether they are in favour of making the Franchise Bill the first item in the programme of next session, and whether they would extend the bill to Ireland, with some other matters. A return of the answers is to be published when they are complete, but the editor already reports an approach to unanimity. Only 10 per cent. of the members as yet heard from object to put Franchise first, and only one member objects to include Ireland in the scheme. The facts are interesting, but our contemporary should reflect on the reply received by a Boston editor to a circular asking all members of the State their religious faith. One Senator told him that he believed in a God, and humbly hoped there was a heaven, "a place where there is less friction than in this world, and no editors."—Spectator.

(From our own Correspondent.)

AUSTRALIAN ELEVEN v. FIFTEEN OF VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

This match was commenced on the M. C. C. Ground to-day under the auspices of the Victorian Cricketing Association. Not much excitement was shown in the event, which was regarded very much in the light of an exhibition game. In the absence of G. Giffen, who had to go to Adelaide on urgent business, G. Alexander, manager of the Australian team, played; and the Victorian team was weakened by the absence of Turner and M'Shane, who were unable to be present. The fifteen as constituted is weak in bowling, but includes some good batsmen. The proceedings had to be closed an hour before the usual time, in consequence of rain intervening; but the match will in any case have to be finished on Monday. Phillips acts as umpire for the Australian Eleven, and Elliott for the Fifteen, who are captained by Horan, Murdoch doing similar duty for the Eleven. Horan being successful in the toss, elected to bat, sending in Trinnick and Bruce on a splendid wicket. Palmer started the bowling to Bruce, who negotiated the two first balls, but was clean bowled by a third. Horan then joined Trinnick, and the two faced for some time with some cautious play the bowling of Palmer and Cooper. Cooper at last got Trinnick to hit one of his "curly" ones, and it went into M'Donnell's hands at point. 2-12-27. Trinnick's 12 comprised some nice hits, but the field were too well placed for him. Walters joined Horan, and when luncheon time came the twain had raised the score to 61. After luncheon the play was for some time very tame, a good hit being a novelty and greatly appreciated. Walters appeared to have, however, with Horan, thoroughly warmed to the work, and collared the bowling, when he was unfortunately run out. The fault was, however, his own, as he should not have started. 3-33-70. Lewis was next man in, and soon gave a chance to Bonnor in the slips, but it did not come off then. Another spell of slow play then followed, and soon after the board showed 80. After 3 being scored for a bit by Horan, off Palmer, Lewis was cleaned bowled by the South Melbourne crack. 4-2-83. Smith then partnered Horan, and the two played merrily for some time. When the score stood at 99, Boyle went on bowling at Cooper's end. Horan continued to bat freely, and Smith played prettily. At 118 Midwinter took the ball in place of Palmer, and a ball from Midwinter proved too much for Smith, who sent it hard right into the bowler's hands. 5-17-121. Horan was next joined by Harry, and the two gave the field some considerable trouble before they were parted, notwithstanding several changes of bowling. Harry finally succumbed to one of Bonner's fast ones, after putting together 18. Six for 158. Groube succeeded, and had made 6 when Horan, who had played a brilliant innings of 83, was caught at the wickets by Blackham off a fast ball of Bonnor's. Owing to the rain commencing and continuing, play ceased for the day.

The following are the scores:—

Victorian Fifteen.

Bruce, b Palmer	0
Trinnick, c M'Donnell, b Palmer	12
Horan, c Blackham, b Bonnor	83
Walters, run out	23
Smith, c and b Midwinter	17
Lewis, b Palmer	2
Harry, b Bonnor	18
Groube, not out	6
Sundries	10
Total for 7 wickets	171

THE AUSTRALIAN ELEVEN.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Spofforth will be one of the Australian team. There are now 13 definitely settled on, viz., Blackham, Bonnor, Boyle, A. Bannerman, W. H. Cooper, G. Giffen, Midwinter, Murdoch, M'Donnell, Palmer, Spofforth, Scott, with Mr. Alexander as manager. W. Giffen, of Adelaide, may go at the last moment as fourteenth.

THE V. R. C. AUTUMN MEETING.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The doings at the Flemington training ground, this morning, excited much interest, there being a good deal of curiosity to see how the cracks for the Champion Stakes performed their last pipe-opener, after their preparation for the great event of to-morrow. Commotion cantered once round the sand track, and then went on for another round at a strong gallop, the last five furlongs being covered in 1 minute 10 seconds. He was accompanied by Creswick, and looked as if he could run over him at any part of the gallop. He looked remarkably well, and has evidently done a very strong preparation without suffering any ill effects. Navigator cantered a couple of miles with Olga and the Melanie colt for companions. The trio rattled home the last mile at a smart gallop, the time being 1min. 50secs. Martini-Henry accompanied by Despot, cantered and finished with a strong spurt of eight furlongs, the colt going very freely and well. Archie and the Drummer did a good striding gallop once round the tan gallop. Brown and Rose was sent a good spin over the five furlongs track, Bargo doing a similar gallop in fine style. Magnet hurt himself so much in the Australian Cup on Thursday that he had this afternoon to be shot.

The following handicaps were declared to-day:—

The Champion Race being the only betting event to be decided at the V.R.C. Autumn Meeting, business at the Victoria Club was at a complete standstill this evening. To this must be added the generally severe knock received by the ring over the victories of Malua and Morpeth, while the presence of Martini-Henry has paralysed speculation on the great weight for age race. The following are the prices on the Champion Race:—2 to 1 on Martini-Henry (tk. and off.), 100 to 30 against Commotion (tk. and off.), 100 to 15 against Off Colour (off.), 10 to 1 against Navigator (off.), 100 to 8 against Le Grand (off.), 20 to 1 against Sting (off.), 20 to 1 against Sweet William (off.).

The following are the latest scratchings:—All engagements: Ferryman, Magnet, Sinking Fund. Autumn Handicap: Ringwood, Aide-de-Camp, Magnet. Nursery Handicap: Manfred, Concord, Leporello. All-aged Stakes: Lion King. Free Handicap: Duenna, Waterloo, Ironmaster, Northern Light.

The following are left in the Champion Stakes:—Commotion, Navigator, Martini-Henri, Sweet William, Le Grand, Off Colour, Sting, and Ironhand.

SALE OF BLOOD STOCK.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The fourth autumn blood stock sale was held at the Pastoral Hotel, Newmarket, by Messrs. W. C. Yuille and Co. The catalogue comprised the Glenormiston and Cairn Curran yearlings, as also nine two-year-olds and three-year-olds from Glenormiston, and a couple of yearlings from St. Albans. The sale was considered a very good one. The Glenormiston lots sold for 1721 guineas in all; the only one over 100 guineas was the bay filly by King Cole, for which 270 guineas was paid by Mr. T. Chirnside. The Cairn Curran yearlings, six in number, made a total of 390 guineas. Mr. James Wilson's bay colt by King of the Ring, from Maid of all Work, was sold to Mr. W. E. Dakin for 260 guineas. His brown colt by First King—Senorita, was sold to Mr. M. O'Shanassy for 310 guineas. A bay filly by King Cole, sister to South Hamilton, was sold to Mr. S. G. Cook for 155 guineas.

THE TURF.

The Autumn Meeting of the Victorian Racing Club will be brought to a termination at Flemington to-day, when the great race of the meeting—the Champion Stakes—will be run. The public form shown by the various candidates during the season points to the probability of a great and exciting contest between the crack three-year-old, Martini-Henry, Navigator, and Commotion; and although Sting, Sweet William, Off Colour, Iron Hand, and Le Grand may start, the race is generally considered to be a contest between the first-named three. Martini-Henry, who is the property of the Hon. James White, and was bred in New Zealand, is by the imported horse Musket, from Sylvia, the dam of such racing celebrities as Robinson Crusoe, Robin Hood, and Goldsbrough. He made his first appearance in public at the late V. R. C. spring meeting, when he carried his colours to the front for the Derby, the Melbourne Cup, and the Produce Stakes. He was next saddled for the St. Leger on Saturday last, and, after making nearly all the pace, won easily from Off Colour and Arabis. Apart from the brilliancy of the colt's performances, the stable is proud to be in form by the running of Bargo, Salvo, and Morpeth, and therefore he is quite entitled to his position as first favourite for to-day's race. Few horses have performed so consistently as Navigator, for he opened his career by running a dead heat with the South Australian colt Guesswork for the Maribyrnong Plate, won by Segenhoe, and afterwards won the V. R. C. Normanby Stakes, the Ascot Vale Stakes, A. J. C. Champagne Stakes, the A. J. C. Derby, Mares' Produce Stakes, the V. R. C. Derby, the V. R. C. St. Leger, the Australian Cup, and the A. J. C. St. Leger, and was only beaten three times during the intervals between the races mentioned. Commotion did not commence so well, and has sustained several defeats, but amongst the great races to his credit are the V. R. C. St. Leger, Town Plate, the Veteran Stakes, Canterbury Plate, Champion Stakes (as a four year old with 9 stone up in 5.26), and the Melbourne Stakes, and it should not be forgotten that with 10st. 1lb. in the saddle, he ran a good third for the last Melbourne Cup. The struggle between such equine warriors can hardly fail to be a great one, and it is probable that even the wonderful time accomplished by First King in 1878, and Commotion last year, will be surpassed, and that a nearer approach will be made to the fastest time on record, which is 5.21, by Ratsplan, in England. The crack three-year-old will have the benefit of being ridden by Hales, and the majority of good judges hold the belief that he will be able to retain his unbeaten certificate when opposed to such horses as Navigator, Commotion, and Sting. The following was the state of the betting in Sydney last night:—2 to 1 on Martini-Henry, 5 to 2 v. Commotion, 4 to 1 v. Navigator, 10 to 1 v. any other.

We learn by telegram from Wellington (N.Z.) that the Wanganui Cup resulted as follows: Poet, 1; Administrator, 2; Refrigerator, 3.

PRINCE ALFRED YACHT CLUB.

The usual monthly meeting of the Prince Alfred Yacht Club was held at Aarons' Exchange Hotel on Wednesday afternoon last, Vice-Commodore Underwood in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Messrs. H. Milford and W. Anslow were elected as members, and one new member was proposed. The secretary informed the meeting that in the race for Vice-Commodore Underwood's prize, and second and third prizes added by the club, the Waitangi was first, Sirocco second, and Australian third; but in consequence of the disqualification of the Waitangi for infringing rule 4 of the sailing directions, the committee had awarded the first prize to Sirocco and the second prize to the Australian. No third prize would therefore be given, the Ione, who was third, being of the same class as the Australian. In the third-class race, for a prize of £10, the Australian was the winner. A letter was read from Dr. Mackellar, suggesting that an inquiry should be held into the cause of the collision between the Sao and Guinevere, and that a select committee should be appointed for that purpose, and suggesting the names of several gentlemen to act thereon. The meeting was unanimously of opinion that, as no rule existed bearing on the case, and as both Dr. Milford and Mr. S. Want had already met and settled the matter to their mutual satisfaction, and had not expressed any wish as to their desire for such an inquiry, they had no power to take any action in the matter, and the secretary be requested to inform Dr. Mackellar to that effect. The chairman informed the meeting of his intention to offer another prize, to be competed for in a general handicap this season. Some general business having been transacted, the meeting then adjourned.

SYDNEY AMATEUR SAILING CLUB.

The usual monthly meeting of this club was held last night, at the Exchange Hotel. Mr. Williams occupied the chair. There was a large attendance of members. The following gentlemen were elected members of the club:—Messrs. A. Blackford, C. Thornton, H. C. Carpenter, S. B. Bailey, Cox, Jury, and W. Mason. Prizes amounting in value to £28 were paid over. Mr. Ainsworth received Mr. Geddes' 10-guinea prize, offered in the Hurry Scurry Race. The meeting seemed to be agreed that Mr. Ainsworth was deserving of the prize. Mr. M'Murtrie, winner of the second prize, handed it to the club funds, as there had been some disagreement about it, and took the third prize. In the 22 feet boat race Mr. Ainsworth took first prize with the Regina. Mr. Cameron, of the Sophia, took Mr. Richardson's prize in the 16-feet dingy race. After a long discussion, resolutions were passed affirming that all flying starts should take place punctually to time, the starter to have no power to detain the boats, and making a similar provision in regard to starts from moorings. A sub-committee was appointed to inquire into the desirability and practicability of instituting club-boat sheds, and report thereon. After further conversation on technical matters connected with the rules, the meeting terminated.

The race for half-deck boats belonging to this club, over 20 feet, takes place to-day. The following boats have entered:—Water Nymph, 30 feet, Mr. J. G. Griffin (this is a new craft, and it will be her first performance in public, and if it is a light day ought to give a good account of herself); Thisbe, Mr. J. J. Richardson; Eula, Mr. Goddard; and Petrel, Mr. J. Newton. Neither the Asteroid, Buttercup, nor the Ethel, all well-known performers at regattas, have entered. There being only one entry for the 19 feet skiff race, this has fallen through.

CRICKET.

Stedman Imperial Cup.—The last match but three for this trophy is announced for this afternoon on the cup wickets, Moore Park, between the Conservatives and the Carthonas. Both teams being confident and well matched, a close contest may be anticipated. Owing to the drawing in of the evenings, the manager contemplates starting all matches in future at the exact time, 2.15, without regard to the absence of any players.

BICYCLING.

A match was made on Wednesday night, at Mr. P. Noonan's Hotel, Castlereagh-street, between T. H. Chapman, of Sydney, and J. Rolfe, of Melbourne, champion of Australia, to run three races, best two out of three, one, three, and five miles, for £50 a-side, on April 5. The champion allows a start of 40 yards in the mile, 200 yards in the three miles, and 400 yards in the five miles. As it is the first race of the kind in this colony, it should attract considerable attention.

THE WEATHER IN THE COUNTRY.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondents.)

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The weather is again sultry.

BRAIDWOOD, Friday.

The weather is clear again, but without the much-needed rain.

WAGGA WAGGA, Friday.

The weather continues very dry, and water is getting very scarce, having to be drawn from Milburn Creek, about four miles distant, at 3s. 6d. per cask. There is little or no sickness about.

GLEN INNES, Friday.

The weather still continues dry; if rain does not come soon, grass will be scarce for the winter.

GUNNEDAH, Friday.

No rain worth reporting has fallen here lately. The weather continues very hot and dry. The Namoi river has stopped running here. Grass is very scarce, and the stock in a low condition, and on some stations in this district the cattle are dying rapidly.

COOTAMUNDRA, Friday.

The weather here still continues extremely dry.

CARCOAR, Friday.

The weather here is pleasant, but mild and dry.

WENTWORTH, Friday.

After a four months' drought rain commenced at noon to-day, and it is now raining heavily.

COOTAMUNDRA AGRICULTURAL SHOW.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

COOTAMUNDRA, Friday.

The Agricultural Show yesterday passed off very satisfactorily, the attendance being about 1200. There was a splendid display of agricultural machinery, Messrs. T. Robinson of Melbourne being well represented. Mr. William Ritchie, of Granville, had a fine display of ploughs, and Messrs. M'Lean, Brothers, and Rigg, of Sydney, had a large collection of agricultural machinery. Mr. H. D. Coker, a local farmer, exhibited a fine collection of farming implements, including a very complete 12 horse power portable farming steam engine, fitted with the patent spark extinguisher. The local firms, comprising Messrs. J. and E. Barnes, Matthews Brothers, and R. Hastie, were well represented. The exhibits in fruit were very few, but were very fine. Wheat exhibits were also few but good. Prize wheat weighed 68½lb. to the bushel. Buggy horses and hackneys were not a very high standard. The show dinner was held in the evening, at which there was a good attendance. It was suggested that an effort should be made to hold a combined show of all the stock and agricultural exhibits, instead of having two, as heretofore.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondents.)

MOUNT MACDONALD, Friday.

The Balmoral tribute claim was cleared up yesterday. From 90 tons of quartz the total yield was 133oz. 3dwt. The Queen of the Mount, also on tribute, finished a crushing of 82 tons for a total of 26oz. 18dwt. 5gr. The King of the West Company finished crushing last Saturday about 300 tons, but the result is not publicly known.

CARCOAR, Friday.

133oz. of gold have been brought to town from Mount Macdonald to-day, the result of the crushing of 90 tons from the tributary's claim on the Balmoral Gold-mining Company's ground. The Queen of the Mount tributary have just finished 82 tons, yielding 26oz. 18dwt. 15gr. The Woman's Lease is looking well. Lang and party have burnt some stone, and have now resumed crushing. Owing to the drought many claims in the district have been retarded in their progress of operations, and several batteries are now lying idle.

GUNDAGAI, Friday.

A trial of a sample of stone from one of the reefs at Clarendons, sent by Mr. F. G. Plunkett, and crushed at Adelong, yielded nearly 2oz. to the ton. A party is being organised to work the reef.

The mining manager of the Victory Gold-mining Company, Limited, under date 7th March, telegraphed to the secretary, at Exchange, Sydney: "North Drive improving, commenced crushing fourth; looking fully equal to last."

The mining manager of the Brickwood Tin Mining Company, Limited, reports by telegram March 7 that in the deep lead he has come upon very rich wash, 27 inches deep, in the western drive.

The mining manager of the Monarch Tin-mining Company, Limited, under date 7th March, telegraphed—"Grand show of ore in winze 6 feet wide, 8 feet high; 30 per cent. Leaving to-day for Port Douglas, thence Sydney."

The mining manager of the Union Gold-mining Company, Limited, Dalmorton, Grafton, reports, under date 2nd instant, as follows:—"It is now raining steadily, and as I am anxious to get back to the mine I have but little time to write. I completed cutting the race yesterday, but have still to put in five or six shots near the head, and I expect to finish it entirely on Tuesday. Further report shortly."

The mine manager of the Stannifer Bischoff Tin-mining Company, Stannifer, on the 3rd reports as follows:—"In forwarding report for week of work done in the mine, at the 70-feet level the stone appears to assume a nearly horizontal position again. There are two belts of chlorite running parallel with the tin stone, and carry very rich ore. These belts average about 2 feet in width, and they are good indicators. Stone broken for fortnight at 70-feet level, 10 tons. The 23-feet level looks very promising. Stone broken, about 20 tons. Machinery: The battery is all completed for work with the exception of one small pipe. Two buddles and tie are finished, and if no accidents happen, will start to-morrow. The following telegram was received dated the 6th instant:—'Battery started and working splendidly, also pump, which throws volumes of water; present gratings will answer very well, can save all tin. Crushing at present poorest of stone to fill up cracks of buddles, &c. Will forward you sample of ore at once.'"

A "FRENCH" VIEW OF OUR WINE DUTIES—AN EXPLANATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—To-day's issue of your paper contains a letter signed "Fair Play." As the writer maligns our wines, and makes statements at variance with known facts, I may be pardoned if I place the matter before the public in its proper light. If after "32 years dealing in these wines" such statements are made, Fair Play must either be dull of comprehension or have allowed his own interests to sway his judgment. He says 5s. per gallon duty is a protective one, and that 2s 6d. would more than double the consumption of foreign wines. This statement is only too true; but he ought to know that such a reduction would, within twelve months, completely smother the wine-growing industry, for our wines cost to grow double what they do in France, owing to the cheap labour obtainable there. Your correspondent, I am glad to see, says that the "foreign" wine consumption would more than double; but he forgets, in advocating the introduction of French wines, that other countries than France would send their wines. Hamburg would increase her shipment to a hundred thousand gallons or so of her "French red" (which can be landed here at about 2s. 6d. per gallon), and the shipments of Tarragona ports (worth here about 3s. per gallon) would treble.

With "Fair Play's" 32 years' experience he must know that Hamburg red does not contain more than 20 per cent. of grape-juice, if so much, and that Tarragonas are made-up wines, the juice of the grape being the least used constituent. The bucket of slime taken from the bottom of a quarter-cask (of 30 gallons) of Tarragona would be an edifying spectacle to lovers of cheap port, and possibly enlighten "Fair Play." Besides these two decoctions, France would send us her cheap clarets, which you, in an able leader, have pointed out are not all we can desire. Out of 650 bottles of wine only 10 per cent. contained the juice of the grape, these sample bottles being purchased from different parts of the city of Paris for analysis. If the Parisians will do this amongst their own people, supposed to be judges of wine, what would they give to us poor foreigners? I have one view of the question which even "Fair Play" cannot answer. France imports 119 millions of gallons of Spanish light wines, besides millions of gallons of Italian wines, fabricates over 50 millions of so-called wine from Smyrna and Cyprus raisins, and over 46 millions of gallons of wine are made from the hulls of grapes, with sugar, water, and chemicals added, making a total of more than 216 millions of gallons of wine, which, after being manipulated by the wine manufacturers or merchants, becomes claret, and is ready for export. The natural question arises, if all this quantity of wine, half of which is manufactured, and the other half comes from other countries, is turned into French claret, how are we to know which is the genuine article, for very few of us have 32 years' experience?

As you put it, the Premiers Crus can afford to pay a duty of 10s. per dozen when they sell for from 56s. to 80s. per dozen, and the amount of the duty as at present charged only acts as a salutary check on our being flooded with wines such as I have described.

"Fair Play" again commits an unpardonable blunder for one who arrogates to himself such an extended knowledge of the wine trade. He describes this cheap wine coming from France as containing only "11 per cent. of alcohol, whereas our colonial wines generally average from 25 to 32 per cent."

Mr. J. B. Keene, of the London Custom-house, after examining 37 samples of French wines sent to the International Exhibition of 1874, found they averaged 20·47 per cent. of spirit; and although our Albury wines average from 24 to 28 per cent. of spirit, the Hunter and Paterson wines do not contain more than an average of from 18 to 20 per cent., and if made after the fashion of 44 millions of gallons of so-called French clarets (with sugar, grape hulls, water, and chemicals), no doubt a much lower percentage of alcohol could be obtained, and wine of 11 or 12 per cent. made to order.

Your correspondent, after treating us to the above misleading statements, says, "Indeed, it is an established fact that no claret can be grown here." I deny this, as I have heard numbers of French gentlemen say that our common dry red wine from the Hunter district was far superior to cheap French clarets, and its purity could not be challenged, because it has quite enough natural strength, and only requires age and attention to enable it to compete with medium clarets, and we know of no ingredients that can possibly enhance its value. Your correspondent's "fearlessly asserting that more than half of the colonial wines offered for sale are not by any means perfect wines" (I suppose he means pure wines) is a satisfactory statement for the famous French wines bought in Paris from different parts of that city showed that 90 per cent. of the samples were found to be "fabricated," whereas only 50 per cent. of our wines are "doctored" according to "Fair Play." To those who have confidence in his experience such results favour our wines largely. "Fair Play" has shown such animus to our wine industry that I, as a wine-grower, cannot let such statements go unchallenged.

The whole question comes to this, that we are as liable to get adulterated wines with a duty as without one; and people purchasing should go to respectable practical wine merchants, who either grow what they sell, or at least deal directly with the grower. To lower the duty would practically extinguish an industry which at present is only a struggling one. We wine-growers have to contend against too many who under the name of "Fair Play" seek to drag our produce into disrepute by misrepresenting us.

In conclusion, your correspondent would do well to remember the old saying, "fools rush in where angels fear to tread," and give us a little more of the "fair play" he uses as his nom de plume. I write with the desire that your readers may come at a correct idea of the subject at issue.

I am, &c.,

American Jewellery.—The great home of the jewellery trade in the United States is Providence, Rhode Island. It seems that there are here 184 manufacturing establishments, employing about 3500 hands, and producing goods to the value of 5,775,955 dols. annually. The manufacture began soon after the revolution, and in 1805 there were four large establishments. The city also makes not less than 87 per cent. of the screws used in the United States, and 2,340,000 pieces of prints during the year. There are, all told, 2383 manufacturing establishments in the city, with a total capital of 28,957,659 dols., employing 26,278 hands, and turning out a yearly product of 43,121,053 dols. Of the 2383 factories, breweries and liquors have the greatest number—435; clothing next, 315; jewellery next, 184; and boots and shoes, 147. The hardware, sewing machines, and screw factories have the most capital invested, viz.:—3,800,000 dols.; jewellery next, 3,225,500 dols.; chemicals, 2,000,000 dols.; machinery, steam engines, and clothing, each over 1,500,000 dols.; and woollen mills and silver ware, over 1,800,000 dols. The jewellery product is much the most valuable, as we have seen above, amounting to 5,775,975 dols. No other product reaches 3,000,000 dols.; and only steam engines, chemicals, and drugs, clothing, hardware, and silver ware turning out 2,000,000 dols.

THE LAND AND TAXATION.

It would seem to be generally acknowledged that the time has come when the wholesale alienation of the public lands should at least be checked, and a larger portion of the public expenditure be derived from revenue than has hitherto been the case in New South Wales. Putting aside, for the moment, all question as to whether the settlement of the country has really been promoted by the sale of the public estate at the rate of some 2,000,000 acres per annum, it is clear that this course cannot be pursued beyond a limited range; and, indeed, we are already visibly approaching its terminus. No matter what opinion we may entertain regarding the scheme for the taxation of property which was propounded and abandoned by the Government at the beginning of the present session, it is not possible to shut one's eyes to the fact that a larger share of the public burdens must be thrown on property than it now bears. It is not our purpose, however, on the present occasion to review and discuss the proposals that have been made for the regulation of the financial affairs of the colony in the future. Our aim is of a humbler kind. What we specially propose is simply to present an outline of the history of taxation in so far as it relates to the situation in New South Wales, for a survey of the antecedents of that situation will not only enable us to understand it more thoroughly than we would otherwise do, but will also suggest solutions of the problem with which we have to deal.

It is necessary to go a long way back to find the condition from which the present state of affairs as regards taxation has proceeded. Our land system and our taxation system are imports from the old country, and we have only very partially modified them. In England at the present moment, as our readers are well aware, the effects of the land system and of the existing incidence of taxation are being discussed with an earnestness and thoroughness that is wholly without precedent, and it would seem that great and radical changes are impending. Already, in the Irish Land Act a breach has been effected in the institution of private property in land. The application of purely commercial principles to the regulation of the relations between landlords and tenants has been abandoned so far as Ireland is concerned. There is no longer freedom of contract between landlord and tenant in the Emerald Isle. That the land legislation which has been passed for the relief of Ireland will in course of time be extended to England and Scotland hardly admits of doubt: and it is plain, moreover, that the new departure taken in the Irish Land Act admits of, if it does not even positively demand, further development. The land movement that is now in progress in Great Britain is manifestly of the most direct and momentous importance to the inhabitants of every dependency and province of the British empire, for any radical reforms in the land system that are effected there will immediately reproduce themselves in the most remote of the colonies—if, indeed, the mother country does not find her action anticipated by the more enterprising and intelligent of her children.

The connection between the land system and the system of taxation existing in a country will be apparent from the hurried glance we are about to take of their history in Great Britain. As a recent writer of great note has well said, the relation in which the people at large stand towards the soil is the "primary social adjustment." On the land system, more than on anything else, the social organisation of the community depends. It will greatly simplify the task we have undertaken if we cite a few passages from the great speech on Land Taxation which was delivered in the English House of Commons by Richard Cobden on the 14th of March, 1842, for there we shall find a succinct and comprehensive summary of the course that has been followed in regard to this matter in England. We the more readily take advantage of the great freetrader's deliverance on this most important subject because it finds no place in any collection of his speeches, and is not referred to in the very able and otherwise tolerably exhaustive biography of Cobden which we owe to Mr. John Morley, M.P. Passing over the opening sentences of this speech, which had for their main object to show that "the landowners sustained no special burdens which entitled them to tax the rest of the community, but that, on the contrary, it was notorious throughout the world that they had been employing themselves as legislators in placing the burdens on others for the purpose of exempting themselves," we come to those portions which deal directly with the land tax. "The only peculiar State burden borne by the land," he declares, "is the land tax, and I will undertake to show that the mode of levying that tax is fraudulent and evasive—an example, in fact, of legislative partiality and injustice second only to the Corn Law itself. An hon. gentleman below me (Mr. Childers) has alluded to the fact that under despotic Governments taxation falls chiefly upon land. Our own country has illustrated this, as a brief review of the proportion of the land tax to the whole revenue will show. For a period of 150 years after the conquest, the whole of the revenue of the country was derived from the land. For the next century, down to the reign of Richard III., it was nine-tenths. During the next seventy years, to the time of Mary, it fell to three-fourths. From this time to the end of the Commonwealth, land appears to have yielded one-half of the revenue. Down to the reign of Anne it was a fourth. In the reign of George I. it was one-fifth. In George the Second's reign the land yielded one-seventh of the revenue. From 1793 to 1816 (during the period of the property tax) land contributed one-ninth; from which time to the present one twenty-fifth only of the revenue has been derived from the land. Thus the land, which anciently paid the whole of the taxation, paid now only a fraction of one twenty-fifth, notwithstanding the immense increase which had taken place in the value of the rental. The people had fared better under the despotic monarchs than when the powers of the State had fallen into the hands of a landed oligarchy, who first exempted themselves from taxation, and next claimed compensation by a corn-tax for their heavy and peculiar burdens(!). The land tax was in reality a substitute for the ancient feudal tenures. The land was formerly held by right of feudal services." At this point Cobden quoted a few sentences from Blackstone, describing the commutation in the reign of William and Mary of the then remaining feudal services of landholders into a land tax of 4s. in the £ of real rental, and proceeded:—"Now could anyone suppose that land would always remain at the valuation of 1692? And yet it was upon that valuation that the land tax was charged. . . The land tax was now levied only upon a rental of £9,000,000 a year, the valuation of 1692, whereas the right hon. gentleman (Sir Robert Peel) in bringing forward his Budget had estimated the value of real property in Great Britain at £72,000,000 a year. Why, then, should not the 4s. in the pound be levied on this amount instead of on the rental of 1692?"

It need hardly be added that there has been no revaluation of the land of England for the purpose of land taxation during the 32 years that have elapsed since Cobden uttered these words. In 1882 the land tax levied in England realised a total of £1,072,000 on the nine millions at which the land rental was assessed in 1692, although, as will be clear to every one who considers the matter for a moment, the value of the landed property of England has increased during the past two centuries a dozen or a score of times. The passing reference that Cobden makes to the action of the Commonwealth in regard to the land tax requires to be supplemented, for it has a most important bearing on the subject with which we are dealing. It was to the Commonwealth that England was first indebted for the imposition of excise. We cannot do better than furnish our readers with a few characteristic extracts from William Cobbett's "Legacy to Labourers," from which an account of this important incident in the history of the land laws and of taxation in England may be derived. Very savage is Cobbett's denunciation of "Cromwell and his vile associates," who were mostly landowners, and especially of "Prymm, one of the most cunning of the scoundrels," for relieving themselves and their brother landholders of their obligations to the Crown after the abolition of the monarchy, and imposing taxation on the people to furnish the revenue previously derived from their estates. "When King Charles had been put to death," he writes, "and Cromwell and his associates had seized upon the powers of Government, there was, of course, no King to receive the services and fines, and other parts of the services aforementioned; but there was a people, and as this revenue had enabled the King to carry on the Government without taxing the people, these new rulers ought to have taken care that, however they had modified the manner of receiving the revenue, the same amount of revenue ought to have been drawn from these estates. This was dictated by common justice; but these men were actuated by no feeling of justice towards the people, and they laid the foundation of the very grievous hardships of which we, even to this day, have to complain." Cobbett next refers to the introduction of the excise laws:—"Notwithstanding the passing of a resolution in 1642 by the House of Commons, denying that they intended to introduce excise, and saying that the current rumours to that effect were false and scandalous, the following year the hypocrites," as he calls them, "gathered troops around them to defend them, passed an Act imposing excise on beer, cider, and perry: and the year after that on flesh, wine, tobacco, sugar, and such a multitude of other commodities that it might fairly be denominated general." We may mention that the Act of the Commonwealth to which Cobbett refers was re-enacted by the Parliament of the Restoration in the first year of the real reign of Charles II., but bears date the 12th year of that reign, the 11 years of the Commonwealth being reckoned as part of that King's reign; and it was the only measure of the Cromwellian Parliament that was so honoured.

A few sentences more will complete our account of the rise and growth of the existing land system and method of taxation in England. Up to 1798 the land tax was continued by annual Acts of Parliament, the rate being occasionally reduced to 3s., 2s., and once to 1s. in the £, but was always levied on the valuation of 1692. By the 38th of George III., c. 5, and another Act of the same session, c. 60, the land tax was made perpetual at 4s. in the £: and the tax was apportioned in certain shares or quotas to the different counties of Great Britain (Ireland being all along exempted)—an arrangement which still remains in force. The amount to be raised in England and Wales was put at £1,989,673; that in Scotland, at £47,954, making a total of £2,037,627. Provision was made for the redemption or sale of the land tax at 15 or 23 years purchase, according to value. Mr. Pitt, who was desperately in want of money at the time of the passing of this measure, and not at all particular as to the mode of getting it, said that the Act "would not preclude that or any other Parliament from imposing another land tax, or from augmenting and re-assessing the existing one;" but he comforted the House of Commons with the assurance that Parliament was not likely to adopt either of these courses, and up to the present he has been right. The yield of the land tax is now greatly less than it was in 1798, and an examination of the assessments, as might be expected, brings out some striking anomalies. For instance, the assessments of 1877-8 show that only in one instance—that of Middlesex—did the quotas of the several counties of Great Britain reach more than 1s. in the £, all the rest being under 6d. Several were below 1d., and some were less than ¼d. in the £. The general average for Great Britain was only 1½d. From the 28th number of the Statistical Abstract we learn that the gross annual value of property, exclusive of canals, gasworks, ironworks, mines, quarries, railways, &c., in Great Britain, assessed in 1878-9, was £59,325,310—a real 4s. in the £ on which would yield £11,865,062, instead of £1,050,107, which was the actual return of the land tax in 1880-1. To illustrate: In fourteen years of the reign of William III., the whole public revenue from all sources, including £31,981,621, raised by creation of debt, was £107,437,510, to which the land tax contributed £20,777,865, or more than a fifth part of the total amount: whereas in 1880-1 the public income from taxes and ordinary receipts amounted to £84,329,055, towards which the land tax yielded £1,050,437, or little more than an eighty-fourth part of the total income. It is with this state of affairs that the men who are agitating for a radical reform of the land system and the method of taxation in Great Britain have to deal; and the remedy which Mr. Henry George proposes in his great and eloquent treatise entitled, "Progress and Poverty," is the appropriation of rent by taxation, or, in other words, the abolition of all taxation save that upon land values. There is something so sweeping in this proposal that it is little wonder although it shakes and staggers those who have all through their lives been accustomed to landlords, and have consequently come to regard them as a necessary and natural, if not even sacred, element of society.

But, putting aside the project for the abolition of private property in land by taxation that would absorb the entire rent it yields, there is much to be said in favour of the imposition of a more moderate, but still considerable, tax upon land. The land has no value whatever until the community is formed, and, unlike other things, its value increases with the growth of the community. It is a value created and maintained by the community, and therefore may justly be called upon to meet community expenses. Moreover, the land tax is rather a rate than a tax, for, to quote Mr. George, "it falls only upon those who receive from society a peculiar and valuable benefit, and upon them in proportion to the benefit they receive. It is the taking by the community, for the use of the community, of that value which is the creation of the community. It is the application of the common property to common uses. When all rent is taken by taxation for the needs of the community, then will the equality ordained by nature be obtained. No citizen will have an advantage over any other citizen save as is given by his industry, skill, and intelligence; and each will obtain what he fairly earns. Then, but not till then, will labour get its full reward, and capital its natural return." All taxes upon manufactures, all taxes upon commerce, all taxes upon capital, all taxes upon improvements, in a greater or less degree, check production; and for this reason such taxes should never be resorted to when it is possible to raise money by taxes which do not check production. "The great class of taxes from which revenue may be derived without interference with production," to cite Mr. George again, "are taxes upon monopolies, for the profit of monopoly is in itself a tax levied upon production, and to tax it is simply to divert into the public coffers what production must in any event pay." Of all monopolies the monopoly of land is the most important and extensive, and "taxes may be imposed upon the value of land until all rent is taken by the State without reducing the wages of labour or the reward of capital one iota—without increasing the price of a single commodity, or making production in any way more difficult. But more than this. Taxes on the value of land not only do not check production, as do most other taxes, but they tend to increase production, by destroying speculative rent. How speculative rent checks production may be seen not only in the valuable land withheld from use, but in the paroxysms of industrial depression, which, originating in the speculative advance in land values, propagate themselves over the civilised world, everywhere paralysing industry and causing more waste, and probably more suffering, than would a general war." Again: "Land is not a thing of human production, and taxes upon rent cannot check supply. Therefore, though a tax on rent compels the landowners to pay more, it gives them no power to obtain more for the use of their land, as it in no way tends to reduce the supply of land. On the contrary, by compelling those who hold land on speculation to sell or let for what they can get, a tax on land values tends to increase the competition between owners, and thus to reduce the price of land." The arguments that Mr. George uses in support of his proposal to appropriate all rent by taxation are more powerful, and not less powerful, when used in favour of a more limited and partial scheme of land taxation. There are, it need hardly be said, other aspects of the question of land taxation of the very greatest importance, which we have not even referred to in the foregoing article. Enough, however, has, we believe, been said to put the careful reader in possession of a general view of the subject.

BILROY.

Some curious experiments have been made on the rails laid between Marseilles and Rognac, of the Chemin de Fer Paris-Lyon-Méditerranée. It has been ascertained that all the rails that have been laid some time have been transformed, as to their two extremities, into powerful magnets, capable of attracting and holding iron keys and even heavier articles. If the rails be raised, they keep their magnetism for some time, but gradually lose it. Two poles are formed at the corresponding ends of two rails of opposite sign. The production of magnetism in the rails in use is to be explained by the friction resulting from the running of cars on the track. It is certain that the magnetism thus developed exerts a useful influence on the stability of the track, and increases the hold of the wheels on the rails. Without contesting the fact itself, which does not appear very surprising, it would be interesting to know how far this magnetism can increase the hold of the wheels, which in a locomotive often carry four to six tons each,—above all, when the rails are placed end to end, and mutually destroy one another's magnetism.—English Paper.

COMMERCIAL.

WOOL, PRODUCE, AND STOCK REPORT.

WOOL.—At the auction sales this week there was a moderately fair demand. Prices were about equal to those lately ruling. Very few good lots are now offering, the season being practically over. 936 bales were quitted publicly and privately, at from 6¼d. to 9½d. for inferior to medium greasy, 13d. to 16½d. for fleece, and 13d. to 20d. for scoured.

SHEEPSKINS.—The market continues to be barely supplied with prime skins, which sell at up to 6½d. per lb.; pelts from 1d.

HIDES.—6780 were offered yesterday, and 5960 sold. The demand was active, there being buyers from other colonies, and late rates were fully maintained. Light hides sold at 3d. to 3¾d.; medium, 3¼d. to 4d.; and extra heavies, 3¾d. to 4¼d. per lb.; calf, 1s. to 4s.; yearlings, 5s. to 7s. 6d. each. Opossum and kangaroo skins in fair supply, and brisk request; kangaroo from 5s. to 30s. per dozen.

TALLOW.—250 packages were offered yesterday, 275 being sold. There was a fairly good demand, and prices were rather dearer. Prime mutton may be quoted at £33 to £34; best beef, £32 to £32 10s.

LEATHER.—There was a fair demand for light lines of tweed calf and kip. Sole also sold fairly well, but other descriptions were dull of sale. Quotations: sole, heavy, 11d. to 12d.; medium, 9d. to 10½d.; light, 8d. to 8½d.; kip, best, 13½d. to 16d.; medium, 11d. to 12½d.; cow tweed, best, 15d. to 21d.; medium, 14d. to 16d.; yearling tweed, 19d. to 24d.; bay tweed, 21d. to 27d.; mixed calf, 21d. to 30d.; harness, 10d. to 13d.; bag, 8s. to 10s.; bridle, 8s. to 11s. 6d.

HORNS AND BONES.—At the sales last week horns brought fully late rates, the demand being active. From 5s. to 35s. per 100 may be quoted as value. Bones were in brisk request at from £4 to £12.

HAIR.—At the auctions last week prices of hair were well maintained, cow hair being rather dearer, and selling from 4½d. to 15d.; horsetail, 16d. to 20d.; mane, 9d. to 12d.

BEESWAX is in demand at from 9d. to 11d.

STORE CATTLE.—Although there have been some light rains in parts of the interior, it cannot be said that the drought has broken up, and until that happens much business is not expected to be done. Bullocks, 50s. to 65s.; mixed cattle, 30s. to 40s.

STORE SHEEP.—Sales continue on a very limited scale, owing to the dry weather. Wethers from 4s. to 6s.; ewes from 2s. 6d. to 10s.

STATIONS.—There is still an absence of business in station properties.

MESSRS. BRUNKER AND WOLFE'S REPORT.

Fat Cattle: 1941 yarded for the week's supply. The market was firm for prime quality. Best pens of bullocks made to £9 5s., ditto cows to £7 1s., or equal to 24s per 100lb. We have sold during the week 801 head, as follows:—107 bullocks (James Sevil, by road) at £7 10s to £9 18s, average £8 18s 8d; 141 cows (R. Buxland) at £4 5s to £6 14s, average £4 5s 1d; 52 bullocks (ditto) at £3 16s to £6 5s, average £4 14s, Maitland: 179 cows (Robertson Brothers) at £3 7s 6d to £5 10s, 51 bullocks (ditto) at £5 5s to £6 6s, 14 mixed (C. O'Brien) at £3 1s to £9 15s, 11 bullocks (J. H. Doyle) at £5 17s to £6 18s, 10 cows (ditto) at £4 to £5, 16 bullocks (R. Brunie) at £5 to £6 19s, 24 mixed to £6, 31 bullocks (W. J. Dangar) at £5 1s to £8 11s, 3 cows at £5 to £7 1s, 54 bullocks (F. A. Pirrourry) at £4 15s to £7 4s, 22 bullocks (C. M'Donnell) at £5 15s to £6 5s, 13 mixed to £6 7s 6d. Fat Sheep: 27,000 penned for the week. Prime quality sold well; 14,000 wethers worth 13s. We sold A. Bowman's crossbreds at 11s 6d, merinos at 10s 7d to 10s 8d. Maitland: R. L. Jenkins's wethers at 8s, G. Nowland's wethers at 7s 2d to 12s, ewes at 5s 9d to 9s, A. Bowman's at 7s to 9s, R. L. Jenkins' wethers at 7s to 7s 6d, J. Jurd's wethers at 7s to 12s 6d, J. H. HORSE MARKET.

MR. GEORGE KISS.—A large collection of horses came to the bazaar this week from various country districts, and anything young, good, and quiet, with reasonable reserves, sold well, although in some cases they had to be submitted twice before they changed hands. The commencement of the week opened well, and bidding generally was brisk, but later on the purchasers acted with more caution; and although some satisfactory sales were effected by auction or privately, prices given were lower as a rule. Medium draught were in great demand, and sold freely at fine figures, the majority of which were bought up for shipment. Heavy draught were rather scarce, and many inquiries made for them in good condition and fit for immediate use. Light carriage and buggy pairs (unless out of form) sold at fair prices. No large carriage pairs to hand. Good saddle and harness horses were easily disposed of at satisfactory figures. No cows to hand. In vehicle and turnout branch business was very good. The following are my quotations for the week:—Really good saddle and harness horses, from £25 to £45; useful ditto, from £10 to £19 10s; hackneys, to £25; light carriage and buggy pairs, from £40 to £65; boys' ponies, from £4 to £10; active draught, from £20 to £30; heavy draught, from £30 to £40; van horses, from £14 to £26.—March 6.

MESSRS. WILLIAM INGLIS AND CO.—The market has been firm the past week, with a good demand for heavy draught horses, which were rather scarce and are wanted. Active cart and useful harness horses meet a ready sale, but light horses were not inquired for. From present state of the market we consider prices will advance soon as the drought has broken up, as many persons require horses who could not now purchase. The following is a summary of our sales during the past week:—Draught horses, 35 head at from £26 to £40; active cart horses, 30 head at from £20 to £28; useful harness horses, 20 head at from £15 to £25; light harness and light saddle horses, 30 head at from £5 to £10.—March 6.

MESSRS. T. COSGROVE AND CO.—We report a good demand for all sorts of horses this week, particularly light harness and good sorts of buggy horses; heavy draught are scarce. We sold for shipment a lot, mostly mares, from £20 to £35. Upstanding hacks sold up to £30 pairs, none forward; could place a few pairs at good figures. Active cart and van horses. A lot through, which sold from £16 to £25 10s. We have inquiries every day for good sure jumpers, and could place a few at good prices. In vehicles business was brisk. Pagnels, from £14 to £19; springcarts, from £12 to £16 10s. Milch Cows: A few forward, and sold from £6 10s to £10. The usual lot of used-up harness moved off from 30s to £5.—March 7.

MELBOURNE LIVE STOCK MARKET.

[RICHARD GIBSON AND CO.'S REPORT.]

MELBOURNE, MARCH 5.

Fat Cattle.—1910 head were entered for the week's supply, but only about 1700 head were penned up for disposal. As usual of late, nearly the whole number arrived from this colony, and consisted of better quality than we have had of late. There were a few country buyers present, who operated freely, causing a very brisk demand at fully last week's satisfactory prices, and which continued firm until the closing of the market. We quote—Best bullocks, £11 10s to £12 10s; good, £9 to £10; second, £7 to £8; inferior, £5 to £6; best cows, £7 to £8 15s; inferior, £3 to £4. We sold 56 cows and bullocks for Messrs. G. A. and F. Mein, Moolpa station, to £12 10s, the former averaging £7 19s, the latter £10 14s 6d; 31 cows and bullocks for Mr. Wm. Beatty, Yackandandah, the former to £9 5s, the latter to £11 2s 6d, averaging £10 2s; 28 cows and bullocks for Mr. C. Harte, Bessborough, to £6 5s; 27 bullocks for Mr. John Grieve, Bungowannah, to £11 10s, averaging £10 9s 6d, 20 cows and bullocks for Mr. Wm. Symington, Mitta Mitta, to £11 17s 6d, averaging £9 5s and £9 15s respectively; 20 cows and bullocks for Mr. Stephen Beatty, Kiewa, to £9 18s, former averaging £7 4s, latter £9 8s; 11 bullocks for Mr. Chanel, Deep Creek, to £9 5s; 40 cows and bullocks for Mr. E. J. Crooke, Holey Plains, the former averaging £7 2s 5d, the latter at £10 15s.

Fat Calves.—260 yarded, very few good. Considering the large number, all descriptions sold very fairly. We quote—Best, 50s to 60s; second, 30s to 40s; inferior, 15s to 25s. We sold a draft for Mr. C. Harte, Bessborough.

Fat Sheep.—15,140 yarded, consisting principally of good useful quality, with a few prime. Sales were not so brisk as last week, and prices ruled easier throughout for all descriptions. Second class and inferior sorts were about 6d to 1s per head lower. We quote—Best merino wethers, 10s 6d to 11s 6d; seconds, 8s 6d to 9s 6d; others, 6s 6d up; best crossbred wethers, 13s to 14s (a few extra higher); seconds, 11s to 12s; others, 10s up; ewes as usual. We sold—1117 merino wethers and crossbred ewes for Sir W. J. Clarke, Bald Hill Estate, to 10s 6d; 603 wethers for Mr. R. B. Stevenson, Tulloch, to 10s 6d; 403 ewes and wethers for Mr. David Brodie, Harpsdale, to 13s 6d; 331 ewes and wethers for Mr. Geo. Lamont, Mount Pleasant; 175 ewes and wethers for Mr. H. George, Seymour, to 9s; 74 ewes for Mr. D. Cameron, Glen Nevis, to 7s 6d; 40 ewes for Mr. E. Wright, Beveridge, at 9s; 29 ewes for Mr. J. Lawson, Arcadia, at 7s 6d; and, outside, 840 crossbred wethers for Messrs. Robertson Bros., Colac.

Fat Lambs.—Only 3050 forward, the bulk of which were medium and inferior sorts. Sales were brisk, at advanced rates for all descriptions. We quote—Best, 9s to 10s (extra, 12s 6d); seconds, 7s to 8s; others, 5s up. We sold—121 for Mr. L. Campbell, Romsey, at 9s; 112 for Mr. G. Robinson, Lancefield, at 10s; 203 for Mr. E. Wright, Beveridge, to 7s; 91 for Mr. J. Lawson, Arcadia, at 8s 6d; 51 for Mr. D. Cameron, Glen Nevis; 48 for Mr. H. George, Seymour; 44 from Woodend, at 12s 6d; 87 for Mr. G. Lamont, Mount Pleasant.

BOROUGH COUNCILS.

NORTH WILLOUGHBY.—Special meeting held on 19th February. Present—the Mayor and full council. Moved by Mayor,—"That Alderman Howard Fleming be mayor for the current year." Seconded by Alderman Whiting and carried unanimously. A vote of thanks was moved to Alderman Best for the very efficient and satisfactory manner in which he had carried out the duties of mayor during the past year, and carried unanimously. Meeting held on 1st March. Present—the Mayor, and Aldermen Seldon, Forsyth, Palmer, and Whiting. Minutes of previous meeting read and confirmed. The aldermen of each ward were appointed improvement committees for their respective wards. The mayor and Aldermen Whiting and Palmer were appointed finance committee. Alderman Joseph Palmer was appointed treasurer. An estimate showing that £2710 would be required for municipal works and services for the now current year, was made and adopted. Alderman Palmer moved,—"That this council ask the co-operation of the North Shore municipal councils in forming a deputation to the Hon. the Minister for Works to urge the speedy construction of the tramways required for the North Shore municipalities." Carried. Resolved on the motion of Alderman Palmer,—"That the Government be requested to replace the £300 on the estimates in aid of building a wharf at Ball's Head Bay, Greenwich. Moved by Alderman Palmer,—"That a deputation wait upon the Hon. the Postmaster-General to request that a telegraph station be opened in the borough, and that the Government resume an acre of land at junction of Mowbray-road and Elizabeth-street, near the School of Arts, for a post and telegraph office and savings bank. Carried. Moved by Alderman Whiting,—"That the council borrow £3000 by debentures, at 6 per cent. per annum, said debentures to have a currency of five years from date of issue." Carried. Moved by Alderman Whiting,—"That the money so raised be expended as follows:—£1000 for necessary works in the River Ward, and £2000 in same manner for the East Ward, as may be determined by the council." Alderman Palmer moved an amendment,—"That the money be expended equitably in rateable proportion in each ward." Motion carried. Resolved, on the motion of Alderman Whiting,—"That interest on debentures be paid half-yearly, in cash or by council's cheques, on presentation of coupons to be annexed to debentures, and council advertise said loan agreeably to section 190 of the Municipalities' Act of 1867." Moved by Alderman Whiting,—"That the deputation to wait on the Hon. the Postmaster-General urge a daily postal delivery for the borough by boy on horse, and that iron letter-receivers be placed in the streets where required." Carried. The Mayor reported that the extra cutting of hills, as requested by residents on Blue Gum Creek-road, was arranged and in hand, and that a portion of stumping on Victoria-avenue was let and being proceeded with. On the report of the clerk of works re O'Connell-street, the Mayor was authorised to get the street cleared. The accounts for municipal works and services amounting to £171 10s., were passed for payment; also £15 5s. 6d. on account of fencing Tambourine Bay Reserve. Resolved, on motion of Alderman Whiting, to fence and clear the reserve for municipal buildings. The works committee agreed to meet at Ball's Head Bay to see and decide upon the limit of reclamation to be asked for wharf purposes. The tender of T. Lee for guard-stones to protect ends of pipe culverts, at 3s. each, was accepted. The tender of David Hitchcock for cutting to fill hollow at new culvert in Chandos-street, at 1s. 3d. per cubic yard, was accepted. The tender of John Simpson for addition to School of Arts, at £34 2s., was accepted.—JAMES ANDERSON, Council Clerk.

GLEBE.—Ordinary meeting on the 3rd March. Present—his Worship the Mayor (Alderman Chapman) and Aldermen Dunn, Turner, Field, Bull, Vaughan, Graham, Lucas, and Wearne. Minutes of previous meetings, ordinary and special, were read and confirmed. Letters: 1. Mr. Joseph Williams, complaining that the firm of W. J. Norris and Sons leave their drays in the lane at the rear of their store, thereby causing great annoyance. The inspector was instructed to attend to the matter. 2. The Mayor of Newtown, requesting the presence of the Mayor and aldermen of the Glebe at a meeting of the Mayors and aldermen of suburban boroughs for the purpose of considering matters in connection with the election of a representative of suburban boroughs as required by the Fire Brigades Bill. Letter read. Reports: Finance of the 14th and 28th February, 1884, showing payments to the amount of £831 13s. Report adopted. Reports were also read from the inspector and foreman. Motions—By Alderman Lucas: 1. "That the council clerk be appointed the treasurer of the borough for the year 1884-5, and that Mr. Alderman Turner—or in his absence, Mr. Alderman Field—be authorised to sign the council's cheques with the mayor." Seconded by Alderman Dunn, and carried. 2. That the committees of works, of finance, and committee for general purposes, for the year 1884-5 be formed of the whole council." Carried. 3. "That the foreman of works be instructed to report upon the advisability, and the best mode, of repairing the footpath on the southern side of Catherine-street." Carried. By Alderman Bull.—"That it be referred to the works committee to report on the necessity of erecting a lamp in Charles-street, between the present lamp and Cross-street." Carried.—T. D. GLASSCOCK, Council-clerk.

THE LANGUAGE OF CATS.—M. Champfleury quotes a Russian legend on the subject, which is ingenious, and which offers one curious point. According to this, "when the dog was created he was kept waiting for his pelisse; his patience grew exhausted, and he followed the first passer-by who called him. Now, it happened that this was the devil, who made the animal an emissary of his, and who sometimes assumes his form. The fur coat intended for the dog was given to the cat, and this perhaps explains the antipathy between the two quadrupeds, the first of which thinks that the second had stolen his proper possession." Here we have one of many instances of the dog sharing with the cat the suspicion of diabolical protection, and it may be that in both cases vain and stupid bipeds, puzzled and hurt at the exhibition of admirable sagacity in both quadrupeds, cast the blame of it in a quarter where they were pretty sure not to be contradicted. Great as are the sagacity and beauty of the well-born and well-trained dog—and he who cannot love and admire both cat and dog is to be pitied—no amount of fur coats given to him instead of to the cat would have brought with them the variety and grace of movement and posture that belong to the cat. Some observers, among them Chateaubriand, have asserted that in the same way the cat's vocabulary is richer than the dog's; and Chateaubriand himself sets it down that the cat's language has the same vowels as the dog's, with the addition of six consonants, m, n, g, h, r, and f. This, I am disposed to think, is a considerable error. I believe from observation that g, r, w, and a guttural h, are habitually used by dogs, and I very much doubt whether h or r is ever used by cats. This of course refers in both cases to highly domesticated animals; and this brings me to a suggestion made to M. Champfleury by an anonymous friend of his, to the effect that it is only a want of artificial selection and hereditary training which prevents cats from being taught to do as much for us as dogs do, or more than dogs do, in the way of such services as fetching our gloves, and so on, when they are told to do so. This in itself is a sort of lèse-majesté against the fine independence of the cat-nature, and the suggestion, as quoted at length by M. Champfleury, is carried to a fantastic point; but the fact that cats have never been taken in hand, generation after generation, by the human race as dogs have been remains.—Magazine of Art.

THE PROSPECTS OF THE IRON AND STEEL TRADES IN 1884.

(By a North Country Ironmaster, in the Pall Mall Gazette.)

The complete returns of the production of crude iron in 1883, and of the stocks remaining over, have not yet been made up, but enough is known (the accounts of the two principal districts, Cleveland and Scotland, having been completed) to make it clear that the output has not been more than 1 or 1½ per cent. in excess of that in 1882, and that the stocks cannot have increased materially over those at the end of the latter year, certainly not more than 150,000 tons for the United Kingdom. The export of iron and steel of all kinds was larger than in 1881, but about 6 per cent. less than in 1882; the difference was, however, made up by the increased home consumption. The export of rails was almost as large as in 1882, although the United States virtually ceased to be a purchaser. Prices were not too remunerative at the end of 1882; indeed, in some cases they can scarcely have covered the cost even at that time. And yet the price of pig iron fell from 12 to 16 per cent., that of plates and angles nearly as much, that of steel rails about 20 per cent. in the course of last year. How did this happen? In the first place, the capacity of the steel rail mills in this country, in Belgium, and in Germany (I leave France and the United States as non-competing and out of the account on both sides), is considerably in excess of the world's wants; and not only is this so, but German makers have for the last two years managed to secure orders for rails in neutral markets in competition with us at prices from 20 to 30 per cent. below those which they charged the railways of their own country, the average price realised being sufficient to cover cost, or perhaps a trifle more. Secondly, ship plate and angle makers, expecting that the shipbuilding demand was to collapse sooner than has actually been the case, competed against each other for orders throughout the year at continually declining prices. Lastly, the producers of pig iron followed suit in the same expectation, and under the depressing influence of an immoveable stock of 600,000 tons of warrants in Glasgow, the only stock, however, worth naming in the country.

Thus we have arrived to day at the position that steel rails are leaving a heavy loss to all except those who are most favourably situated, and probably no profit to anyone; but the price is so low that the artificial foreign competition in neutral markets is at length rendered impossible. The prices of plate and angle iron are almost, if not quite, as low as have ever been known, while both wages and fuel are higher than in former periods of depression. The price of pig iron is, in the majority of cases, below the cost of production. The collapse of shipbuilding has at last occurred, and it is necessary to inquire what this means. We built one and a quarter million tons of ships in 1883. Two eminent and experienced shipbuilders, one on the Clyde, the other on the east coast, estimate the tonnage of ships to be built this year, the one at half, the other at from five-eighths to three-quarters of that of last year. I think 750,000 tons, or half a million tons less than last year, will not be far off the mark. Steamships of from 1000 to 3000 tons, builders' measurement, require 11cwt. of iron or steel to the ton of capacity for all purposes, equal, say, to 14cwt. of pig and scrap iron. There will also be some falling off in the export of iron for shipbuilding in Scandinavia, Holland, &c., but to no great extent. On the other hand, some adjustments, as that of iron in ships on the stocks and in building yards at the end of each year, will somewhat diminish the falling off in the consumption. But the decrease arising from the collapse in shipbuilding cannot safely be taken at less than the equivalent of 350,000 tons of pig iron. In regard to the demand for rails there is no reason to expect much change. The United States took about 70,000 tons in 1883; a few thousand tons may still go to the Gulf ports or to California. Canada will perhaps be a smaller customer this year than last. The other colonies and foreign countries will probably take a little more; their demands have increased every year. The construction of railways in India will increase; but that increase will not be felt in rails, so I am told, in 1884. Some rails will be wanted for tramways and light railways in Ireland. I am informed on good authority that the Government guarantee on £2,000,000 has been more than applied for. Ireland may require 15,000 to 20,000 tons of light rails during the present year. The export of pig iron to foreign countries kept up well to the very end of last year. It was considerably larger in November and December, 1883, than in the corresponding months of 1882. We may expect it to keep up in 1884. That of machinery, consuming iron, is as large as ever, or larger. As to our own country, there is no reason to expect any material falling off in consumption of iron and steel, if the traffic on the railways and the revenue returns afford any indication of the volume of the home trade. On every English railway, except the Furness and the Maryport and Carlisle, there has been an increase of traffic over 1882 in the last half of 1883. I think it is safe to assume that the consumption of pig iron in 1884 will not, at the utmost, fall more than 650,000 tons, or say 8 per cent., below that of 1883. Probably the falling off will not be more than 550,000 to 600,000 tons. What will be the effect on prices?

If the production of 1884 should be equal to that of 1883, prices must be ruinous. But they are already unremunerative, and it is not likely that pig iron will long be produced at a loss. It may be said that the owners of blast furnaces kept up production on former occasions in spite of heavy losses. Fortunately the trade, so far as the chief producing districts are concerned, is now on a sounder basis than in 1877-9. With the exception of two or three relatively small firms, all are now financially strong; and, in fact, curtailment of production has already begun. There were at one time last year 117 furnaces in blast in Scotland; at the end of the year there were only 102; and last week eight more have been "damped down," whether temporarily or permanently remains to be seen. Eight furnaces were blown out in South Wales during the last three months; in the hematite district several have been blown out, and others are expected to go out. Cleveland will follow soon. Its richest deposits of ironstone—those north-west of the village of Skelton—will be exhausted in from eight to twelve years. The best qualities of coking coal are following fast. To work at a loss under such circumstances would be simply madness. To foretell the course of prices with accuracy is impossible, but I think we have seen low water mark as regards pig iron. Pending an improvement in trade, some of the furnaces blown out will be reconstructed on the most modern plans. Regenerative heating stoves will be applied wherever the nature of the minerals smelted indicates that it is desirable to employ high heats. In Scotland arrangements will be adopted for recovering the ammonia and other so-called products from the furnace gases; and by these and other means the cost of production will be somewhat lessened in future.

The consumption of rails has not come up to a stand even in the United States. The largest producer wrote to me from New York on the 10th of December that he had then 120,000 of steel rails on his books for delivery in 1884. I perceive Sir John Brown stated the other day that steel plates of foreign manufacture have been sold in this country at £1 per ton under English prices. The competition will soon cease, for soft steel plates, equal to the Siemens-Martin quality, can now be produced by the Basic process within 15s. per ton of the price of common iron ship plates, and Basic angles at the price of iron.

One probable feature in the iron trade of 1884 should be mentioned. There will be trouble with speculative shipowners. Weak shipbuilders—fortunately they are not numerous—will compete desperately for orders, and weak plate and angle makers will do likewise—with what results may be imagined. It will be necessary to be very cautious in giving credit.

TO FARMERS, DAIRYMEN, SPECULATORS, and Others.
CHOICE DAIRY and AGRICULTURAL ESTATE.
WATKIN and WATKIN, 281, Pitt-street, have been instructed to offer for Private SALE one of the most desirable Properties in the county of Cumberland, within 20 miles of the metropolis, and about 2 miles from Liverpool Railway Station, to which there are several trains daily, including a mid-day train, an important item to dairymen. The area is about 500 acres, of which about 150 have been cleared, stumped, and made fit for the plough, including flats fit to grow anything, the remainder being well timbered, the timber itself being worth a large sum. There is a permanent water supply from a creek, which is never dry; and the fences are all nearly new and in thorough repair. The improvements are considerable, including a newly-built and comfortable dwelling-house of four rooms with detached kitchen, galvanised iron tank, large barn, hayshed, and one 2-stall and one 3-stall stable. Also the usual outhouses, such as man's room, cart and buggy shed, toolhouse, fowlhouse, &c.
The Auctioneers would direct special attention to the above property, as it is seldom that such a desirable block comes into the market. And setting aside the value of the estate for dairy or agricultural purposes, it is certainly only a question of a few years, when (so marvellous is the growth of the suburbs of Sydney) the property can be subdivided and sold in small suburban homesteads of from one to five acres in extent, when an immense advance will be obtained upon the present money value.
A Public School adjoins the Estate on one boundary.
The Title is Torrens' Act. Terms of Sale are liberal, particulars of which, and any other information, with cards to view, can be obtained upon application to the auctioneers.
WATKIN and WATKIN, 281, Pitt-street.
The Farm Implements, Stock, &c., can be taken at a valuation.

BLOCK OF COAL LAND FOR SALE
TENDERS are invited up to the 1st APRIL for the PURCHASE of 26½ ACRES VALE of CLWYDD COAL LAND. The adit where first coal for Exhibition and Government Trial was obtained is on this block. The 11-feet seam of marketable coal can be seen, and could be worked with half the expense of shaft-sinking. A chance like it will never occur again, this being the only part of the original holding that can be sold. There is nothing equal to it in the Lithgow district. The company (Vale of Clwydd) working a part of the same seam, are paying the handsome dividend of 20 per cent. per annum on the whole capital. The enormous increase of traffic over the Zigzag will very shortly require a loop line, which must pass close by this block, and that will at once more than double its value.
Easy terms can be arranged, and all particulars obtained from DUNN and LYONS, 162, King-street, Solicitors for the Vendor.
February 20, 1884.

CAPITALISTS.

THAT EXCEEDINGLY VALUABLE, EXTENSIVE, and CENTRAL BLOCK of CITY LAND, having frontages of 91 feet 11 inches to ELIZABETH-STREET,
41 feet 9 inches to CASTLEREAGH-STREET, with a depth through of 152 feet on the north side, together with the FAMILY RESIDENCE,
No. 71, ELIZABETH-STREET, and the WORKSHOP adjoining, well known as the
DWELLING and BUILDING YARD of Mr. Alderman DEAN, who is disposing of this MAGNIFICENT CITY BLOCK, only in consequence of the erection of LARGE BUSINESS PREMISES,
in
BOURKE and ALBION STREETS, to which he has removed his principal timber yard and joinery.

In one or five Lots,

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Alexander Dean, Esq., J.P., for the reason above mentioned, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 21st March,
at 11 o'clock,
The above city property in Elizabeth and Castlereagh streets, opposite Moore-street, which leads through Pitt-street to the General Post Office, will be sold in one lot, or subdivided into five, as follows, viz. :—
CASTLEREAGH-STREET.
Lot 1. Adjoins the Bulletin Hotel, directly opposite Moore-street; it has a frontage of 20 feet 9 inches to Castlereagh-street, by a depth on the north side of 80 feet 2 inches and 77 feet on the south side.

Lot 2. Adjoins lot 1, and has a frontage of 21 feet to Castlereagh-street, by a depth on the north boundary of 83 feet 4 inches.
 These two lots, forming a block of 41 feet 9 inches by a mean depth of 80 feet, would make a splendid site for a range of offices or other business premises.

ELIZABETH-STREET.
LOTS 3 and 4 have each a frontage of 27 feet 4 inches to Elizabeth-street, by a mean depth of about 63 feet. On these lots are the draughtsmen's and other offices connected with the proprietor's extensive business.

LOT 5.—On this portion, having a frontage of 37 feet 2 inches, is erected No. 71, Elizabeth-street, a substantial DWELLING-HOUSE built of brick, cemented in front, and painted all over, with stone foundations, and slated roof. It contains entrance hall, double drawing-room with folding doors, dining-room and library, the latter at present used as the owner's private office. On the first floor, to which there is a balcony, are four good bedrooms and a dressing-room, and above them are three capital attics. Off the stairs there is a large bathroom and lavatory, supplied with hot and cold water, large bedroom, patent W.C., &c. The outoffices are approached through a verandah with glazed roof, and consist of store, kitchen with cooking range, scullery and laundry, with all necessary fittings. Under the dining-room is a large dry cellar, and the back premises are approached by a private right-of-way or side entrance from Elizabeth-street. The yard is paved with bricks, and the whole of the premises are thoroughly drained and connected with the city sewers; water and gas are laid on, and the fittings go with the property. The woodwork of the house is of picked cedar, chiefly polished, and the workmanship is of the highest class; all the principal rooms have handsome marble mantelpieces, and the walls are hung with rich papers, highly varnished, and all in as good order as though just fresh from the decorators' hands—indeed, it need only be mentioned that this property was built by Mr. Alexander Dean, the well-known contractor, as a residence for himself and family in connection with his adjoining business premises, to assure intending purchasers that there is not a more substantial or better furnished dwelling house than it to be found in the city of Sydney.

The Property, both House and Land, is only brought into the market for sale in consequence of Mr. Dean's extensive business requiring larger premises, a desideratum he has found in his recent purchase at Surry Hills. As a residence, or for chambers or offices, the house is recommended to the notice of members of the legal profession, while the VACANT LAND is about the LAST PORTION UNOCCUPIED to be found within so SHORT a DISTANCE of the POST OFFICE.

and forms the new
TOWNSHIP OF MITTAGONG.

It has been carefully subdivided into
ELIGIBLE BUSINESS SITES
CHOICE VILLA ALLOTMENTS and GARDEN and ORCHARD AREAS, the latter varying in size from 3 acres upwards.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the Directors of the Mittagong Land Company, Limited, to sell by public auction, on the ground, adjoining the Mittagong Railway Station, on SATURDAY, the 26th APRIL, 1884, at 2 o'clock p.m.,
A portion of the above valuable estate, subdivided as mentioned.

A plan of the intended subdivision is now being drawn by the well-known surveyors Messrs. Atchison and Schleicher, of Pitt-street, and will be ready for inspection in a few days.
Lithographs are also in course of preparation, and due notice by advertisement will be given when they are ready for issue.

Arrangements have already been concluded for a

GOULBURN.

THURSDAY, 20th MARCH.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

The MAGNIFICENT FREEHOLD PROPERTIES known as CHATSBURY, containing 12,088 ACRES of the
FINEST PASTORAL and AGRICULTURAL LANDS
in
NEW SOUTH WALES,
Highly Improved and Fenced in.

FIFTEEN MILES FROM GOULBURN.

Also,
the celebrated and rich
AGRICULTURAL and PASTORAL PROPERTY known as STRATHAIRD, containing 9310 acres Freehold, entirely fenced in,
and 25 miles from Goulburn.

Both these Properties adjoin.

FINLAY and CO. have received instructions from Messrs. Carr and Jobson to sell by auction, at their Rooms, Belmore-square, on THURSDAY, March 20,
at 11 o'clock,
The above splendid
FREEHOLD PROPERTIES,
fuller particulars of which will appear in an early issue.

The following in the meantime may be noted :—
CHATSBURY was originally the property of the late Hon. Chas. Cowper.
CHATSBURY in area has 12,088 acres freehold.
CHATSBURY, notwithstanding the drought, has upwards of 13,000 sheep and cattle running on the freehold; 8000 fat.
CHATSBURY is magnificently watered, and all fencing is sheep-proof. In one day the stock can be yarded, and the following day in Sydney.
CHATSBURY is a property (freehold) that no one who purchases can lose by in seasons of drought such as the present, as it never fails in water, and the market is at the door.
CHATSBURY, when the railway is completed to Taralga, now in course of survey, will become of very great value, as it is expected the line will pass through the property.
STRATHAIRD, originally the property of Major M'Alister, adjoins Chatsbury, and runs within two miles of Taralga.
STRATHAIRD in area has 9310 acres freehold.
STRATHAIRD has at present 6000 fat sheep depasturing thereon, and 400 head of cattle, and 2400 acres of the run let for the second year at 4s per acre.
STRATHAIRD is better known in common with the Richlands Estate; the soil is rich with chocolate loam, and as the railway is expected to pass through it, every acre of land will command extreme prices for farming purposes.
STRATHAIRD is watered by stream, spring, and creek, and never-failing water.
STRATHAIRD must eventually be subdivided, as the richness of the soil demands it, and the railway line with its conveniences will enforce it.

The above is but a faint outline of what these valuable properties are; each will be submitted separately.
The proprietors are aware that this is not the time for selling, but business arrangements require it, and the auctioneers just hope that squatters and others who have suffered from the drought, and those who contemplate investing, may be induced to reflect upon the soundness of such an investment over leased lands and uncertain land laws.

TERMS EXCEEDINGLY LIBERAL.

Three-fourths of the purchase money may remain on Chatsbury for three years at 5 per cent., and half the purchase money on Strathaird for a like period at 5 per cent., with a fourth for six months.

Further particulars in a future issue, and upon application.

CAPRERA.

ELIZABETH BAY.

THE CHARMING RESIDENCE of THOMAS ROWE, Esq.

CAPRERA is grandly situated, being in the neighbourhood of ELIZABETH BAY, overlooking the beautiful valley with its rich and varied shades of foliage, from the old trees of the Macleay Estate, commanding as it does an exquisite view of the bay, where there is good anchorage for yachts, &c. This VALUABLE PROPERTY can be approached from the main road which encircles a reserve, and again from ITHACA-ROAD across a reserve, along the bay to the garden front, stabling and coachhouse. Access can also be obtained from the wharf by steamer or boat.
This property is within the boundaries of the city, and has the advantages of quiet retirement, in the centre of city life, while overlooking our beautiful harbour.
The accommodation is as follows:—
LOWER FLOOR, overlooking lawn—spacious kitchen, two servant's bedrooms, store room, coal hole, hall, and laundry.
THE GROUND FLOOR is lofty and spacious, the porch tiled, hall 9 feet wide, drawing-room 25 x 18, dining-room 21 x 16, library 12 x 9, breakfast-room 17-6 x 14-6, and two pantries, with fine front and back verandahs.
FIRST FLOOR consists of six lofty bedrooms, bathroom, closets, tower room, and balcony.
The Stabling consists of two stalls, loose box, double coachhouse, and man's room, &c.
The house is built of brick, cemented, on stone foundation, roof slated, joiner's work cedar, carpenter's work of hardwood, are all good, and of a substantial kind.
The GROUNDS are most tastefully laid out, being terraced in a most expensive and most substantial manner, and finished with balustrading. Every advantage has been taken of the natural beauties of the original rocks, by the beautiful arrangement of the numerous steps and terraces. The whole is well enclosed with noble entrance gates and piers of stone, dwarf walls and brick walls, &c., producing a most attractive and comfortable residence.

CAPRERA is surrounded by the highly-improved properties of W. E. SPARKE, G. C. WESTGARTH, E. B. HOLT, J. GILCHRIST, JOHN HUGHES, and J. F. HOLLE, Esquires.

TITLE, THE MACLEAY ESTATE, the residue of a 99 years' lease.

STONE and BRICK HOTEL, SHOPS, and STORES thereon.

M'LANDRESS, HEPBURN, and CO., have received instructions from the proprietors to offer for sale by public auction on THURSDAY, March 13, at their Rooms, Manse-street, Dunedin, at 2 o'clock,
That very valuable freehold quarter-acre section, being section 39, block IX., having a full frontage of 66 feet to Princes-street, by a depth of 165 feet to Rattray-street, city of Dunedin.
Together with
All the shops, hotel, stores, cellars, offices, &c., &c., thereon, and now occupied by Messrs. Wise, Caffin, and Co., J. Seeger, G. H. Glover and Co., Rutherford and Co., Louis Court, C. Clark, Lightband, Allan, and Co., Heymanson, Low, and Co., and several tenants in offices.
The position of this well-known property, situated as it is at the corner of the two principal and main streets in the city—Princes and Rattray streets—opposite the Bank of New Zealand, and facing the chief Post-office, Custom-house, Telegraph-office, the Central Tramway Terminus, Railway Station, besides being in the immediate vicinity of the Steamers' Basin and Import Wharfs, renders it of unequal value as a prominent position for a banking institution, insurance company, hotel, or other public building, and as a site no other in Dunedin can surpass it.
For further particulars, terms, and conditions, &c., apply to THE AUCTIONEERS.
Full particulars as to rents, tenants, &c., may be seen at this office.

ZAHEL'S ESTATE, WAVERLEY.—34 Ocean View Lots for SALE next SATURDAY. Plans now ready, of MILLS and PILE,
130, Pitt-street.

CHOICE SUGAR LAND, TWEED RIVER.

BRUNKER and WOLFE have received instructions from H. B. Montgomery, Esq., to sell by auction,
AT THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, SYDNEY, on WEDNESDAY, the 9th APRIL, at 2.30 p.m.,
1250 ACRES of PRODUCTIVE SCRUB LAND, on the Terranora Branch of the Tweed River.

This magnificent block of land has extensive frontage to the river, comprises rich volcanic soil, and is suitable for growing sugar cane, cereals, and fruit.

Particular attention is directed to the sale of this estate, as it is rarely possible to secure a block of such valuable land in a district which is justly termed
THE GARDEN OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

The property is about four miles from the Tweed Heads, and not far from the well-known "Cudgen Estate."
There are several cottages on the land, and about 50 acres have been prepared, and are ready for planting with cane.

TERMS AT SALE.

BRUNKER and WOLFE, Auctioneers,
31, Hunter-street, Sydney; and
High-street, West Maitland.

the property of
R. C. CLOSE, Esq.

FOR VILLA SITES UNSURPASSED IN THE DISTRICT.

To be SOLD BY AUCTION, ON THE GROUND,
on TUESDAY, 11th March, 1884, at 2 p.m.
BRUNKER and WOLFE, Auctioneers,
West Maitland, and 31, Hunter-street, Sydney.
TERMS, LIBERAL.

TO SMALL CAPITALISTS.

Compact New England Station,
BENDEMEER,
Embracing an Area of 10,000 Acres, more or less, of Well-grassed and Permanently-watered Land,
together with
2649 mixed Sheep, 150 head of mixed Cattle, 20 head of Horses, Stores, and Working Plant.

BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEES.

BRUNKER and WOLFE have received instructions to sell by auction, at the Hall of Commerce, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 9th APRIL, 1884, at 2.30 p.m.,
All the right, title, and interest of the vendor to the Bendemeer Station, situate in the New England district, containing an area of about 10,000 acres of Crown land, together with 2689 mixed sheep
150 head quiet, well-bred cattle
20 head of horses, stores, and working plant.

The improvements consist of Dwelling-house, Outhouses, Yards, Paddocks, &c.

This compact little property is splendidly situated, well grassed, and permanently watered by the M'Donald River and other sources. The advantages which appertain to working fattening stations on the plains, in conjunction with New England properties, have been fully realised during the recent drought, and as Bendemeer is very lightly stocked, occupies a central position, and possesses many other qualifications which cannot be fairly described in an advertisement, it would certainly prove a valuable acquisition to the proprietor of a fattening station, and a sound investment to a small capitalist in quest of an easily-managed estate.

Terms at Sale.

Further particulars can be obtained on application to the auctioneers,
BRUNKER and WOLFE,
31, Hunter-street, Sydney, and
High-street, West Maitland.

FOR POSITIVE UNRESERVED SALE.

The magnificent Sugar Plantation,
HOLMHURST,
situated at Vuna Point, Island of Taviuni,
FIJI.

Area—1360 acres Freehold Land. Title, Crown grant
740 acres Leased, at low rental. 19 years unexpired.

Very costly and complete Sugar Mill, Machinery, Railways, Locomotives, Cane Trucks, Buildings, Plant, Appliances.

GRIFFITHS and WEAVER (with W. Sloane and Co.) are instructed by the proprietors (on account of dissolution of partnership) to sell by auction, at the Exchange, Collins-street West, Melbourne, without reserve on THURSDAY, May 8, 1884, at 2.30 p.m.,
The HOLMHURST ESTATE, plant, machinery, appurtenances, &c.

510 acres are planted with the choicest description of sugar cane, the whole produce of which will be available for crushing this season.

600 acres additional are cleared, and ready for planting immediately.

The sugar mill and machinery (by W. and A. M'Onie of Glasgow), constructed to turn out 10 tons sugar daily, and comprising all latest improvements and appliances, have just been erected and tested with most satisfactory results. The cost of same landed in Fiji was over £22,000, exclusive of all buildings.
The other improvements include—
Manager's and overseer's residences
Complete accommodation for coloured labour; also, hospital, engineering workshops, tools, plant, &c., to effect all necessary repairs, railways from wharf to sugar mill, and from mill in various directions, laid with 24lb. steel rails on hardwood sleepers. Also, five miles of feed lines (16lb. to the yard steel rails) removable at pleasure.
Also, two powerful locomotives, and 100 iron cane trucks, recently imported
Also, carts, horses, stores, tools, &c., &c.
LABOUR.—On the estate is an efficient staff of managers, overseers, engineers, sugar-boilers, and other white employees.
The indentured coloured labour comprises
200 Polynesians
200 Indian coolies
50 Fijians,
and 100 more coolies are shortly expected, the proprietors having paid £600 to Fijian Government on account of their introduction this season.
HOLMHURST is situated on the north-west slope of Nagalo Mountain, and has extensive frontage to the sea, opposite the secure anchorage of Vuna Point, on which a pier is built, so that vessels load and discharge on the property.
The soil throughout is volcanic, friable, porous, and of great richness and depth, producing heavy crops of cane of the finest quality. On the uncleared portion of the estate is fine hardwood timber suitable for building purposes, and for railway sleepers.
The climate is very healthy, admirably adapted for growth of sugarcane, the average temperature being about 85 degrees, rainfall over 100 inches annually, and frosts are unknown.
Owners of adjoining estates are under contract to supply the Holmhurst Mills with produce of 150 acres of cane delivered alongside railway at 10s per ton for 10 years, commencing 1885.
The houses, hospitals, and buildings are all very substantial, and have been approved by the Government officers.
Holmhurst has fortnightly steam communication with Sydney by the A. S. N. Company's steamers, and twice each month by the Union S. N. Company with Melbourne and Auckland. The Union Company's steamers from Levuka call weekly at Vuna Point, on the estate.
This very valuable property is in thorough working order, upwards of £120,000 have been expended on its development, and sure and steady returns can henceforward be relied on.
Capitalists wanting a sound and permanent investment are invited to inspect forthwith, as this property must be sold under the hammer on May 8.
Plans and all further particulars can be obtained from
GRIFFITHS and WEAVER, Sydney.

FRENCH PROTESTANT COLLEGE, BEDFORD, ENGLAND.

DIRECTRICE: MADAME DE MARCHOT.

In his Report for 1882, the Examiner sent by the Oxford and Cambridge Board says:—"I have examined the French Protestant College in Divinity, Latin, Euclid, Algebra, History, Geography, English Grammar, and Literature. The general results of both oral and written Examinations were highly satisfactory. I would especially commend the neatness of the writing and the correctness of the spelling in all the papers; and in the viva voce examination I was much pleased with the brightness and intelligence of the girls. The Euclid was very well done by most of the girls; the average marks in Algebra were much higher than what usually finds in boys' schools for Elementary Algebra. I am very glad that Mathematics are thus so successfully studied by the girls. I am sure it helps to make them more ready, more accurate, and more thoughtful in all their studies. The Latin shows much improvement from last year and is fair throughout. The History papers were very good, showing much mental grasp, besides a full knowledge of facts. The Grammar paper proved really too easy a test; all the girls showed a careful acquaintance with Analysis as well as Elementary Grammar. I also set a paper on Shakespeare with most satisfactory results. I am greatly pleased with the thoroughness of the work all round, and I can well judge from the appearance of the girls that they combine with their studies a due amount of recreation. I know that the College is famed for its French education, but I am glad to find that so much attention is devoted to other subjects."

The Examiner in French and German, sent by the same University Board, says:—"I am glad to report so favourably of both languages. It was really a relief, after the usual stumbling and blundering so common among boys' schools, to find such good pronunciation and such bright answering. The papers are most excellent; while everything shows great conversational acquaintance with the language. Throughout the school the goodness of the pronunciation and fluency of expression are very striking. It is rare to find such good results attained in an English school."

The List of Honours gained by the Pupils at the Cambridge Higher Examination for Women, the Oxford and Cambridge Public Schools Leaving Examination, Girton College, Cambridge Local Examination, Oxford Local Examination, Royal Academy of Music Examination, South Kensington Science and Art Examination, St. John's Ambulance Association, &c., can be had on application.
